Empire Circuit Directors' Meeting

The monthly meeting of the directors of the Empire Circuit was held in the offices of Col. Jaz. E. Fennessy at Prople's, Cincinnail, last Tuesday. The most important matter discussed was the erection of a new theatre to house the Western Wheel attractions in Baltimore. This means the abandonment by the Empire Circuit of the old Monumental Theatre. The new playhouse will be located opposite Ford's Theatre, and will be ready for occupancy at next sesson's opening.

Routine matters occupied the remainder of the business of the meeting.

managing ber," said Mr. Hammerstein. "Il consider it a remarkabla decision."

Benjamin F. Spellman, the attorney for Mme. Tetrassini, said: "The decision is a victory. It means that Luisa Tetrassini is not forced to sting under Hammerstein's management. We will gladly comply with Justice Lacombe's suggestion that Mme. Tetrassini deposit one-half of her earnings with a trust company in this city pending the said of the suit."

The decision, is part, follows: "If complainant were granted preliminary injunction precisely as prayed for, he would practically be securing judgment in advance of trial, and meantime defendant would be exposed to the payment of such heavy damages for the breach of her contract with Mr. Leaby that even if she abould finally prevail in this suit she might be a toser. On the other hand, if complainant were refused all injunction relief and relegated solely to his claim for damages for breach of contract he might, if ultimately successful, find himself with a judgment which he could not collect, since defendant is a hird of passage and may not be here when the case, probably many months hence, is decided. In view of all these circumstances it seems the most equitable course to dispose of this motion as follows:

"Complainant may take an injunction as prayed in the bill, unless defendant shall stipulate that one-half of all moneys received under the Leaby contract shall forthwith, upon receipt, be deposited in an interest-bearing fund in some trust company in this city, to await the final disposition of this suit. If the parties cannot agree upon a trust company this court will select one. Defendant shall file mouthly aworn statements of moneys received under that to file any statement or to deposit any such

Guy Carlton Passes Away

Hot Springs, Ark. Dec. 11.—Guy Cariton, author of A Gilded Fool and other dramatised works, died here Dec. 10. Cariton came here more than a year ago, suffering from recumstism. Within a specially contrived chair he was wheeled to the baths and about the city on height days and showed much improvement for a while. Though paralyzed and unable to either write or make sounds be decided once, while improving, to renew work on a play and had an alphabet tetter board made to lay across his lap so that letter by letter he could point out to Miss Anne E. Warren, who for six years has been setting as nurse and secretary to Mr. Carlton, the ideas in his mind that she might transfer them into the story be wanted to complete. He relapsed, however and abandoned this work. Carlton was born Juma 21, 1853 at Fort Union, N. Y. His tast play was The Trap and the Bait.

"MAYORESS" CLOSES ABRUPTLY.

Chicago, 1th., Dec. 11 (Special to The Bill-board).—The Mayoress, playing at the Colonial, abruptly closed last night. The show had been booked for a three weeks' engagement, with a longer run contingent upon the success of the plece. But one week of the engagement was filled, the Chicago public refusing to patronise the show.

No salaries were paid, it is said, and as a consequence, many of the choristers were left stranded. A wealthy New York real estate dealer financed the show.

May DeSousa was featured with the piece. John T. Hall acted as manager of the company.

CHICAGO'S HOLDOVER SHOWS.

Chicago, Dec. 7. (Special to The Biliboard).—At the Chicago Opera House, The Spendibriti continues in the same popular strain. The cast chosen to interpret this production were indeed well chosen. They all realistically carry out their parts and get everything from them available. Bobert T. Haines and Thais Magrane as the central figures, depict the characters entrusted to them in a convincing manner. The play contains a wealth of material that holds the attention of an azdience and makes them wish for more. This show should stay in our midst for a long time.

Mr. Clarence Amkings, advance agent of Arress the Great Divide Co., was in Chicago recently. He claims that the business of the attraction he represents has been all that could be asked. The talent of the company has been chosen with considerable care, and wherever the show is seen much comment is made on this attraction. With the comment is made on this Gen. W. Lyons, while those who comprise the cast are Chas Vanarman, Wm. I. Tucker, Geo. W. Lyon, Tex. Perry. Josephine Lyon, Nelly Brock. This show is now playing through the Middle North, which includes Walker's time. Show is now headed south to play Illinois and Indiana for the remainder of the seasen.

Turners Hold Sunday Concerts

Chicago. Dec. 10 (Special to The Billboard).

—The Chicago Turn-Gemeinde gives a concert every Sunday afternoon at the North Side Turn-er Hall. Excellent programs are offered, consisting of choir singing with soprana solo and orchestra, and the most popular airs for serchestra, vocal and instrumental soloists. Ballmann's Orchestra has been giving therefor the past few years and his ability as a director is well known to the music lovers of Chicago. His various engagements during the summer seasons at the different parks and surface in this city has gained for him a reputation as a leader who knows well how to serve his audiences with the right sort of programs. These reowerts have become quite popular with the German populace of Chicago.

TWENTY-TWO ACT BILL | ASSOCIATION BOOKINGS

Now Furnishing Acts—Three-A-Day Shows Will be Continued

Last week being the last that the Weatern Vandeville Association booked acts into the Trevett, they seemed more or less careless in regard to the program, as it was not up to the standard.

Harrington, Mildred and Lester, comedy singing, whistling and piano, were fairly good, as the girls have good voices, and the piano player is excellent.

Cordon and Mand, who did a few atunts in hand halancing on a slack wire, were good. Pierce and Mason, reduced singers and han-Joists, can be classed as only fair, not taking at all with the andience.

Harry Sullivan and Co., in a comedy racing sketch, was good, hat the acting was a little bit too forcible for the aketch. Otherwise it would be excellent.

The Bliss Trio, who were seen the week previous at the American Music Hail, were good. Lopes and Lopes, spectacular musical act, reviawed at the Majestic some time ago, were, as they have always been, excellent.

Carl McCullough, in Footlight Impressions, without a question of a donht, was the hit of the program. This young and energetic comedian has an excellent voice, and his imitations of Harry Lander, Eddie Foy, and a few others, were the best that have been seen in this city for some time. He has a wonderful and beautiful voice, which holds the attention of the sudlence from the time he sets foot on the atage until his exit. There is a great future in atore for Carl, and we know everybody would like to see him get to the top of the ladder, and anch a position as that of next to closing on this program is none too good for this apjendid actor.

The Langdons, in A Night on the Boulevard, did not take with the andlence as well as had been expected. It seemed as though they had lost toterest in their act.

Beginning this week the house will be booked by Sullivan & Considine, and there will be two shows at night and a matinee daily, with Mr. L. I. Montague as manager and H. A. Moler as treasurer.

From some private opinions on this three a day, it does not look as though the house would make a success, as there are too many vandeville bouses in that section of the city, and a two a day would do much better.

AMERICAN MUSIC HALL.

in Joe Weich's act and got away with it, was good.

The Cromwells, novet juggling act, one of the best of ils kind seen on the Morris Circuit, were excellent.

Harry Mayo, late of the Empire City Quartette, who sang All That I Ask is Lovs and Lovey Joe, was also excellent.

Francis D'Ora Martini, in her graceful gymnastic act, closed the hill, and was indeed appropriate for such a position.

Miss Virginia Grant, the pleasing little Irish aloger, who is playing on the Morris time, is winning tremendous applance with For Killarnay and You and In the Garden of My Heart.

THE BIG CITY FOUR.

The members of this quartetts from left to right are: Rover, Bates, Emerson and Reed. They were the big hit of the hill at the Majestic Theatre. Chicago, isst week.

Framing

Sister Act

Miss Dorothy Armstrong, who last season was known as Texas Mulhall, which is her right name, is with Joseph Watson and his Lady Buccaneers as a broiler. Miss Maihall is the niece of the famons Z. Mulhall, who is known all over the world for his great Wild West Show. Miss Mulhall received a hroken collar bone riding one of the bronchos about eighteen months ago, this being her reason for not continuing with the show. Miss Mulhall is a very good worker, and will probably be seen as a principal next season.

Miss Grace Whitman, who chams with Miss Mulhall, is a beautiful girl, and it is rumored that if they declide to leave Tha Lady Enceaners, they will do a sistem act.

Since Chief of Police Steward has become mactive in cleanaing the local stage, he might do well to ply his broom in the direction of Moore and Moore, a vandeville team which recently appeared at the Kedale Theatre. This art, though a very clever one, sumptrously dressed, has in the male member a atriver for approbation through the usage of several suggestive remarks.

Lee Beggs and Company are playing a return date this week (December 12) at the Trevell Theatre, Chicago, After this engagement they open on an eight week? contract with Waiter F. Keefe, at the fulfillment of which they piga the Princess time booked by Jake Sternad, In May, Mr. Beggs and his company sail for Kronoe.

Many vandeville performers have learned to dread the parasites who are now operaling in Chicago. In one rookery are housed three of these human leaches, who are fed blood-money by performers in order to prevent the publication of ustrutatrul criticism of their act.

Leave it to Sam Lederer to originate advertising novelties in Chicago. His intest talk-in-piter is a pile of gold-leafed bricks displayed in front of the Olympic Theatre under the following placard: "From the mint of Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

Wonderful feat, that of Marie Doro's. I refer to the recently published dispatch to the effect that with the aid of an automobile driven in defiance of existing Philadelphia speed lawa, Milss Doro, in stare costume, dedicated the new Nixon Theatre, consuming some tweive minules in welcoming ovation and delivery of speech, etc., and then returned to the Broad Street, etc., and then returned to the Broad Street Theatre in ample time to enter the third act of Electricity as if nothing had happened.

I contend, after taking into consideration the distance traveled, SOME EIGHTY BLOCKS, the time devoted to dedication, etc., either Miss Poro does not appear until 1ste during the progress of the third act of Electricity, or some person failed to reckon distance and the awift flight of time when hatching the story.

—It seldom happens that a star of real prominence is criticised as severely as Olga Nethersole by the writer of the New York Times, and he seems to votce the sentiments of other New York critics.

His opinion follows—

"Maurice Masterlinck's latest play, Mary Magdalene, received what is said to have been in first performance on any stage last night at the New Theatre, via an exceedingly unpoctical translation by a special company headed by Miss Olga Nethersole. That drains by the Belgian poet should receive its initial performance here, even if not in the original form, is a matter deserving of comment.

"However, Macteriinck's plays seldom are presented in Paris until after they have four-neyed forth into the world. The Blue Bird, which has seen the light in Russia, London, and New York, has not yet been produced there, and even Monna Vanna and Pelteus et Melisande would not be remembered in Paris—they have received so few performances there—were it not for the fact that they have been made into tyric dramas by Leroux and Debussy.

"The fact is that the Parisians have never hear sympathetic with this playwright, and hearing little for stage performances of his works has sent them forth in book form,

APPEARING IN NEW YORK THIS WEEK.

Jane Corcoran

New York, Dec. 10 (Special to the Billiboard).

—Jane Corcoran, who had been playing a small part in Mother, was promoted Monday, December 5, when the drama moved to the Circle Theatre. She took the title role and fulfilled avery requirement of the difficult part. William A. Brady, the producer, sprung her elevation as a sufprise upon several hundred Scottish Bite Massons who were having a theatre party in the Circle. No previous announcement had been made and the programme gave the first intimation. Agues De Lans succeeded Miss Corcoran in her old part.

Miss Corroran was discovered by Brady in a Western company and appeared in several of his productions before she was eugged for Mother. Monday night, December 5, was her first leading role in a Broadway Theatre.

New Play by Maugham

New York, Dec. 6 (Special to The Billboard'—Thursday, Dec. 1, the English playwright, W. Somerset Mangham, author of Smith, in which John Drew is appearing, returned to New York after visits of a week each to Boston and Washington, where he was the guest of locat cluba and dramatic organizations. Mr. liangham's stay in America is now drawing to a close and in view of this fact be and Chan-Frohman held a conference with regard to the production of the playwright's next work. As a result Mr. Frohman is able to announce that Mr. Mangham's new play will be of a farcical turn and will have its dirst performance in London the first week in February. The plees will be in three acts and is called Leaves and Fishes. The playwright gave Mr. Frohman the first act of Leaves and Fishes, as completed by him during his week's atay in Washington.

This done, Mr. Maugham has laid out for himself a rather unique task. While the rest of the play ts pretty thoroughly sketched ont. Mr. Maugham has promised Mr. Frohman to complete the second act of his new play during tha eight days passage that he will shortly make on his return trip to London, and complete tha third act of the new play upon his arrival in London.

Leaves and Fishes will be incinded in Mr. Frohman's American production next season.

Stage Hands Lose Tips

New York, Dec. 6 (Special to The Billboard).

The solution of the tipping evil, insofar as it pertains to the theatrical businesa, was solved by Percy Williams, the vandevilla manager, by an agreement which he solered into with the Theatrical Union, in which he agrees to materially increase the salaries of his stage employes, on condition that they refrain from accepting tips from artists playing his circuit.

"The prevalent system of tipping stage hand-has been the source of much discrimination and criticism," said Mr. Williams, "as high-salaried artists with the generous tip received courteste which the small-salaried actors were denied because they could not afford so large a tip. This custom became so fixed that a stage employe looked upon the tip as his legitimate perquisite.

"There is no use denying that such a system did exist, and I wanted to nip it before it reached the atage that I understand it has in other circuits, where artists claim that a secret system of marking is used npon the baggage whereby heads of stage departments would know whether or not tha act tipped, and the notip act frequently found their handscapped his analysism of stage rews.

"I much prefer to do the tipping myself im yown theatres, and I signed the agreement with the Theatrical Protective Union No. 1 of New York. I want the smallest act to receive the same attention and the sama treatment symp headiners."

EXHIBITORS' MEETING

Managers of Motion Picture Theatres Meet at Columbus. O.. and Discuss Matters of Importance-National Organization of Exhibitors Proposed

Columbus, O., Dec. 8 (Special to The Billpoard).—Legislation, which they deem necessary, and plans for the addition of a fire insurance department to their association, will be formulated by the executive committee of the Exsibitors' League of Ohio, according to the decision made at a meeting yesterday in the Chittenden Hotel here. C. H. Brochett, Columbus; M. A. Neff, Cincinnati; W. A. Pittis, Conneant; G. O. Lupuis, Lima; F. R. Beichert,
Fort Clinton; and C. C. Carter, Cincinnati, compose the committee which will frame the bills.
The League is seeking to have the commercial rights of the moving picture shew business desized, and measures which will limit the present urrestricted powers of city councils to legislate against them. The desire to establish a fire insurance department of their own grows out of their claim that they are at present overtaxed. The committee will report on both questions at a meeting to be held next month.

Max Stearns, of the Exhibit Theatre here, was put at the head of a registration and employment bureau, to be conducted in the interests of the members of the League, anu which will

CHICAGO FILM NOTES.

CHICAGO FILM NOTES.

Mr. Nell Duffy, the well-known manager of the Elite theatre in Appleton, as well as the proprietor of several other houses throughout wisconsin, was a recent visitor at the Learning Film Service, Chicago. Mr. Duffy claims to be the ploneer independent film reater of Wisconsin. His operation of moving pleture houses throughout the country has gained for him a wide acquaintance. He speaks well of the situation in Wisconsin, and predicts great things for the future of the form of entertainment there.

Tom Phillips, of the Genre Transparency Co. has just completed a nong alide that is bound to cause much comment among those who find use for alides. It is a sort of a motion slide, one that shows the thing depicted in motion. This hardly sounds feasible, and it seems almost impossible to get this result from one slide, however, Tom has done it, and he now has one of the greatest things in a novelty slide ever put on the market. It will also be found very valuable for advertising purposes.

Moline Limits Picture Houses

Moline, Iii., Dec. 10 (Special to The Billiboard).—No more picture bouses for Moline. This is the ruling of the Moline City Council, which at a meeting held Dec. 6, acted favorably on a petition presented by property owners and merchants in the business district, in which it was requested that un more licenses be gravited for moving picture establishments. The signers of the petition set forth that the show places to question tend to blockade traffic and that they result in depreciation of husiness property values.

Moving picture bouses in Moline having been doing large business, last season there being but two and at present six, and two more under construction. Four of these bouses are within a hundred feet.

OPENS CHRISTMAS NIGHT.

New York, Dec. 12 (Special to The Billboard),—The emphatic auccess achieved by Christie MacDonald iu Bostou, in the new operetta, The Spring Mald, has resulted in her coming into New York earlier than was first intended. The ponthful atar will make her metropolitan debut Christmas night, Dec. 26, at the Liberty Theatre.

Christman night, Dec. 26, at the Liberty Theatre.

Her managers, Werba and Leuscher, and the Liberty Theatre management have prepared a seasonable aunonucement preclaiming Miss MacDonald's rise to stardom as the theatre's gift to the boliday week playgoers.

The opereits is an adaptation by Harry B. and Robert B. Smith from the German Die Sprudelfee of Wilhelm and Willner,—the latter belug the author of The Dollar Princess,—and its musical score, which is a distinct feature, is by Helmich Reinhardt.

Miss MacDonald is supported by a large company including Eigle Bowers, William Burress, Tom McNaughton, Lawrence Rea, Raiph Errole, Jessie Bradbury, Charles Meyers, Affred Thaliaco, Blanche Sherwood. Otto Hoftwan. Reth Stone, Paul Chute and Charles Matcalfe.

FAIR CIRCUIT MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Western Oblo Fair Circuit will be held at Greenville, O., Monday, Dec. 19. Thirty-six fair societies in Oblo are now members of the circuit. At the meeting a motion will be made to change the name of the circuit to the Oblo Fair Circuit. The secretary of the circuit is A. E. Shaffer, of Wapakoneta, Oblo.

The Youngers opened on the Geo. H. Webelation, a smaller organization of moving picture men, affiliated with the League yesterday. Fifty other members were admitted, several from Pennsylvania, West Virgian and Indiana. This can be considered the first step in effecting a national organization, the members from out of the state agreeing to start similar organizations in their respective states.

Resolutions of condolence were adopted on the death, Dec. 4, of W. O. Yard, Wellston, O., the first treasurer of the League. The League is already co-operating with women's clubs of the country in its effort to elevate the moving picture shows, and is meeting with good support.

Only exhibitors not connected with the manu-neture or sale of films are admitted to mem-ership.

That a drama by the Belgian poet should receive its initial performance here, even if not in the original form, is a matter deserving of comment. "However, Maeterlinch's plays seldom are presented in Paris until after they have journeyed forth into the world. The Biue Bird. Which has seen the light in Russis, London, and New York, has not yet been produced there, and even Monna Vanna and Pelleus et Melisande would not be remembered in Paris—they have received so few performances there—were it not for the fact that they have been made into lyric dramas by Leroux and Debussy.

"The fact is that the Parislans have never been sympathetic with this playwright, and he carring little for stage performances of his works has sent them forth in book form.

"This latest example has not yet been published in French. The English translation by Alexander Telreira de Mattos, however, has been procurable for some time.

Jane Corcoran Becomes Star

ALBERT CHEVALIER

New York, Dec. 10 (Special to the Biliboard).

Jane Corcoran, who had been playing a small part in Mother, was promoted Monday, December 5, when the drama moved to the Circle Theatre. She took the title role and fulfilled every requirement of the difficult part. William A. Brady, the producer, sprung ber elevation as a surprise upon several hundred Scottish Rite Masons who were having a theatre party in the Circle. No previous annonneement had been made and the programme gave the first intimation. Agnes De Lane aucceeded Miss Corcoran in her old part.

Misa Corcoran was discovered by Brady in a Western company and appeared in several of his productions before she was engaged for Mother. Monday night. December 5, was her first leading role in a Broadway Theatre.

New Play by Maugham

WALLACE EDDINGER

New York, Dec. 6 (Special to The Billboard'—Thursday, Dec. 1, the English playwright, W. Somerset Maugham, author of Smith, in which John Drew is appearing, returned to New York after visits of a week each to Boston and Washington, where he was the guest of local clubs and dramatic organizations. Mr. Maugham's stay in America is now drawing to a close and in view of this feet he and Chas. Frohman held a conference with regard to the production of the playwright'a next work. As a result Mr. Frohman is able to ansucunce that Mr. Mangham'a new play will be of a farcical turn and will have its first performance in London the first week in February. The place will be in three acts and Fishes, as completed by him during his week's atay in Washington.

XMAS WEEK LOOKS GOOD.

Christmas week looks good for New York theatricals—every indication points to big business. Most of the houses are now seiling advance seats and the bills are particularly attractive for this season of the year.

Stage Hands Lose Tips

New York, Dec. 6 (Special to The Billboard).

—The solution of the tipping evil, insofar as it pertains to the theatrical business, was solved by Percy Williams, the vandevilla manager, by an agreement which he satered into with the Theatrical Union, in which he agrees to materially increase the salaries of ble atage employes, on condition that they retrain from accepting tips from artists playing his circuit.

"The prevalent system of tipping stage hands has been the source of much discrimination and criticism," said Mr. Williams, "as bigh-salaried artists with the generous tip received courtesies which the small salaried actors were dealed because they could not afford so large a tip. This custom became so fixed that a stage employe looked upon the tip as his legitimate perquisite.

"There is no use denying that such a system employe looked upon the tip as his regiment perquisite.

"There is no use denying that such a system did exist, and I wanted to nip it before il reached the stage that I understand it has in other circuits, where artists claim that a secret system of marking is used upon the baggsgr whereby heads of stage departments would know whether or not the act tipped, and the notip act frequently found itself bandleapped is the autagonism of stage crews.

"I much prefer to do the tipping myself in my own theatres, and I signed the agreement with the Theatrical Protectiva Union No. 1 of New York. I want the smallest act to receive the same attention and the same treatment as my headliners."

CHICAGO FILM NOTES.

Mr. Nell Duffy, the well-known manager of the Elite theatre in Appleton, as well as the proprictor of several other houses throughout Wisconsin, was a recent visitor at the Laemmle Film Service, Chicago. Mr. Duffy claims to be the pioneer independent film renter of Wisconsia. His operation of moving picture houses throughout the country has gatned for him a wide acquaintance. He speaks well of the situation in Wisconsin, and predicts greatthings for the future of the form of entertainment there.

Tom Phillips, of the Genre Transparency Co. has just completed a song slide that is bound to cause much comment among those who find the constant of the form of entertainment for grides. It is a sort of a motion slide, one that shows the thing depicted in motion. This hardly sounds feasible, and it seems almost impossible to get this result from one slide, bowever. Tom has done it, and he now has one of the greatest things in a novelty slide ever put on the market. It will also be found very valuable for advertising purposes.

Moline Limits Picture Houses

Molinc, Ill., Dec. 10 (Special to The Bill-board).—No more picture houses for Moline. This is the ruling of the Moline City Concell, which at a meeting held Dec. 5, acted favorably on a petition presented by property owners and merchants in the business district, in which it was requested that no more licenses be granted for moving picture establishments. The signers of the petition set forth that the show places in question tend to blockade traffic and that they result in depreciation of husiness property values.

Moving picture bouses in Moline having been doing large business, last season there being but two and at present six, and two more under construction. Four of these houses are within a hundred feet.

OPENS CHRISTMAS NIGHT.

is entitled Hank and Lank—Billod Men. It is a short comedy, the film being 275 feet in length.

The atory is as follows:

Always on the lookout for money, Hank and Lank see an opportunity to get a square meal when thay are inspired by the methods of a billod man, preying upon public charity.

Hank and Lank decide that it is easy to imitate the hilind man and his way just too lata, however to see the exprosed bilind man arresied for imposing on the public.

Hank has the first chance, and after painting a sign which is attached to his coat, he takes his position at a husy corner. Donations come quick and fast. Every passerby drops a coin into his little cup.

Lank, who has watched the operation with considerable interest is auxious to try his hand at the graft, and the two stroil away to the spot where they had seen the first beggar. For a time Lank is successful until a policeman, who had arrested hilad man No. 1, comes on the scene, and after a struggle takes Lank away to the tock-np.

The film ends here with Lank atruggling with the policeman and Hank making a rapid getaway.

The Vaudeville Week in New York

CAPT. LOUIS SORCHO.

ORPHEUM IN NEW YORK? | SORCHO IN VAUDEVILLE

Martin Beck's Greatest Ambition Said to be Soon Realized Lavish Sum Offered Hammerstein by Western Magnate for Manhattan Opera House.

New York, Dec. 12 (Special to The Biliboard).

For some time past rumor has been current that the Martin Reck interests are contemplating an entrance into New York, provided some amicable arrangement can be consummated. It has been auggested that a number of theatres were under consideration as an Eastern bouse for the Orphenm Circuit. Not until the past week has anything materialized that would tend to lend any truth to the rumor. However, from very good anthority closely in touch with Mr. Beck's movements, it has been stated that the western vandeville magnate offered Hammerstein $1,000,000 for the Manhattan Opera House.

If some amicable affiliation could be brought about, the vandeville complexion would be materially changed as it would then allow the Orpheum Circuit to invade the East, thereby violating the so-called Duma. As it is this agreement prevents an overlapping of both these circuits within the same territory; the United

Bigelow Quits Vaudeville

New York, Dec. 11 (Special to The Billiboard).—After baving spent just one short week on the vandeville stage, Charles Bigelow made a harried disappearance that quite amazed the Broadwayites. No reason was given and as yet none can be astisfactorily supplied unless it be that his departure was sympathetic with that of Kitty Gordon, who left Joe Weber'a Aima. Where Do You Live? Company, Saturday, December 10. It has been whispered that the self-termed uglest man alive is again to return to the legitimate. In the meantime litrid Hajos was sorely in need of a partner for re engagement at the Orphenm Cincinnati, in order, to present a sketch by Roi Cooper Megrew, entitled Tha Girl and the Guy.

Edward Biondell and Company were substi-ted at the Orphenm, Cincinnati, this week, take the place vacated by Chas. Bigelow and izzi Hajos.

THE COLONIAL BILL.

New York, Dec. 10 (Special to Tha Billboard).—A very pleasant bill was offered at Percy Williams' Broadway house and many a word can he said in behalf of the sets presented. Nat M. Wills, the merriest of tramps and a great exponent of the hobo type, was the feature, especially of the slogle numbers. The nomad, recently returned from Europe, has copied his jokes from no one, wherefore they are original and full of wit—he tells about some odoriferous cows and an English cattle tender on board an Atlantic steamer.

Wm. H. Thompson in his new vehicle, that of Chas. T. Darey, the old musician, presents an act portraying both the tille-mad opulent American mother and the alocere true and loving German such as came over in large numbers back in 1840 and 1850. His portrayal is so true and withal so convincing that it can be safely stated that the well-known actor has achieved much success of greater proportions than the vehicle he abandoned a month ago.

Homer Miles was there and offered Broadwayites a familiar character, new to the stage however, in his characterization of Packey Cliancy, a typical happy-go-fetch but good fellow who bluntly brings about the marriage of two lovers in spite of the evil attempts of a detective to thwart the young girl's life. The title of the sketch is On a Side Street, written by Miles Ahimself.

Ray Cur denced and sang around in her well-known fashion doing an Irish burlesque on Gertrude, Hoffmann, portraying an antomobile girl, who stood all sorts of abaking up while trying to enjoy a ride, and finishing with an American girl at a baseball game.

being restricted to that portion of the country East of Cincinnati, while the Orpheum is entitled to the country West of Ciocinnati.

As has been atated in previous issues, the Manhattan Opera House has been running a bill of over twenty acts for the past three weeks and it could not be learned just what changes the Orpheum Circuit would make in the number of acts presented. They have remained atead(astly to the nine-act policy up to the present time and an increase is not expected.

Champion Deep Sea Diver Makes Debut at Paterson—Successful Career Began in Service of United States Government at Time of the Maine Disaster.

New York, Dec. 12 (Special to The Billboard).—Quile the most important event in New York vandeville circles this week was the debut of Capt. Louis Sorcho in vandeville at the Majestic Theatre, Paterson, N. J., on December 12.

Sorcho enjoys the distinction of being the world's champion deep-aea diver—holding the records for nearly eighteen years. He first came into international prominence by recovering from the U. S. S. Maine, one hundred and thirty-two bodies. For this service he was presented with an elegant gold watch by Signbee. Since then Captain Sorcho has been frequently called into consultation by governmental and prominent engineers on matters pertaining to scientific sub-marine work.

Many years ago he conceived the idea of a submarine diving exhibition—which he has exhibited in every part of the world—winning fama and fortune. Sorcho's exhibition differs from all others in so far as it is entertaining and essentially educational. The complete operation of a diver going to the bottom, recovering treasure from the hull of a sunken ressel—demonstrating clearly how divers protect themselves under water against their enemies—man or fah-how vessels are located and raised, and most thrilling of all the recovery of bodies drowned in the wreck.

For his act—Captain Sorcho invented a huge ateel tank, the front being of heavy glass, eighty thousand gallons of water are poured in and the divers go to the bottom.

The captain is also the inventor of the only real successful submarine telephone—by means of which he directs his men who are working nuder water. At a test made in Coney laland last summer, Captain Sorcho sank to the depth of one bundred feet in the Atlantic Ocean—his telephoue was connected up and soon after he was talking to the managing editor of one of the Chicago newspapers. Capt. Sorcho contemplates an American and continental tour in vanderille.

CRONER EXPANDS.

The profession will no doubt be interested to learn that Croner, the sparkler man, has added a show room to his place of business, located at 208 W. 42d atreet. Now he has room to display his new process of attaching sparklers on draperies of all kinds, both curtains and costumes. Much. of Croner's embroidery and spangle work is used by big productions and hy stars. Among some of his work is that on the scenery and costumes of The Fints Player, Armida, The Blue Bird, Julian Eltinge, Carter Dellaven, Bothwell Brown, Princess Bajsh and Lohengrin and Tannhauser at the Metropolitan Opera House. It was he who decorated the hanner presented to President Taft upon his address to the Actors' Fund.

New York, Dec. 10 (Special to The Bill-board).—Among the highlil of twenty-two acis there were a number of imminaries who stood out above the rest. Juliet spent hef second week and gave a few new impersonations. She was perfect in her mimicry of Maria Cahili as in Judy Forgot, true to the original in most illinsive inflection of voice and every little detail of mannerism.

Arnold Daly's production of The Stolen Story occupied the last position before intermission, and attred the andience quits up to the extent anticipated. truth and so I am going to teil just now I entered into the husiness and what I entered into.

One evening I called upon Messrs. R. H. and P. D. Cochrane, now familiarly known among their professional friends as the "Cochrane Twine," two young men who had met with great success as newspaper men. In the course of the evening's entertainment, R. H., accompanied by P. D., sang their phenomenally successfut song. You've Got Me Goin' Kid. It fairly took me off my feet and when they followed it up with The Love Bug, my eathnalssm was at fever heat.

The hid song pleased me most and when I was informed that it was not published, as yet, atthough one prominent publishing concern had advanced a fiattering offer, I said: "Boys, that song is mine!"

The zest is history. I simply made them a better proposition and the Music House of Learning was duly established.

You've Got Me Going Kid more than fulfilled.

Yon've Got Me Going Kid more than fulfilled my fondest expectations. Every known means of boosting and severat new ones were comployed. No expense was apared. I knew the number was "there" and it "arrived." Today, after two years of active service, this number is atill widely anng and it is an every-day occurrence for performers to write in for a second copy, on the plea that the first has been worn out from constant handling.

The Love Bng was put out at the same time. But I made a little mistake on this song, which proved costly. It was essentially a production number. I tried to "put it over" as a regular catalog song. It took me a long time to see my error and I endeavored to recoup by making arrangements to place it in a production. But the arrangement fell through for visionar reasons. The number has been used in many good acts, but it isn't a hread-winner. While You've Got Me Goin' Kid was selling in the thousands and hundred thousands. The Love Bug was trailing behind.

While You've Got Me Goin' Kild was seiting in the thousands and hundred thousands. The Love Bug was trailing behind.

I next came out with another song hy the "Cochrane Twins." This was the case of a number spoiled by a mistake in interpretation. When I first heart the tune, it sounded entirely different from when completed. It all came about through an endeavor to change the tempo of the song. I consider Let's All Go Home as great a failure as You've Got Me Goin' Kild is a success. Of the other numbers the "Twins" sapplied, When the Band Plays at Night is the most melodions.

But you can't keep a good song down. I keep putting out other numbers, by recognized writers, including Shooting Star, by Adams and Alden, (which I thought would be a bit over night), but the kild song kept booming away in great shape and was making more progress and money than all the rest of the songs combined.

Tell Taylor amplied my catalog with a simple, rurat number, entitled Back to the Old Home, which has had a tremendous sale. It is the kind of a song that appeals to all classes, a simple halled in construction, and will prove everlasting.

My catalog theory is very simple. It is my policy to secure numbers adaptable to acts of different characters. When a new number goes into the fold. I want to know whom it will diad whether the person has auffelent attractive powers to lead others to use the number. A breadiner to latroduce and everybody to follow.

Spanish American Rag has proven the must successful.

I'il Change the Thorns to Roses will be a classic. It will be remembered that a melody contest was run to accure the musical setting for Arthur J. Lamb's beantiful lyrics. H. Howard Cheney and Alfred Fredericks amplied the successful score. This melody contest proved an excellent arenue for arousing interest and, in consequence, this along is having a won-derful run. The etanding of the melody is rest-ized when I make the easily-proven assertion thal many of the manuscripts authmitted in the contest and refused have been accepted by other publishers when put to new lyrics.

I believe that a great many songs of different kinds go to make up a catalog and some that

The Henderson School Act, of which there are nine very talented young boys and girla, will make a big number of You Can't Chew My Chawing Gum, a new "kid" song, published by the Victor Kremer Co. Mr. Fred Taber, who is with the act, will sing a beantiful high-class ballad (and when we say "high-class," it la not of the usual calibre of so-called high-class ballads), entitled Because of You, wrilten by Lonise Schaffer, and we feel sure that Mr. Taber can do full justice to the song in his own peculiar style of singing it. The above set will also use The Only Girl for Me, and Ahle, tha Sporty Kid, published by the above firm.

never prove hits suit a class of people who will doubtless come back for another number that may prove a hit. When all is said and doze, hits depend on time of the year, the concentrated effort put behind the number,—and "publisher's luck." Also npon the state of mind of the public who know what they want. I leave my gentle readers to guess which of these avenues I consider most essential to the success of a song.

SUPPRESSING SUGGESTIVE SONGS.

SUPPRESSING SUGGESTIVE

SONGS.

I have been greatly interested in the crusade against suggestive and indecent songs, carried on so successfully by the authorities in Chicago, says Charles K. Harris, in the Music Trades. There the ban has been placed on innumerable songs which seem to be accepted by the public in New York as within the bounds of propriety. Personally I have never published suggestive songs, and I have deplored their public, for I never have believed that there is any universal demand for angrestive songs. On the contrary I have always been convinced that clean, wholesome songs are what the public wants, songs that can be taken into the bome and sung by the wives and danghters of the family. I have tried to encourage that character of music, and with ancess.

Therefore I was curions to learn what effect the Chicago crusade against indecent songs had had in New York. A few nights ago I sent two of the best singers attached to my office, accompanied by a planist, with hundles of the latest music under their arms, to visit the various high-class cafes from Thirty-fourth atreet along Broadway to listlem. The trio visited no less than a dozen of these cafes, offering in each place to sing some popular hit. Variety is what is wanted in these resorts, and visiting singers are frequently invited to help ont in the entertainment. BROOKLYN, N. Y.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

A new idea to increase theatrical patronage has been started at the Majestic Theatre, which is known as wage-earners theatre nights. Through the United Neighborhood Guild and other local societies the idea, which is to arrange performances at the principal theatres for wage-earners at which half the usual price of admission shall be charged, is to be given a trial here. That there are thousands of persons of small incomes unable to attend the best theatres and who would greatly enjoy the opportunity of witnessing good plays is unquestioned. The cost of attendance at the theatre is the only barrier which has prevented a large and intelligent part of the public from seeing good plays in the past and the opportunity to Join the league, at the nominal cost of ten cents for a year's dues, should be very generally embraced. The movement is in no sense a charity, it is merely an arrangement by which the theatres and these special andiences find a reduced admission mutually profitable and by which good plays may be witnessed by persons who hitherto have not felt at liberty to meet the outlay which theatregoing usually necessitates. The movement, apart from stimulsting an interest in the worthy things of the theatre among a large class of people to whom it will be both as advantage and a pleasure, will have the further effect of increasing the patronage of plays through the additional advertising they will secure.

He Fell in Love With His Wife, Edith Ellis' dramatization of E. P. Roe's popular novel, had its first metropolitan production at the Grand Opera House last week, and judging from the fistering notices which the local papers gave it, the production will be a big success.

That this is a great conveniences both for the box office and the patrons is evidenced by the way it is always in use. A patron comes to the box office and asks for seats, the box office indicates on this diagram just exactly where the patron's seats are, and thus insures satisfaction to the patron. This is the only diagram in use in any Kansas City theatre. Mr. O. H. Brackley, husbess manager, said in speaking about this diagram: "Why, it is just an ides of my own. As you know, I go East every yrar for my vecation, to little old New York, for I am a New Yorker myself, and while in New York this past season I had occasion to notice that every theatre there is equipped with this diagram, and how convenient and agreeable it is, and so decided that Kansas City and the Willis Wood Theatre should have one this season. The one at the Willis Wood is the only one in Kansas City." Mr. Backley also said that this diagram of the Willis Wood seats was asving the theatre a great deal of exchanging of seats, for now the purchaser knows where he will sit, and can also get the seats he desires.

City Council Peremptorily Refuses to Issue Permits for Unique Idea Exploited at Theatre De Monsieur-Gaby Erection of Music Halls-Oswold Stoll and Other Promoters Keenly Disappointed

It is some considerable time since there has been such a universal report of good business in the amusement world as is the case at present. So far as one can judge, absointely everything seems to be doing weit, and this, despite a generally troubled political ontiook, and a general election coming upon us within a few days. For instance, at His Majesty's Theatre all the elaborate preparations which have been going on for months for the production of a great children's play have had to be dropped on account of the unprecedented auccess of Henry VIII. Over the way, at the Haymarket Theatre, although The Bine Bird is once more being put on for Christman, it is only being done such at the expense of Priscilla Enus Away which is going just as well as it did at the start. Edwardes' latest production, The Gazker Giri, is booked up until next apring. The Chocolate Soldier in still turning away money, and taking London all around, theatres, music halls and picture palaces are having the time of their existence.

After all, the London County Council has put its foot down with a vengeance on the extension of mnaic halls in London. As I wrote you last week. Oswald Stoll had applied for a ticcuse for five new music halls, spread over London, which were to be the last thing in construction and elaboration. The sub-committee of the Council granted the application last week, sublect to the confirmation of the Council tizelf. The matter came np resterday, and everyone of these applications for licenace was refused. Loodon is to have no more music halls, at least not for a long time, and the shareholders in the older companies are rejoicing accordingly.

Go on along the Rue dn Fonbourg Montmartre, a coatinuation of the Rue Montmartre, and after meany long turns, along the Rue Korte Dame ds Lorette and the Rue Fontanca (still a continuation of the Bue Montmartre), oun emerges into a quarter of the city entirely unlike that from which one started. Here is Place Blanche, and nearby is Place Pigale, the very heart of Montmartre, the "night" quarter of Paris. Here one flads the "Deat Rat," an sil-night cafe; "The Rat Which is Not Dead" cafe, hrasseries, hers, maile halfs cabarcties and so ou. Here the demimonde flourishes. Here are the ititle holes in the will where drinks are served and hungry poets recite their verses and unknown song-writers sing their songs for the privilge of selling copies after they are sung. This is the Paris we sil read about, and is more like we imagine the Latin Quarter to be than the Latin Quarter is itself.

Montmartre! That is the name of the piece which is to be brought out sext week at the Vaudeville. Sardon, Daudet, Gnatave Charpentier, Leon Gandillot and Pierre Wolff wrote about Montmartre (for the stage) before Pierre Frondsie, but the subject siways has the shoot it which interests. mish quarter or rais. Folks are bound to see the play which describes it.

THEATRE DE MONSIEUR.

It takes Paris to do a thing like this. Few other cities in the world could, or would do it. The Theatre de Mousieur is unique. It had its first performance this week.

It is in the Rue des Mathurius, this little playhouse, and is as nest and as artistle as a theatre could be. It is interior in done in Maria Antoinette atyle, or the styln of her period, and the decorations are as delicale as the blash of a wild rose. It is small, a regular bon-bon box of a house, but it makes up in many other ways for its lack of sike. In fact one would resent the idea of its being enlarged, it seems ideal the way it is, considering its purpose.

As you enter, attendants in powdered wist open the doors for you. Sonbrettes, in 18th century costumes, sell you programs and show you to your seat. The orchestra players are sell dressed silke, in hrown allk coats, knee hreechea and silk stockings. They are bedecked in teen and ruides and harmonise exactiy with their sourroundings. They wear brown wigs and pig-tsils, while their feet are encased in low slippers ornamented with large silver hackles. The leader wears a plum-colored costume, with fancy, flowered vest.

The program is in keeping with all this. First, there was an 18th eentury "parsade" of as amusing nature, followed by a pastoral operacomique, entitled Annette and Luhin, words hy Mune. Favart, music by Risise. La Tahlesu Parlant ended the performance, Anseanme dough the words and Gretry the music.

The setting is delicious, the players heing in shoolute harmony with the stmosphere. Munes, De Harde. Yvonne Pradler, Heleno Jacoh and others being among the artistes.

TRAVELING THEATRE.

Another brand-new Idea has been put into operation by a French theatrical man, M. Gemier, director of the Theatre Antolne.

The scheme is to take the theatre to the people inasmich as the people cannot come to the theatre. In America even the comparatively smail elties see the best attractions going, hut in France, people outside Taria seldom see Paria atara, and when these atara do go to the provinces they touch only at Marseilles, Bordeaux, Lyons, Cherbourg and the bigger towns. Gemier has planned to remedy this state of affairs and so has devised his "rolling theatre."

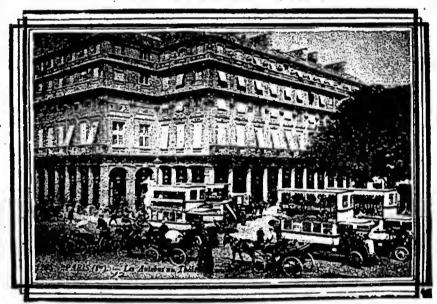

"To-day." he told The Billboard, "my piss is a reality. The rolling theatre is a fact. With two engineers I am now putting on the finishing touches and early next April I shall lesve l'aria fally equipped to present the best there is, not only in modern atage literature, but in the classics as well, the parts played by the heast actors and actresses we have.

"There will be a train of twenty-four cara drawn hy eight automobiles. The trains will be for the office trund, of course. It will transport from town to town 65,000 tone of bag syss and materials. The theatre itself will be of wood and canvas of the most substantial sort and will look like a permanent huilding which unt up. It is, to be 50 feet by 150 feet, and will have all the necessities and most of the inarties of the best theatres in the tand. There will be a large foyer, closk-rooms, amodern fassion and an auditorium seating 1,500 people quits comfortably. Prices will vange from 1 is 3 frances (20 cents to 60 cents).

"I am giving to the stage end of the scheme the most exercit consideration. My lighting will be entirely by electricity, which I furnish myself. The scenery will be equal to any on any stage, mindled somnwhat to meet the re-this until the new year, when things wilt have somewhat quieted down after the turbulence of the general election—which, in this country, lasta over three weeks as a rule.

When Tree takes off Henry Vill, he will replace it by Maebeth. This ought to be worth accing. Avthur Bourchier is to play Macdaff, his wife. Violet Vanhrugh, will be Lady Mscbeth, and Tree himself will be Macbeth. Gordon Craig, the great scenie artist, and son of Elien Terry, will be the producer, and altogether the production is expected to he epochmaking.

LONDON MUSIC HALL SONGS.

There are probably many people who are not aware that song writing for the music hall profession is a basiness in itself. Beattered up and down the country there are hundreds of individuals—mostly men—who earn a tiving by writing songs for masic hall artiats. In London alone the number of such acong writers probably runs into three figures. The balk, or at all events, the cream of the work fails, however, into the hands of about a dozen men, who have no clients the piek of the profession, and who, taking it all around, are able to command high terms for their work. Not that the lesser lights linger altogether in observity int it is the men at the top of the tree, in this, as in other walks of life, who bear of most of "the guineas and the glory." Sald a prominent member of the music hall profession recently: "If you were to inquire fully into the matter, you would find the leading performers on the alish have at home tons of stoff which they have purchased from the anthora, even although they knew intuitively that it would never be a bit of use to them. If an anthor who has written a few successful songs in his time were to meet with a refusal or two in the asme quarter, he might plant his warse elsewhere, and list very next effort, a tremendons success, might fall into the hands of a formidable rival performer. Prominent artists cannot afford to take such viska. In the case of popular favorlies, their repertoire can always be kept up-to-date. A

The Ambigu this week, was about the only theatre to offer a new production. It is something of an oddity, in its line, help a sort of plain narrative in stage form. Lee Marches wrote the play from the romance of Georges Courteline, who, for a long time, refused to give his permission that this should be done.

give his permission that this should be done.

Two soldiers are ordered by their commanding officer tog to Saint-Mihlel and get some borses. They are provided with a bank note of 100 francs and railway tickets. They fall to change cars at the proper innetion and go on to Risrie-Due. Here, in waiting for the train which will carry them to where they wish to go, they get lost in a heavy vain, lose their money and railway tickets and wind up in an evil resort, where they have a scrimmage with the proprietor because they early pay. Muddy, all in, they are conducted to the harracks of the gendarmerio and sent hack to their regimonts. Here they recount the most vivid tales of their wanderings on the Man From Mexico idea, most of their adventures being impaintive buty.

most of their adventures being imaginative boty.

I recount all this simply because I wish to show the oddity of the play. As may be seen there is little or what we sail "setion" in it, as a foundation, that is to say, yet someliow the piece has action anyhow, taking the spectator along at a lively pace. It is not had at all as an entertainment, and this may be credited to the fact that there is an infinite amount of detail which gives the ensemble a "natural-ness" which appeals. It is a military play and a military play siways appeals to women, and to men, too, in France, where overy male of 21 or over, either is actually a soldier or has been one.

At the Telephone, the horror piece by Andre do Lorde and Foley, is the carlain raiser for this production.

SPOKES IN THE WHEELS

Comment and Criticism on Eastern and Western Companies-Personal Paragraphs Pertaining to Promotors, Principals and Ponies

By SYDNEY WIRE.

Although my friend Harry Hastings has openly expressed his contempt for the opinion of the theatrical newspaper writer in general, I, nevertheless, am giad to say a few things in favor of his show as it now atands. The Hastings Big Show this season is unusually good, abd with the exception of a pair of dirty tights, worn by an end pony, the wardrobe is bright and clean, several of the changes being particularly attractive. The show is an expensive one, as this season's attractions run, and is augmented by an umber of neality dressed and good looking chorus boys, who help the many preity stage pictures, and give the stage a crowded appearance.

The stage of comedy with the Hastings and good of comed appearance.

number of neally dressed and good looking chorus boys, who help the many preity atage pictures, and give the atage a crowded appearance.

There is loss of comedy with the Hastings show, and aithough a deal of it is of the slapsitic order. It is shoroughty successful as a laugh provoker, and is handled by a bunch of willing workers, headed by auch well known comedians as Tom Coyne, the famona "Tad," and Harry Hartings in the light comedy roles is clean and versatile, and leads the number, which is the bit of the show. This consists of two English songs, Seaside and Ship Aboy, which Hastings aings in an easy and graceful manner, getting the material over in a pleasing style. He is assisted by the salior dresses, whils the posless are attired in pretty salior showses and bine full tights. The leading and prima donns roles are shandled by Viola Sheldon, who looks well and sings beautifully her Star Of My Dresma song in the opening, and The Sextette, from Lucia, in the hurriesque, being especially well rendered. The Seatetie did not seem to get the applianse that it merited, but its position on the bill might be improved hy moving it up a few numbers. Mona Raymond and May Corey are also conspicuous by their good work, as are the several men who help the action, which is fast and furious. A deal of praise is due to Tom Coyne for the rapid five methods used all through the action of the two burlettas, and situations follow each other with amazing rapidity.

The Review of Dances, at the finale of the opening, is novel and appropriate. The dances are all well excepted, with the exception of the little apecially attempted by the ponies, which proved the worst piece of work they do all through the show. Frank Winfield and Milit Adams sang and danred as in the old days, while shows a clever burlesque on the leni show, and presented a picture both humorous and brilliant. The olio, which was opened by Bohannon and Corey, in illustrated songs, their act including some excellent pictures of the reliable and organised revel, programed as a French dance. The circua acene at the close of the opening shows a clever barlesque on the lent show, and presented a picture both humorona and brilliant. The olio, which was opened by Bohannon and Corey, in illustrated soaga, their act including some excellent pictures of the Philadelphia and Chicago halt teams, while the five scenes used to Illustrate The Man Who Fighia the Fire were both realistic and appropriate. Itill, Cherry and Hill can boast of a reality clever trick cycling act, and are a real asset to the show. There were two extra acts when I aaw tho show, bolb of them good, although why they were there it is hard to tell, as the show as it stands is fully worth the money paid for admission at any of the theatres which it plays. The two added attractions were Francesca Redding and Company, in her clever playlet, Honors, which, although a bit hit, appeared to be somewhat over tha heada of the andience at the Pittehurg Cayety, which however screamed itself hoarse at George Armatrong, who held the stage for fully thirty-five minutes, and then left with the whole house clamoring for more. The closing huricaque with the Haalings Show is hardly as funny as the opening piece, but is a nicely alaged piece of work, and the action is belped pleasingly by the frequent introduction of several reality good numbers, which are atl made attractive by the excellent chorus. The singing with the show is good, although in the Chanticleer number, when the chorus was unalided hy he men, if was evident that many of the girls were not making any effort to sing, and the work in consequence was spoiled. If it is action, gloger, preity girls and good wardrobe which marks the ancess of the modern thrilesque show. Harry Hastings may be truly said to have a reality good show, and with such a consedian as Tom Coyne, and such a classical ainger as Miss Beldon, the acason's ancecess is assured.

Things with the Shean and Gallacer rhow are far from pleasing for the members of the company, and reports f

Patrons of the theatre were all wilnesses to tha ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. D. W. Fletcher, on the stage. Mambers of the company made up the wedding party. The brides and grooms grouped themselves on the stage facing the minister, attended on either side by members of the company, the chorms girls attired in bright spaneled costumes. For the Landram-Langley nuptials the bridesmaids were Miss Kerns and Miss Lain Breuben. and McGeehen couple the bridesmaid was Miss Dollie Barnes, and the best man Christopher Wentsel. After the ceremony the members of the company all went to the Hotel Hart, where a wedding anpper was served.

Mr. S. H. Newhaus, representing the Shapiro Music House, New York, was a visitor at the Luserne Theatre on Dec. 3, and witnessed the double wedding there. Mr. Newhaus has been demonstrating new songs in Wilkes-Barre for the past few days.

ARMSTRONG HELD OVER.

Pittaburg, Pa., Dec. 10 (Special to The Billboard),—George Armstroug, "The Happy Chappy," is to atay another week with Harry Hastings, Big Show, and will be the special added feature with the show at the Star, Cleveland, O., next week.

F. E. Bonfils Associate of H. H. Tammen in Ownership of Sells-Floto Shows, Reported to have Refused Latter Further Financial Support

There is a rumor going the rounds in circus circles, to the effect that F. E. Bonnis, partner with H. H. Tammen in the Sells-Floto Shows, with H. H. Tammen in the Sells-Floto Shows, has withdrawn his support from this circus and other enterprises in which he and Mr. Tammen were jointly interested. It is generally known that a unmber of changes in the policy of the Sells-Floto Shows, have been made during the past season, and it is alleged that Mr. Bonfils has been dissatisfied with these changes. While reports have had it that the Sells-Floto Shows did excellent business throughout the season, circus men in general are of the belief that concileration of the season of the seaso fused to make a statement, and in a rather unprofessional manner invited our correspondent to beat a hasiy retreat to the fiery shore of Pluto's domain. He also refused to answer any questions over the telephone. His refusal to speak is therefore tantamount to an acknowledgment that the rumor is correct. Several other changes are mentioned in the rumor, notable among which is the reduction of the side ahow admission prices to five cents, and the elimination of the side show hand, which will next season be supplanted by an orchestrion. Whether or not the Sells-Floto Shows will be able to make money at the admission price of twenty-five cents are mains to be seen. There are a number of tent abows that have made money with a twenty-five cent gate admission, but none of these have attempted to put on as large a show as the Sells-Floto Shows.

A REMARKABLE RECORD.

A KEMARKABLE RECORD.

Advertising car number one of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows closed a very pleasant season in Trenton. Tenn. Mr. Eviston claims the distinction of being the manager of the only car on the road this season that closed with every man on the car drawing a full season'a pay. Every one that closed in Trenton. Saturday night, opened in Peru on April 9.

Arthur Eidnour captured first prize as the highest average billiposter on the car, having an average of 593 sheets for 70 routes. Bert Reiss was second with an average of 574. It was a very spirited contest throughout between Eidnour and Relss with Reiss in the lead until the last three weeks. The largest single route with 894 sheets out of Shelhyville, Ind. The largest double route was done by C. T. Crippen with an assistant out of Newcastle, Pa. They put up 1525 sheets of paper and got in at 8:00 P. M. in opposition with the Forepangh-Bells Shows.

SUN BROS! SEASON.

Macou, Ga., Dec. 8 (Special to The Billboard.)

—The Sun Brothers' Shows finish a tour of thirty-six weeks here, Saturday, December 10. The show opened the present season in this city April 4. The coucleding performance will be given under the anspices of the Macou Shriners, and the program for the day will be made doubly attractive on account of the many local acts and burlesque features to be interpolated by members of the Shrine. Over 4,000 tickets have already been sold in advance for the occasion, and from indications it will be a success.

The Sun Show traveled 10,964 miles during the season. Thirteen states were visited, including Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Missiasippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginiz, Wei Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohlo, Indiana and Michcincing Georgia, Florida, Lonislans, Mississippi, Alsabama, Tennessee. Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohlo, Indiana and Michigan.

The largest town visited was Toledo, Ohlo, and the smallest town, River Junction, Fla. One slight blow-down was experienced during the season, at Pigeon, Mich. Only five performances were lost during the entire tour. No railroad wrecks were experienced.

Only two changes were made in the personnel of the hig top company. Three changes were made in the big top band.

The 1910 tour of the Sun Show has been the best financially since its inception, nineteen years ago. Extra heavy billing, meritorious performances, hustling management, loyal bosses, and exceptioually select territory was the cause of this prosperity. No street parades were made during the season, and this policy will sgain be in force for the coming tenting season. The Sun Brothers abandoned this old-time traditional feature five seasons ago, and have demonstrated that it is possible for a tented show to attract immense crowds to the lot, and also to get them to attend the various exhibitionsi departments without it.

The show will sgain winter at Central City Park. Macou. The show for the 1911 season will be the most pretentions effort of this management. New equipment throughout will be added to the accontrement, The performance will be of the best, many prominent feature display acts baving already been booked, and the program will be noticeable for the many hig acts and group specialties. The official staff hack with the show will remain the same for the coming tour.

WM. THORP DEAD.

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 9.—Wm. Thorp, a circus specialty man, with the Barana and Balley Show the past scason, died here of tuberculosis. He recently appeared in this city in charge of the revolving tables with the Barana Show, at which time be was in a serious condition, but went on with the show. A few days ago be returned, too far gone to he benefited, and died without relatives or friends.

The remains were removed to a local undertaking company, who are endeavoring to locate the man's family.

HERE AND THERE.

By GUY WEADICK.

New York, Dec. 10.—Cook's Opera House, in Rochester, N. Y., has been taken over by Bradstreet and Company, the New England vandeville magnates, who have established a prominent circuit. This house is proving a valuable addition, and under the management of Mr. Mowrie, who is running a weekly hill of five acts and three reels of pictures, with two shows a day, the house is developing into a veritable gold mine. The bill at the Wintergarten, Berlin, Germany, for the month of November, consisted of twelve acts, six of which were American acts. There were thirty ladies on the bill. The American turns were the Flying Jordans, flying trapeze; equilibrist; Lillian Herlein, singer; Harry DeCoe, equilibrist; Lillian Herlein, singer; Kaufman, lady cycle act; Reymolds and Douegan, skating act. All are going hig. This is the first appearance at this house of the Flying Jordans, and after the first performance, they were offered contracts for work on the continent up until 1912.

Miss Tacellie Vicihail is at present in vande.

after the first performance, they were offered contracts for work on the continent up until 1912.

Miss Lucille Mulhsil is at present in vandewille in the Middle West, and Loing well, notwithstanding the fact that she is working with "hired" borses, as ber own stock is tied up in Knoxville, Tenn., pending the outcome of the case between the Mulhail Wild West Show and the Appaiaehlan Exposition Company and other parties, who are responsible for the holding of the entire aggregation. Lucille, Middred, Georgia and Charlle Mulhail have all filed claims to the effect that certain alock (the best howes in the layout) are their own individual property, and it is reported that there is talk of a heavy damage suit for thousands of dollars, ebout to be instituted against "some one." Understand that immediately upon the Mulhail's securing possession of the slock, they will ship direct to New York City to embark upon some wild weat venture.

New York City to embark upon some wild weat venture.

Learn that Buffalo Vernon, the clever brone rider and ateer "buildogger." who gained notoriety with the Buffalo Blil Show, and at the Frontier Day Celebration at Cheyenne. Wyo, is organizing a ten car wild west abow of his own at Lewiston, Idaho, and will take to the road early next apring. Best of inck, Buff.

Dan Dir, Bill Caresa, Chet Byern, Little Hank, Luiu Parr, Hank Moxle, arrived in New York, Nov. 24, from the 101 Ranch Show, with one addle horse, one bucking horse, and three burros. They opened at Dockstader's Theatre, Wilmington, Del., Dec. 5, in a western vandeville act, entitled. A Day at the 101 Ranch. Billie Burke, of The Maid of Mysiery fame, is producing the act.

A 24-hour roller skating race is scheduled to take place at the Vel d'Hlv commencing at 11 o'clock on the morning of December 24 and ending Dec. 25, at the same hour. One of the probable entries will be the well-known American champion, Jesse Carey, now in Paris playing an engagement at the Amaterdam (Bne), Rink. This young chap has raced on an average of three times a week for nearly eight weeks now and has not lost a race, even when heavily handicapped. The visiting American bine-jackets from the Second Division of the U. S. Navy were spectators at some of these races and gave the American winner a hig send-off. their honeymoon are separated in a shipwreck. The young woman is rescued by the ship's captail, and taken to his hut.
She is restored to consciousness, hut not to memory. She has lost ell hold upon her past life, and is like a child. The salions decide that it is not right that the girl should be there alone with men, and that someone should marry her and take care of her; and the choice is flusily left to her. Unconscious of any past, the girl chooses the captain. Meanwhile some scenes have shown that the hasband is afloat on a spar and picked np by a ship, and thus it bappens that when the little wedding procession starts towards the church, they are met by the young hasband, who confronts them and haits their progress. At

AN OLD SILVEE MINE IN PERU (industrial; released Dec. 13; length 250 feet).—This film abows an old silver mine worked by native Indians. Miners, their forms bent to the earth from toil, carry the ore up from the depths of the mine. Dumping their loads at the mouth of the mine, they return for more, while others arrive, fill their "capaches," or small leather hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore, and earry them on their hags with the ore and under it are tossed shovels full of the ore to the ground up in water. The mixture is then conducted to large vars, where it is allowed to settle; the water is first drained off, the ore reduced by treatment with quicksilver, and then follows a native process of amelting.

A MOUNTAIN MAID (comedy-drams; released Dec. 13; length 750 feet).—A leading man and leading lady, engaged for a new play called The Mountain Maid, unknown to each other, decide to go after local color, and by one of the chances of fate, they select the same part of the Tennessee mountains. A TANGLED MASQUERADE (Comedy: released Dec. 15; length, 1,000 fcet).—Paul Dunlap and Balph Ford both love Heleu Moore, whose father favors Paul's suit, and finally forbids Ralph the house. Balph is Helen's favorite and coutinnes his wooing under difficulties. Hopeless of gaining the father'a consent, Ralph decides upon an elopement. Helen makes an appointment with him at the coming masquerade, describing the manner in which she will be costumed. Her father learns of the ball in the costume Helen intended to wear, forbidding Heleu to leave the house. Heleu's note to Balph has fallen into the hands of Paul, who does not hesitate to take advantage of the information gained. It's Paul for the masquerade, to seek out the lady costumed as described in the uote. Father has scarcely left the house before Helen calls Ralph on the phone to warn him of father's plan. Explanations follow, and the young people decide that while the father is disporting himself with Paul at the masquerade, they will take advantage of the opportunity to elope. When father learns what has happened and how he was beaten he makes the best of It with the best grace he can command.

PIGS IS PIGS (comedy; released Dec. 14; length 1,000 feet).—The story begins with the ordering of two guinea pigs for Mr. Morehouse'a small boy, to be shipped to the familiar express office, where Mike Flannery, the thick-headed express agent, insists that the rate on two guinea pigs should be thirty cents. Mr. Morehouse points to the rates on pets, which is tweuty-five cents, and a violent argument ensues, the end of which is that Mr. Morehouse retires from the office in a high dudgeon, refusing to pay the amount or to accept the consignment. He writes to the company. The letter is received at the company office, and travels through the various departments in its own leisurely and circuitous way; then Mr. Morehouse gets a reply at the end of a couple of weeks, referring him to the elaim department of the company. The same meets the several letters which Mr. Morehouse subsequently writes. During all this time the family of guinea pigs has constantly increased, until now Mike Flannery is obliged to climb over pens and boxes of pigs in order to transect the business of the place. Finally Mr. Morehouse is advised that he may have his consignment at the twenty-five cent rate. To the office he goes, but will accept uo more than two pigs. The story ends when Flannery ships off all the pigs to the home office in the city, with a characteristic note in which he expresses his graitfude that the guinea pigs didn't happen to be elephants.

THE TTRANT OF FLOBENCE (Drama; released Dec. 21; length, 676 feet).—The excesses of which the tyrannical rulers of by-gone days were capable are scarcely credible in these times; yet incidents such as that which form the subject of this film were not uncommon. The Prodesta, or Governor of Florence, issues an edict that all must sainte his hat on pain of death. Lasaro and his family transgress the edict, of which they have not heard. Both husband and wife are sentenced to death, while, because of her beanty, the daughter is reprieved. We then watch the process of revenge by which the tyraut meets retribution. CHAMOIS HUNT IN TYROL (Sport; release Dec. 21; length, 332 feet).—A chamois hunt in a wild and beautiful mountain setting is an exciting sport, not unfettered with danger. A herd of chamois, disturbed by the besters, filts across the rocky slopes and falls beneath the gens of the marksmen. To collect "the beg" is a difficult task, as some fall in almost inaccessfulle places. Nevertheless, an immense hand is taken back by the sportsmen.

THE BILLBOARD PUB. CO., 416 Elm Street, CINCINNATI, OHIO.

THE ACTORS' FUND

The dues of annual members of the Actors' Fund of America, are payable on November 24. It will be of assistance to the Fund if return postage abould always be enclosed. The fund is a charitable organization, and what it can save contributes to relieve the indigent. Prior to its establishment, assistance for the impovertabed professional as principally casual, indiscriminating, disproportionate and meagre, humiliating and disheartening. This state of affairs had long been admitted and deplored, the necessity for a change conceded, and remedies frequently attempted without success. In June, 1882, the present Actors' Fund of America was founded, and through it the principal dispensation of benevolence to the public ammement world is systematized and as bounified as its treasury will allow. It is for the eligibia applicants to its beneficences to enlarge that treasury and make its existence permanent, and thereby assure future as well as present necessary retlefs, thereby assisting to eliminate further appeals for outside sid which hitherto has been a sacrifice of independence and a stuitification of professional pride, Strennously labor to procure new life and annual members to the Fund, and also subscribers toward the maintenance of The Actors' Fund Home. Do not procrastinate; do not backslide.

Cut out this annual membership application blank, have it properly filled ont, and algued by two Fund members in good standing, or one or two well-known managers as references; then mail it with two dollars and return postage to the Fund's address.

THE ACTORS' FUND OF AMERICA LIFE MEMBERSHIP, $50. ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP DUES, $2. REGISTRATION BUREAU, $1. APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

EXTRACT FROM BY-LAWS:

"SECTION 18. The Executive Committee may admit as a member any person purvoing the profession of acting, singing, dancing on the stage, the management of theatres and other places of ammement, and other persons interested and concerned in or who earn a living from or in commection with any reputable place of amusement, on payment of the dues for one year."

Fritzi Scheff never saw The Round-Up, but her impression of the play would not look well in print, as the play got on her nerves white in the city isnt week. The fact is that Madame Scheff was playing at the Auditorium and The Round-Up was firing off at the Academy of Masic. Both thealires are adjoining on Howard street. Madame Scheff was singling a pretty melody to The Mikado when the hattle scene in The Round-Up started off with its Gattling gun. Winchester rifles and other implements of war. The prims donns was nunerved by the noise. During the remainder of the week the cortain was held for a few minnies until the firing ceased and then the opera proceeded.

The game of "Sixteen Hundred" may best be described as an elaboration of Five Hundred, which in turn is a combination of Euchre and Bridge. But Sixteen Hundred is more, much more, than a mere hodge-podge. It literally abounds in snares and pitfalls for the unwary, and consequently provokes no end of mirth and hilarity.

It appeals strongly to the skillful player also, for its possibilities in the way of subtle strategies and clever coups are well nigh countless. PRICE, TEN CENTS.

song that shows any aign of failure to 'draw' or to amme must be discarded on the instant. One or two poor songs might seriously jeopardise their reputation in the estimation of a public that is constantly crying out for novelty.

"And that Is doubtiess the reason why many prime favorites of the public 'Reep a bard on the "remises," so to speak. In other wording pay a particular song writer a retaining fee all the year round in onler to have first call mean has services. An arrangement such as this is by no means uncommon: An artist pays s man a retaining fee of, perhaps, two, three or four guinean per week, on the understanding that he gets the first offer of all work the author turns out. For any song he accepts the pays ten or twelva down; while the writer on his part is free to make whatever terms her likes with the publishing firm that agrees to place the song upon the market. Such an arrangement, it is apparent, is not at all badfrom the author's point of view. Ha not only has his retisining fee, sad the lamp sum for any song purchased, but he may hy arrangement with the publisher, be able to pocket in addition, a tidy little royalty upon every copy sold. The fact that popular performers are prepared in this way to pay a salary all the year round in addition to the purchase price of sup piece scepted, only shows the value which they pisce upon an attractiva song. It is well known that a song which turns out a popular "hit" may be worth 1,000 pounds at the very lesst to a front-rank srtist."

The theatrical season so far in Hattiesburg has been of the most auspictona nature, and the managers each have a diamond.

Probably the season has been more remnner ative than formerly, of which bank accounts sttest. There are some critics in our pineland who are prone to do injustice when they abould know better. If we all had diamonds we would be more discreet.

RINK NEWS.

L. A. C. team is slated to play the Dulnth Northerns on December 7 and 8, when they come from the far North to make a clean-up of the Chicago players. The managers of the different teams of the new league have shaken hands and agreed not to steal one another's players. The defunct White Sor taam was almost eutirely composed of players taken in wholesale fashion from the I. A. C.

BANQUET TO WOOD.

Morris Wood, the world's champion speed skater, after winning his last race at he ice Falace before leaving for the East Wednesday last, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by his friends at a popular cafe on the West Side. Covers were laid for sixteen and the champion was given a rousing send-off. Five of Wood's immediate friends, Joe Hawkins, Bert Spooner, Emmett Smith, James McCune and Thomas Clancy, planned the dinner, which was in the form of a suprise to the champion. Wood will return at a later date to akate some very important matches.

ANDERSON TAKES PAST RACE.

ANDERSON TAKES FAST BACE.

Thursday's race at the Ice Palace in the form of a three-quarter mile open class "A", skated in two heats at a half-mile and the final at three-quarters, was an exhibition of fast skating in which a number of spills and tumbles were in evidence. The event was won by A. G. G. Anderson, of the Illinois Athletic Club, by twenty yards. Waiter E. Gunderson, of the same club, was second, and Fred J. Marzolph, third. The time was 2:20. Norval Baptie won the one-quarter mile professional handicap race from Herman Leweck, who skated from the 80 yard mark, Cland Wilson, 70 yards, H. Corbin, 90 yards, and George Gareau, 100 yards. The time was 0:49 seconds.

ICE PALACE VISITORS.

Mr. Frank Neer and Miss Helen Kappel, of the roller skating team of Neer and Kappel, visited the Ice Palace last Thursday night, as the guesta of S. Herman Leweck, "Dare Devil" akater.

NORVAL BAPTIE IS WINNER.

Noval Baptie won the one-quarter mile pro-fessional handleap race Thursday, December 1, at the Ice Falace, from Herman Leweck, who skated from the 80 yard mark. Claud Wilson was third, with a handleap of 70 yards. The time was 49 seconds.

-MURRAYS WIN HOCKEY GAME.

The Shamrock-Murray hockey game at the Ice Palace, was pulled off Friday night, December 2, before a large crowd, the Murray team winning, 7 to 3. Bough tactics of some of the players were in evidence throughout. The Murrays made three goals in the first half and four in the second. The Shamrocks made their three goals in the first half. Wagner, the point of the Shamrocks, did some especially clever work on the defense. Line-up:

HARD RACE FOR OFFICE.

What promises to be the most bitler struggle in the history of the skating game for the office of president of the Western Skating Association, will take piace at the annual election. Already two candidates are in the field for the position, Joseph Keane and W. H. Paterson, both prominent in the skating game. Keane is probably the best known, he having been a friend of the skaters ever since he became an active member. Last spring, when the city roller championships were skated, Keane donated a large silver cup for the racer who acquired the most solute out of the scate who acquired the most been the moving spirit in the association having settled many of the difficulties which have always been the cause of factions in the organisation.

been the moving spirit in the association maving settled many of the difficulties which have always been the cause of factions in the organization.

W. H. Paterson, one of the oldest ice exaters, the other candidate for president, is a member of the Northwest Skating Club and now a member of the Board of Coutrol of the association, the became connected with the tee sport when his club could not secure the necessary permit to bold on ice carnival in the parks, way back in the early 90's, and diatinguished himself by running the races about 6 o'clock in the morning before the police reported for dnty. This act alone stamped bim as a man of dalermination and since that time he has made a reputation. Julian T. Flirgerald, who has the office of secretary for two years, is after the nomination again and this year several others are in the field for the same office, hat the skaters who have had many dealings with the skaters who have had many dealings with the skaters who have had many dealings with the present secretary, will be logal to him and back up his nomination. Nominations for offices will be made at a meeting to be held at King's Hall, 112 Fifth avenne, Monday evening, December 5.

SHERMAN DEFEATS FOREST.

SHERMAN DEFEATS FOREST.

Joe Forest, of San Francisco, who recently returned from Honoinlu, where he defected the greatest skaters over there, is akating Midge Sherman a series of five races at the Colisenne Rink, Kansas Cily, Missouri. The first race was won by Sherman, Forest losing out on account of the hreaking of his skate. He was in the lead at the time and had a fine chance of winning. Sherman won the second race Nov. 29, by about six feet.

HOCKEY RULES CHANGE.

HOCKET RULES CHANGE.

A radical change has been made in the Canadian bockey rules. It appears that the legislators of the ice game had taken a lesson from the shifts in the American footbail rules. The aumber of periods has been lengthened from two to three. Canadian teams will play three twenty minute periods instead of two thirty-minute sessions as was the case last year. There will be ten-minute intermissions instead of five. The name of the new organization is The National Hockey Association of Canada. The number of cluba was fixed at aeven, and the salsry limit $5,000. The Canadian Alhietic Club end Quebec take over the franchises of Harleybury and Cobalt.

over, giving axhibitions and races. They have been before the public for twenty-two years in ice and roller akating, running, basebail, facrosse and hicycla racing, and have won over two thousand first prizes in these branches of aports. Harley's partial list of performances is: Boller skating; won championship northwest 1885 at St. Paul; won ten-honr continuous race at St. Paul in 1891, making 127 miles. In ice akating—1892; won northwestern championship. Bleycie racing—1893; won novice at Winona, Minu:, same year defeated J. S. Johnson, Julian P. Blisa, Harry Tyler, Taylor, Durnbergar, then the featest men at the L. A. W. meet, Minneapolis, winning balf-mile open and one and two mile handleaps. Ice racing records—1894; one hundred yards standing start, 9 seconds; 100 yards flying start, 7 seconds; 220 yards standing, 17 1-5 seconds; 300 yards competition, 23 seconds.

BEAUMONT IS FIRST.

Seventeen of the fastest roller skaters in the city took part in the one mile scratch race, held at the Sans Souch Bink, Friday night, Dec. 2. The entries included H. Palmer, B. Anegelica, G. Gilliekson, M. Kruse, M. Newfield, B. Grodet, E. Parker, N. Kraff, H. Beanmont, A. Bead, A. McChesney, C. Shafer and J. Lowery. The race was won by H. Beaumout, after H. Palmer, who sprinted from the start, had set a fast space for nine laps. The latter finished second and B. Angelica third in 3:22 2-5. A mile novice race, in which twenty-three started, provided amusement for the crowd, the contestants falling in hunchas at each curve, so that but three mere on their feet at the finish. The race was won by Leon Kimm in 5:22.

Frank Neul, the "Midget" roller skater of Chicago, is now skating in rare form, and feeculty hroke the world's record for one-half mile, which was held by Fred Tyrrell, in 1:15 3-5, on the Riverview Rink banked track. Neul skated tha distance in 1:15 fist. He is also holder of the one mile fist track record, skating the distance in 3:12 fist. In a five mile race, skated at the Sans Souci Rink a few weeks ago, Neul skated three miles with a broken hand, and finished third. The following Sunday be won the two mile race at Riverview Rink with John McDonaid second and Al Krueger to..... Neul has issued a challange to skate any ryoung skater from ½ mile to 26 miles, on any rink in the country. He is also anxious to secure match races, or will compete in any amateur race meet in the country. He has one of the best collections of medals and cups of any amateur skater in this part of the country, and in size is some of the smallest skaters that ever put on a pair of rollers.

LEWECK DEFEATS WHISON.

Herman Leweck, better known as Dare Devil
Leweck, one of the greatest backward jumpers sud scrobatic ice skaters, defeated Claude Wilson in a quarter mile race at the Ice Palace, Monday night, Dec. 5. The race was a match race, in which Leweck was to skate backwards while Wilson skated forward. Leweck won the race in 48 seconds.

HOCKEY AT ICE PALACE.

HOCKEY AT ICE PALACE.

Chicagoans are to be treated to an ice bockey series between two Easiern college sevens. Manager Prior, of the Ice Paiace, closed negotistions with Yale and Cornell for games in Chicago, Dec. 30, 31, and Jan. 2. The contesta with mark the first intercollegiate bockey games aver played in Chicago. The Ice game is played annually among the Easiern colleges, and during the bolldays, vacation trips are made through the West. Yale and Cornell are two of the atrongest teams in the Intercollegiate League, and should afford apleudid competition in the three games.

A YOUTHFUL SKATER.

A YOUTHFUL SKATER.

A yonthful essting marvel was discovered at the Ice Palase. Tuesday night, Dec. 6, in the boy's race, when Paul Leoul, seven years old, defested a field of twelve opponents in a quaster mile handicap race. He had a handicap of twenty yards over boys up to the age of fourteen years, and covered the distance in record tims for a hoya race.

Holger Jensen, skating under the colors of the Donglas Park Cinh, won the one quarter mile handicap smatter race with a handicap of fifty yards from Harry Halvorsen and Waiter E. Gunderson, of the Illivola Athletic Cinh, who skated from scratch. The time was 37 seconds, and Haiverson tooks second pisce in what was nearly a dead heat.

Notval Beptie won the one-quarter mile pressional handicap race, akating the distance in 32 seconds fiat; Herman Leweck was second and Cland Wilson third.

HAND BOOK PUBLISHED.

HAND BOOK PUBLISHED.

The new hand book on skating, issued by the Western Skating Association, which has been under way for over a year, is at last ready for the skaters. The book is the hest ever issued by any skating association or anthority, and, besides rules governing prominent akaters, indoor and ontdoor rinks, and other skating data. These books are to be given only to members who are in good standing in the association, and will be given free of eberge. No books will be given to any other than a member of the different skating associations.

RACES AT PORTLAND, ME.

Information received from C. K. Hart, of Portland, Me., atates that Portland inlends to promote a big roller rece meet in the near future, and sre after the skaters who will help make the meet a success. Mr. Hart has writian to me asking for the names of skaters who are willing to compete in bis meet. Mr. Hart's address is P. O. Box 668, Portland, Me.

tham has been eaused by the opening of artificial lee rinks.

John Karlsen, the Minneapolis-St. Panl lee skater, who skates in annimer and rides a hicycle in winter, as the atory goes, is again looking for a mater heave. Karlsen certainly gets away with the newspaper dope.

The amateur hockey players had a littla more trouble to make for the managment of the Ice Palace in their last game. It seems funny that amateur hockey players in this part of the country should demand money for playing bockey after given access to everything in the rink hut the safe. Over in Canada they have to pay to play in the rinks.

St. Louis, Mo., will this winter be represented by some good ice skaters. Oscar F. Blankenmeister and Joe Forshaw say they will show the other skaters that they can get into first-class condition. They raced at Chicago last year at the Western championship races, held by the Western Skating Association, and without any training made a creditable showing.

A committee is at work in New York organizing a mational society; whose object will be to atimulate renewed interest in expert figure skating, a winter's aport whose devotes have become fewer and fewer in recent years. Only once since the international union was founded, 20 years ago, has an American skater qualified for a European compelition, principally because the American style of figure skating is so radically different from that abroad.

BRIDGEPORT SKATERS WINNERS.

BRIDGEPORT SKATERS WINNERS.

New York, Dec. 10 (Special to The Bill-board).—The Bridgeport roller akating relay team, composed of Harry Burke and George Chandeld, sprang a big surprise on the New York team, consisting of William Blackburn, the Eastern professional champion, and Frank Brower, last Thursday night at the Metropolitan Boller Bink, Broadway and Fifty-second atreet.

The svent was at five miles, the men to relate will, and the latter team was picked to win easily. The Bridgeport due, however showed unexpected form, and won by nearly half lap in the fast time of 15:20. Their victory was largely due to the phenomenal speed displayed by Harry Burke, and most of the ground that was gained by his team was made by him.

A MANAGER'S VIEW.

A MANAGER'S VIEW.

That the sport of roller skatlug on its present basis is not a fad or a spasmodic crase, but so institution which is being operated on sound husiness principles, is the contention of C. E. Aldrich, manager of the Colissum Rink, Eighn. Ill. Says Mr. Aldrich: "A great many have carried the idea that the present roller skating era would be of abort life. Perbaps they would be right in their supposition if the same couditions esisted today in the roller rinks that were in evidence in the old skating days. We sli remember the old boxwood rollers on pin sales with nicked edges, and the trusty whose duty it was to abower the pamice and chalk ou tha corners at frequent intervals to enable the skater to make the corners at a good speed. Very little discrimination as to who was admitted so long as they had the price. To-day the conditions that surround the well-appointed rink are vasily different. The sport is ou a business hasis to day. "The best conducted rinks have only gentlemen to wait upon the patrons. The surface is kept in a perfectly amooth condition wild no dust from pumice or ebsik.

"You should know that your skates are stall times in perfect order. Keep your music popular and see that they get plenty of it. Keep away from the resiung game and give them plenty of features that are new. Skating here to stay for the manager who will keep up his interest in the game and will give his nudivided attention in every detail. Once the reputation of a place is established for careful management and kept that way the road is easy."

SIMMONS SCORES HIT.

What may be accomplished in the way of fancy roller skating was demonstrated last week at the New Rink, Cincinnati, where Prof. H. A. Simmona appeared as a special attraction. On the little wheels he is truly an artist.

tion. On the little wheels he is truly an artist.

Simmons' act ta divided into two parts—the first embracing an exhibition of difficult skating on atilit skates. In the second period he does a comedy set of merit.

Simmons has been a skater since the eighties. He has appeared in England, France, Australis, India and other foreign countries, besides having extensively toured the Slates. He has also had experience as a rink manager.

Besides his exhibitions, Simmons is an sid to the manager in the way of keeping him advised of new special events, and assisting in putting them on.

LATE NEW YORK NOTES.

Madame Bernhardt is keeping Broadway busy—a new bill avery night, and each one something that no one wants to miss. Camille was tha bill at the Globe December 7, and mat with unstinted approval.

Sarah Bernhardt wee in an houest and true anto accident—no damage was done.

Boston has put the ban on prize fighting moving pletures. Oh, yea, boxing metches are still permitted there.

There is one silk hat less on Broadway. Oscar Hammerstein has sailed for Europe—of course wa have John Bogers left.

Truly Shattuck will replace Kitty Gordon in Weber's play, Alma.

Emma Dunn, formerly the atar of Mother, has left the cast and will go into vaudeville, Henry Miller will soon produce a play called The Havock.

THE TWO-ADAY BUNCH.

Captain Louis Sorcho and his deep sea divers are entertaining the citizens of Paterson, N. J., this week, at the Majestic.

James Foster Miliken, well-known lawyer to the profession and one of the old-timars in tha business, bas mads a slight shift in his office quarters, having moved from Room 224 ic Room 222 Putnam Bidg., during the past week. The latter quarters are just fitted to his purpose and more suitable in all respects.

NEW YORK ALL-STAR BILL.

As for single acts, naver has a better crop of single acts been included on one program. Ray Cox, placed in position B, merely to include her in this selected program, although she wall carns a higher place; Juliat and Nat M. Wills, the last mentioned winning feature position honors beyond all doubt. His jokes are the livest and most original and his smile the most comical of any comedien in New York et the present time. As to skelches, W. S. Hart in The Hold-Up, Fred Karno's Wow-Wown, and Charlotte Parry in The Comstock Mystery, are without betters. Then, too, Raymond and Ceverly, the Dutch comedians, who disfigure the English tongus, certainly belong where they have been placed.

THE COLONIAL BILL . .

pearance except that the bars ran horizontal—in fact abe did much, not giving an inkling of her Southern nature as one might aspect from her billing. She was one big hit.

Gens Greens presented his atudy in song, going hig in Yiddisha Rag, Casey Jones and Plano Man well interspersed with the facial contortion accompatiment, so characteristic of the blond entertainer.

the blond entertainer. Leter and Rogers, akatorial pair, opened the bill, both proving their skill on the wheels. However, there is a possibility of too much comedy falling. The Dixia Berenaders, four men and two women of colored blood, sing songs in fit fashion showing much that removes the audience to the atmosphere of the side show tent as one aimout feels the sod under one'e feet as you picture the colored entertainers doing a turn long snough to lat the side show manager regain his voice.

The final act and one that deserves a place on the All-ster hill is that of Wormwood's Circus—the big Simian bicycle rider, punching bag flinger, musician and household wrecker could well be featured by himself alone. The act was a superb bill closer.

THE AMERICAN BILL.

His twirling dance work is axceedingly

Paria. His twirling dance work is axceedingly masterful.
Cisals Curleile lived up to her reputation, while Zelays added to his reputation by his Paderewskian work. The Four Naison Comiques and The Four Ameranths at unped themselves a very pleasing quartetle in their respective lines. Count da Beanfort did his turn, introduced Bob, and told some atories about his canine friend, that he was a real man, who has decided to atick in this country and make good.

Steen Bartle, madeand, ble conscient and of atick in this country and make good.

Steve Bartle rendered his concerting solos, introducing the smallest wind-played instrument en the stage. Le Freya exhibited her posses once more, while Monros and Mack made them laugh with their The Third Degree. Commodore Tom opened the bill, with Bernard Albertson and Larola following in order. The final position was occupied by Fritr's Dogs.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

and the stage hands carry off the scenery and leave poor Peggy on a heap of props in the middle of the stage. And cheers and load appliane the aurtain drops. This is one of the most novel acts aver seen at the Majeatte, and indeed it was a grand success, whereby Miss Faunia Ward has won the bonor of head-ining The Billboard's All-star bill.

Mr. Frank Tinney, who will share the honor with Fannie Ward as headlining the same bill, pulled her whole act with the professor of the orchestrs, making bim rebearse every line of his monologue with him. "You slani-syed music director, that isn't the way-1 rebearsed this act this moraling," and so on, keeping the audience in an aproor avery minute. His act was a riot.

NETHERSOLE CRITICIZED.

"The pisy—at least in its English version—seems to lack the dramatic values of Rostand's treatment of a similar theme. Le Samaritaine, and that play is only given in Paris during Holy Week. A play dealing with such a subject it would seem is very nearly consecrated by the suthor at its inception, to a very special sort of existence. In Heyse's play, and in Maeter-linek's, the leading character of Christ never appears on the stage. Rostand, on the other hand, busings the Savour into the action of his piece.

hand, besige the Savour into the action of his place.

""Whateler the play may be, its force would gain ten more through simple treatment, and that it never had last evening. The stage direction depended, of course, upon the peraminations of Miss Nethersole, and there was no part of the stage which she left untouched during the course of air sict. Her hands were constantly busy, now held high in the air with tense sugers, now pressed against her shoulders with fingers relaxed. Occasionally they paused, but in such queer attitudes that they at once caught the eya and kept it from any other part of the stage. There seems to be no such thing as repose in this actress' dictionary of her art."

points. She has never given a more perfect performance—never in her youth. Was she proung? Is she old? What en earth does it matter? Whe cares? Every living soul should rush to the Globe Theatre, even if they have to pawn the dear old home, or bock the loved old automobile. Everybody who loves acting should rush. Such acting they may never see again. We have had Sarahs to burn—every season has had a Sarah—but where are they now? What has happened to them?

"Take it from me—and I charge nothing for the opinion—there is only one Bernhardt. Take it from me that, you are not going to watch a querolous old woman pretending that she is young. You are going to see eternal youth—the loveliest youth that age cannot touch; the youth that thrives on its own inexhaustible fount—the youth that is quits separated from the passage of the years.

"Wonderful, divine Sarahl Willingly would I sit at her feet and watch her in every play of her repertoire and ask nothing better. But I shall not, because I can not, and that is tha curse of it."

The Trihnne says: "A salvo of handclapping that must have lasted for fully four minutes, preeted Mma, Bernhardt, Monday night, on her inst appearance. The demonstration rose to an evariou, in which voices joined palms, at the end of the third act. There can be no donth of New York's renewed interest in the great French actress.

New York's renewed interest in the great structures actress.

"Bo much was written about L'Aiglon' at the time of its first appearance, so much was added to this on the occasion of its American production, that little remains to be said. The play retains its dramatic quality; the beauty and sexibility and attength of its verse, but in these days of much complaint of the vanishing of the art of speaking in the round form on our own stage, the members of Mme. Bernhardt's company appearing Monday night, suggest that in France, too, that art is far from general sowadays."

in France; too, that art is far from general sowadays."

The World: "To prove her indifference to the physical index of time, to flout age beldity with an illustion of youth which should steep the scaes of her auditors, Sarah Bernhardt, the woman of sixty-six, chose to make her re-entry on the American stage at the Globe Theatre as I. Algion, the fledgling putative monarch and Ill-starred weakling. And she arrived gloriously. "It is idla to say that there are no signs and smems of the passing of the years or occasional glimpses of the effort behind her magnificent affects. There was a feebleness, in her walk in the first act. Har freedom of carriage was gone. Her movements, due no don't to fatigua and emotion in those early moments, were stiff and weak. But when in the climax of the third act the merelless Metternich, holding the candelahra high above his head, forces the unhappy Eaglet toward the mirror the spell of the great harah had the hig andience in thrail."

New York, Dec. 10 (Special to The Billboard).

—Despite the fact that Broadway claims not to like Shakespeare, Sothern and Marlowe always pley to capacity houses. The latest addition to their long reperioire is Macbeth, which was produced Dec. 5 at the Broadway. Theatre.

Says The Times: "Has any actor ever completely embodied the character of Macbeth? There are records, to be sure, of this or that player who was famous in the role, and we ourselves, in younger days, have been greatly moved by one or another actor in the part. But consider the demands in sober afterthought. And say then whether they are not too comprehensive on the whole to be fully equaled. Macheth, the soldier, might be acted on his physical side by almost any skilled mind possessing the requisite physique and vocal power. "But sgain there is Macbeth, the dreamer and philosopher, the lutrospective seeker after knowledge of himself, whose will is dwarfed and whose moral cowardice is aggravated even in the moment of his triumphs. These things require a far more subtits blending of peculiar power and personality. On the one side, physical dominion, on the other, the varishie mentality. A figure that hlends the atrength of the bully; on the other, the warkshe mentality. A figure that hlends the atrength of the bully; on the other the weakness of the neurotic; and a weakness made the more acute aime he has an active working conscience that goods. Tago is a simple role compared to this, and yet we know that for the actor Tago is no sinecure.

"As far as the imitations of Mr. Sothern's personality and physique allow, he makes a fine aboving in the role. He has the intelligence to comprehend its various moods, the skill to decomprehend its v

"It may be doubted, however, if the scene preceding the murder has ever been fraught with greater meaning or made more powerful with subits shadings than in the playing of himself and Miss Mariowe. Subsequently, the horror of the situation was most ably suggested by them both, their speech passing from whispers to a sort of staccate utterance, which heightened the sease of danger and of mystery. Occasionally, Mr. Sothern, in moments of atress, allows himself a boarse melodramatic langh, which somehow never seems to reach the mark intended, but it would be difficult for any actor to excet the heanty of his playing in the scene after the heanty of his playing in the scene after the consolation of his sponse.

"Gertainly the most impressive moment of the play, as these actors give it, is the final moment of this scene, when Macbeth, completely hroken with the terrors of the ghost's visitation, his lady seeks to allay his fears, then succumbe herself and falls hysterically weeping across his knees. As Miss Marlowe acts the rule of Lady Mscheth with a sort or underlined youthfulness—after all the best suited to her temperament, porsonality, and general experience—this moment is touched with tender nity.

"It would be difficult for any sensitive person to see it and not be moved. It is not possible by any process of reasouing to approve the actress's initial entrance prior to the reading of Macbeth's letter, written after his first interview with the three welld alsers. Miss Marlowe's little and so lacking in dignity to be properly preparatory for the subsequent development.

"Elsewhere, Miss Marlowe's performance is both interesting and convincing along the lines of its apparent intent, which wa take it to mean an emphasizing of the more 'femining aida' of the character."

The World says: "It is the finest production of this great play by nativa actors."

WM. GILLETTE GREATEST SHER-LOCK.

Sheriock Holmes in the person of William Gillette, returned to town Dec. 5, for a week's stay at the Empire Theatre, where he made his last appearance here. He came back with all the thrills and all the heart-stopping suspense of years ago. He left his lighted cigar in the cramy in the "gas chember," and he overcame the redoubtable Moriarty just as he did when theatre-goers were younger, and with just as much effect upon their emotions.

Mr. Gillette's association with the role of Conan Doyle's detective has been so long and so thorough, that he and Sherlock Holmes have come to seem identical personalities. Any other Holmes appears to be a deceiver, or completely disguised. Monday night's audience sat back in their seats and mentally took up the early youmes of Conan Doyle's stories that they had read before the original first night of the play at the Garrick Theatre, almost balf a decade ago, and followed the adventuresome cocaine victim through all of his memerous difficulties.

Monday night, Dec. 5, there was a naw Dr. Watson, a new Moriarty, and a new heroine.

Monday night, Dec. 5, there was a naw Dr.
Watson, a new Moriarty, and a new heroine.

But Holmes was the same, and the people were astisfied. The acting of the cast was generally adequate, and there was applause for most of the players. Clifford Brace was the Doctor.

Brince McRes had the role years ago, and John Miltern played Moriarty. William Byley Hatch was the Larrabee, and Louise Butter, the plaintive heroine, Alice Faulkner, while John F.

Hines played the faithful Billy.

There are a few haseball players, including Cy Young, who are exceptions in their field, but the Bathgate fiver atanda at the head of his class. Edmond Lamy and Morris Wood are dangerous rivals, of Norval Baptie, but as yet neither of these experts have been able to wrest he highly prised laurels held by him. There are others who deserva the reputations they endown. This article is illustrated with photographs of famous skaters.

The principal ice skating palaces of America are no complete in their equipment that comparison is hardly possible. Tha Elysimm, at Cleveland, is one of the largest artificial ice rinks in America. It has an ice surface of 90x 240 feet. It is operated by the Humphrey Co., which also centrols Enclid Beach, a popular amusement park, and H. C. Shannou is manager. The Chicago Ice Palace is not centrally located, therefore, while it is well attended, does not meet with the success that it would, were it possible to be more easily reached. Some of the most renowmed akators have been seen at this riuk, and only as recently as last week. Norval Baptic was the attraction.

The St. Nicholas Rink at New York, and the Duqueme Gardens at Pititburg are among the most important of American lee palaces, which have enjoyed successful careers.

The Detroit Arens which was opened December 3, is the last word in the artificial ice skatling rink construction. Its success will undontedly be as great as its older contemporaries. Backed by a comprehensive knowledge of what is necessary in construction and managen, its promoters are amguine for a very successful run of many seasons. All that hrains, energy and capital can do to promote it may be well to offer a few pertinent hints to those who contemplate engaging in the rink banisness. the class of business that I am here to represent.

No one can intelligently handlo this class of business when there is absolutely no way of knowing what we are golog to pay for our transportation. Within the last three weeks I have paid four different prices for precisely the same service, these prices ranging from twenty-five to fifty dollars, and most of tham an advance-over the raise paid two-years ago.

Your Honor, the railroads haul Pullman carry without any charge to the Pullman Company, and in some cares pay the Pullman Company milage for hauling their cars, and, in addition they furnish them ice, water, fuel, etc. Is not this, a clear case of discrimination to charge the individual an exhorbitant rate simply became he is an individual and furnishes his own Philman car?

Your Honor, I beg to call your attention to the fact that the railroads that are objecting to the rate I ask are largely in the minority. The iron Mountain. The Rock Island, K. C. & S. & 'Friero, and tha S. & F. now have in affect and have had for years practically the rate I ask, and to fact some of the gentlemen to day they considered my demands reasonable. Now your Honor, it is no argument for the gentlemen to atate as did Mr. Turner, Mr. Leake and one or two others, to say we don't want the business, even at a forty-dollar minimum. Do you suppose the atock-holders, or owners of a railroad want-to turn down business? They say it delays trains to pick up show cars, this usually consists of making one coupling, do they or should they expect to get twenty-five dollars for a termile haul and be put to shedutely no trouble or effort? Your Honor, it seems they contond for the money and growl because they have to runder some service for the money. As for the L. & N. W., they certainly have some reason for not wanting to risk the business ovar their time, if the Honorable Commission would take one trip over their time they would understand what I mean. I don't believe their cars wou pass M. C. B, inspection on any first-class line. As to the greatement's attacement about finding out the character of shows before letting them go over his line, and then writing to the leading planters down the line to see if they wanted the show is really laughable. Does the gentleman of hie L. R. & N. inquire into the brand of whistey before it goes over his line, can deep planters down the fine to see if they wanted the show is really laughable. Does the gentleman of the Commission, I almoerely thank you for courteous hearing of this case, and respectfully submit the question to you, in whom I have otmost confidence of justice.

"The Tenderfoot Messenger"

(Western Comedy-Drama.)

RYLFARED SATURDAY, DEG. 17.

Length, Approx. 907 ft.

This dramatic Western photoplay has a fine vein of clever comedy underlying a novel story, dealing with the clever race employed by an express messenger to outwit a band of highwaymen.

Acted in the characteristic Emanay style amid picturesque scenery, this one should prove a winner.

"The Greater Call"

(Drama.)

RELEASED TUESDAY, DEC. 30.

Length, Approx. 705 ft.

A simple but hear-gripoing story of the stage that will appeal to any audience.

A faithful portrayal of life behind the curtain, staged with singular fidelity to detail and interpreted adequately by our Chicago stock company. Photography par excellence.

"Hank and Lank, Blind Men''

(Comedy.) Length, Approx. 275 ft.
Everybody is acquainted with Hank and Lank now and this filmlet shows them in one of their most laughable stunts.

Exhibitors and Exchanges

No matter how old a film is, as long as it is in GOOD CONDITION and has NEVER BEEN SHOWN IN YOUR TERRITORY. It is worth JUST as much to you as a FIRST RUN film.

worth JUST as much to you as a First EUN film.

Do you think for one minnte that your patrons care if you run 5-day, 10-day or 30-day films just as long as your films are CLEAN, IN GOOD CONDITION and something they have NEVER seen befare?

By GOOD CONDITION we mean "ALMOST LIKE NEW." This is what our cleaning process does to old film.

Mr. Exhibitor: Almost a car load of clean films for rent cheap. They are all for sale, too. Write to-day.

Mr. Exchange Manager: Dig up some of your old rainy film and let us clean it for you. You will profit. Ask us.

Charles Berkell, manager of the America Theatre, the Tri-Cittes' foremost vandavill playhouse, will launch into another hérick's o endeavor in the amusement field. Mr. Berkel has just closed a deal whereby he secures lease on the building at 428 Brady street, Davenport, Iowa, and will begin at once to install moving picture theatre, same to be openebefore the holidays. The huilding is to be completely remodeled and redecorated, including a Oriental front. Johnny Philliber, formarly the popular comedian of the Elite Stock Company will be local manager. This house when completed, will make Davenport's fifth motion picture theatre.

The Nickel Theatre in Hartford, Conn., the first moving picture bouse to be established in that city, has closed. A recent sale of the building in which the theatre was located obliged Mr. Woodyard, the manager of the Nickel, to vacate the premises:

Extra Imp!—Get It!—Extra Imp! Famous Count de Beaufort

First real, live, blown-in-the-bottle nobleman to appear in Moving Pictures. Posing exclusively for the "Imp" in a full reel entitled "The Romance of Count de Beaufort," giving dramatic incidents from his exciting life. This is an extra release—the big feature of the year! Think how sore it would make you if your licensed competitor had anything like this to offer the patrons of his house! Help us get this feature to you! All you have to do is to keep writing your exchange till you know you will get what you are writing for—the Count de Beaufort Feature Imp! It's a "daisy!"

The "Imp" Christmas Release

Is entitled "The Crippled Teddy Bear," and will be released Monday, Dec. 19. It is a daisy! One of the prettiest stories you ever saw in moving pictures. The kind that brings a lump to the throat and then turns out happily. Watch the little girl in this playlet. You'll love her from the very start. She's a daisy!

Another Imp Daisy

Is our release of Thursday, Dec. 22, entitled "Little Nell's Tobacco." There's a stepmother in this picture whose neck you would like to twist, but Little Nell teaches her a simple lesson she'll never forget.

A Merry Christmas.

Once more the glorious season of Christmas approaches, and our hearts are filled with an ineffable joy and peace. Goodfellowship prevails; hostilities are cast aside, and a general spirit of friendliness is seen on every side. On this most befitting occasion, The Billboard begs to extend its thanks to the numerous friends and supporters, who have, during the year, been ever watchful, faithful and true. To our readers, advertising patrons, correspondents and representatives do we extend our sincerest appreciation for the favors they have shown us. To our boosters, ever quick to appreciate our efforts, always alert to aid us, and never tiring in their praise of our enterprise, much thanks is due. To the actor, and performer, manager and agent, proprietor and employee, we extend our sincerest thanks.

The year now rapidly waning has been one of delightful associations. The growth we have shown and the progress we have made, indicates positively that the year has been one prolific of newly formed friendships. To all our friends, to those who believe in us, and those who will, we repeat: A Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year!

The Tipping Evil.

The tipping evil has been the subject of much discourse recently and, in a number of places, the practice has been entirely abolished.

In America, with the possible exception of two or three of the largest cities, it is not necessary to tip as many persons as in Europe, but the usual amount given in London or Paris would either be returned with thanks, or scorned by an American. The stage tip is an evil which should be eradicated entirely, if a fair and impartial treatment is to be given all actors.

The system of discriminating between the artist who tips heavily and the one who either offers a small fee or none at all, has worked many hardships on the performer with a small purse. On the stage as well as in all walks of life, the man of moderate means finds it hard to pay excessive tips on every turn, but he must do it if he wants service.

well as in all walks of life, the man of moderate means finds it hard to pay excessive tips on every turn, but he must do it if he wants service. Within the past fortnight, a prominent Eastern vaudeville manager has made future tipping at his theatres impossible. In entering upon an arrangement with the theatrical union, this manager has agreed to increase the wages of his employees, with the understanding that they will not accept tips from any performer.

will not accept tips from any performer.

"The prevalent system of tipping stage hands has been the source of much criticism, as high-salaried artists, with a generous tip, receive courtesies which small-salaried actors are denied, because they cannot afford so large a tip," argues this manager.

The custom has become so general that stage employees consider the tip a legitimate perquisite. A system of marking the trunks and property of the no tip performer now exists, and woe to the artist whose baggage is thus marked. He can expect but little assistance from the stage hands in the next city he visits. This should not be. An artist is necessarily under heavy expense, and often, after hotel bills and railroad fare are paid, he has little left. This is especially true when long jumps are made.

The New York manager referred to above has established a precedent managers throughout the country would do well to follow.

Moving Pictures and Science.

Once more the moving picture has stepped to the front in the interest of humanity, this time to further one of the most worthy causes ever promoted for the improvement of health and the eradication of disease. During the past week, thousands of moving picture theatre managers in America have projected a film showing how tuberculosis is bred and developed where unsanitary conditions exist. For some time, a crusade against the white plague has been waged with a firm and persistent pertinacity by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the Red Cross Society. Columns and pages of newspaper space have been devoted to publishing news of the good work these institutions are doing, but the simultaneous display of the film throughout the country, showing with an exactness that might almost be called cruel, how the dreaded disease has its birth and development, will do more toward arousing public interest than all the publicity that might be given through the medium of printers' ink.

In a number of moving picture theatres, booths, presided over by Red Cross nurses, were placed during the time the pictures were on display, and the amount realized by the sale of Red Cross Stamps in the moving picture theatres will be large.

This is not the first time the moving picture has espoused the cause of science. On many other occasions in the past it has been utilized to demonstrate scientific lectures and educational subjects in the theatre, as well as in the class room of colleges and universities. Notwithstanding the excellent and valuable assistance the moving picture has proven to be as an educational factor, there are still many reformers who will utterly overlook the good, and take every occasion to denounce the moving picture. This class would do well to look at the doughnut, and not the hole. This also applies to cartoonists.

The Play Pirate.

While it occasionally occurs that some filibustering manager in America has the temerity to advertise and produce plays without the permission of the original producer, the abuse is less frequent in this country than in other sections of North America. Of late this flagrant and abominable practice has been carried on in Canada without the slightest pretense of concealment, but thanks to several prominent managers in the English Colony, measures have been adopted that will serve to eradicate this piracy entirely. Recently, a wild cat company, playing a well known metropolitan success, without permission, was intercepted by the Canadian authorities, and obliged to discontiue their tour. The manager of this show hastened to New York City, where arrangements were negotiated with the owners of the play, and now this company is again operating in Canada, though paying the usual royalties. This is a form of piracy which producing managers would do well to give their attention to. In most cases the company that will attempt to offer, without authority, a production of some other manager, is far from first-class, and usually leaves a bad impression in the communities it plays.

Another Version.

The Musical Leader is greatly incensed over the printed statements that the police, of Chicago, were responsible for the hasty and abrupt withdrawal of Salome from the Chicago Opera House. Their editorial, which contains an entirely different view of the matter, is as follows:

"What purpose was served in publishing broadcast a deliberate false-hood concerning the withdrawal of the music-drama 'Salome,' is not known, but the stories, as printed, were in many cases wide of the mark. This paper gave the only authoritative version of the matter, when it stated that the board of directors, with the general manager, Andreas Dippel, acting of their own volition, concluded that the wiser course; in face of the many criticisms aroused and the freely expressed comment, was to abandon for the time being any further presentation of the Wilde-Strauss work.

"The general impression, according to the newspapers all over the country, appeared to be that the chief of police ordered 'Salome' withdrawn from the boards of the Chicago Opera House. This is an absolutely malicious statement, lacking any foundation, save an interview purporting to give the chief's ultimatum. Anything more ridiculous was never perpetrated on the public. Objection was introduced by certain stockholders and sustained by some of exceptional influence, in whose opinion the production was prejudicial to the interests of the opera company, and might be retroactive with regard to next season. With such strong argument against the opera, it was decided that a pacificatory policy would be advisable, and that while no decency had been outraged, yet it was best to submit with good grace to the conservatives who desired that the new company should stand well before all classes. It was clearly not a case of coercion; nor of command, but of simple expedience in conceding to certain expressed wishes of those most nearly affiliated with the promotion and concerned with the success of the Chicago opera organization."

EDITORIAL BULLETIN

Moving Picture Reviews

As announced in THE BILLBOARD several weeks ago, a special department will be instituted in the edition of January 7, in which reviews and comments of all releases from the Motion Picture Patents Co. and Sales Co. will appear. The recent announcement of the inauguration of this plan has been received with much interest by the moving picture exhibitors all over the country, and The Billboard has, since this announcement first appeared, received a number of communications from interested persons highly endorsing this plan. These reviews will be reliable, authentic and comprehensive, uncolored and impartial, thereby insuring exhibitors a correct report of all releases.

The Lives of Famous Showmen

The next edition of THE BILLBOARD will contain an article concerning the careers of some of the world's most famous showmen. As announced in our last edition, the source from which this information will be obtained has never before been accessible to any amusement publication. Not only will this article treat of the history of circus celebrities, but it will contain many interesting anecdotes of circuses, when these most famous of amusements were in their infancy. The article will be illustrated.

The Film Number.

ta d^{alo} — ep Wado es a constante de la const The edition of The Billboard to bear date of January 28th will be designated as the Film Number. This edition will contain several especially prepared articles on moving pictures, contributed by a number of well-known persons whose association and long experience with the film industry qualify them for contributing the most authentic and reliable information on this subject. Pertinent hints to exhibitors will be published along with the reviews of all films released by the several manufacturers of each faction. This edition will furthermore contain a number of illustrations of the stock companies of the various manufacturing companies. The cover will be in two colors, emblematic of the enterprises it represents. In addition to these special features this edition will contain the usual departments devoted to the week's news and information.

History of Amusements in America.

A series of articles giving a brief history of the theatrical and amusement business in the larger cities of America is now in preparation, and the first of these reviews will be ready for publication in the near future. These articles will begin with the inception of the amusement business in each of the cities represented, and will deal briefly, though definitely, with those pioneers and their enterprises to which the present system of amusements owes its foundation. Illustrations of theatrical landmarks and the founders of amusements in their respective localities will be features of this series. In addition to the histories of the beginning and development of amusements, the present status of theatricals in each community will be dealt with. This series will constitute a budget of information no one interested in the amusement business can afford to miss.

Lithography was discovered by Aloys Senefelder, who was born at gradually gained in use, and, finally, in the year 1840, lithographic color Prague, the capital of Bohemia, in 1771. The discovery dates probably printing was brought out in London, and its first appearance produced irom 1796, when Senefelder's attention was drawn to the properties of a general sensation. Sometime later, when going to rub the writing from the stone, it occurred to Senefelder that he might etch it in relief, and, if necessary, it might prove an easy method of getting his musical pieces printed.

I would say here that he was a playwright and publisher of music, and being very poor, he had difficulty in get-ting the money with which to publish his compositions.

His attention had previously been drawn to the fact that on one of the lithographic stones which were then used as hearth stones in that country—as the stones were very plentiful and frequently used for that purpose, and were susceptible of being grained and polished—a bowl of porridge had been spilt, and he noticed afterwards that where the porridge had been spilt, the stone remained clean, but gradually it attracted the grease and dirt, which gave it a stain, different in appearance from the portion where the porridge had been spilt on the stone. He conducted his experiments with great patience and perseverance, and finally a new discovery dawned upon him-lithography.

His first experiments were by placing his work on stone and etching it so as to raise those portions of the stone in relief, making what is called "high etching," but he soon found that the real principle in lithography, which was, in short, a daub of grease on a clean polished stone, would receive printing ink and refuse water, while the other parts of the stone that were not affected by the grease would retain moisture and refuse to take on ink, the natural principle of the mutual repulsion of grease and water coming into play. And this is practically the secret of lithography, as our printing is done on an absolutely flat surface, having points a source of lithography. having neither cavity nor projection.

Senefelder continued his experiments, and he constructed a rude wooden press, and was his own artist and printer for a time.

He tried to get aid from the German Government to develop the industry, but was unsuccessful; he, however, turned his attention to the French Government, which appropriated $6,000.00 for the purpose of promoting the enterprise. This was the means of first making the industry practicable. From this time on, lithography appears to have

Within the last. twenty years, great improvements have been made in lithographic machinery. The Ameri-Lithographcan ing Company, of New York, built the multi - color press which prints a number of colors at one time. There are a number of firms that bought offset presses, which are the most rapid producers at the present time.

Between the years 1803 and 1850, many distinguished artists tried their hands in making crayon drawings on stone. Among these were Charles Heath, John Landseer and Thomas Bewick; also Turner, Harding, Roberts, Simpson, and even Queen Victoria is said to have made some drawings on stone, which were very creditable. By this time there were quite a number of establishments in America. New York City, of course, had the largest and best establishments, but there were quite a number in the principal cities of the United States, but, as a rule, they were small, the work being done on hand presses, on which the output was very little.

In Cincinnati the first establishment was started by Archibald Macbrair, who was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, February 26, 1805. He started in the lithographing business in Belfast, Ireland, in 1840, printing on a hand press that he had made himself. He came to this country, bringing the press with him, and opened a shop in Cincinnati in 1849, being the first lithographer west of the Alleghany Mountains. He enlarged his plant from time to time, and after his death in 1882, he was succeeded by his sons, who, in 1885, incorporated under the name of The Macbrair Lithographing Company of Cincinnati. This company still has the old Belfast hand press which Mr. Macbrair brought with

The next to open in Cincinnati was a firm by the name of Fleetwood. Mr. Fleetwood came a year after Mr. Macbrair, and his business was, like Mr. Macbrair's, very small. He conducted his business for quite a number of years. Following him was Mr. Menzell, and after him was Mr. Wallace, who, like Mr. Macbrair, came from Scotland, bringing his

LAY-OFF WEEK

Is the Seven Day Period Immediately Preceding Christmas Of New Play, We Can't Be as Bad as All That, By Henry Al. G. Field's Minstrels Following Usual Custom, Will Enjoy Week's Holiday.

The Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels have made it a rule to lay off the week preceding Christmas, and there will be no exception this season. That part of the season already passed has been very successful.

At Roanoke, Va., Dec. 12, the company had the honor of the presence of the Elka from the National Home at Bedford, Va. They came as guests of Mr. Field, on a special train to and fro, and left nothing undone that would add to their comfort or enjoyment. A special matinee performance was given for their exclusive amusement, after which a luncheon was tendered the visitors by the local Lodge of Elka. The banquet given the ôld veterans by Mr. Field was served at noon by request of the old boys, who wished to put in every minute they had to spare while in Roanoke. Many of the old members of the home were conce of the theatrical profession, and they had many acquaintances among the members of the minimater company.

Al. G. Field, who bad been incapacitated with a bronchial trouble for some time, rejoined the company at Roanoke.

A wrong impression has gone forth through the columns of certain newspapers that Al. G.

Indoor Circus Went Broke

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 17 (Special to The Billboard).—The indoor circus, organized by Mr. Fitzgerald, who during the past season had charge of some of the acts with the Barmum and Bailey Show, was diabanded here. Fitzgerald had planned a season for his show, playing nuder the suspices of Elk lodges. His first atand was St. Louis. The second day of the engagement he reclized that the affair was going to be a failure, and immediately made arrangements whereby the Elks took charge of the show from Tuesday of the engagement on, and paid the salaries of the performers from the time that they took charge.

It was learned here that Mr. Fitzgerald advanced as high as $75 to some of the performers, who afterwards collected their salaries for five days from the Elks, and did not even offer to pay back to Mr. Fitzgerald sup of the amount that they were overpaid. The failure left Mr. Fitzgerald unable to take the show to Kansas City, which was to be the next atand.

YALE PROFESSOR IN NEW ROLE.

YALE PROFESSOR IN NEW ROLE.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 10 (Special Dispaich to The Billboard.)—Last week was unique in the annals of things theatrics; in New Haven, en no iess a personage than William Lyon Phelps, l'rofessor of English at Yale, came out in an open letter in all the local papers naring people to sitend the prodoction of Sister Beatrice, at the Hyperion, Wednesday night, Dec. 1d. Prof. Phelps' argument was that no on should miss seeing the New Theatre Company, as it ta, without doubt, the greatest stock company in America.

While all this is doubtless true it was such an nunsual thing for some one out of the profession to take it upon themself to nrge the public to sitend any theatrical performance whether good or had, unless prompled by advertising reasons, that when Prof. Phelps came out in print with extractic praise of the company, it goes without saying that people "hat up and took notice" and that Mr. Eldridge, the manager of the Hyperion, was, sure of a packed bouse for Sister Bestrice, even had the merits of the company not been beraided in advance by his special "ad" writers.

Buch then is the power of greatness, for Prof. Phelps, in his own exclusive way, is a law unto the people in New Haven.

The night of Sister Beatrice marked also the second appearance in New Haven of Bnth St. Denis, under the management of Henry B. Harris. The incident is worth chrosicling, as isst year when she appeared at the Grand, the management on the first night had to paper the house very extensively, as she came here without reputation other than that gleaned from the newspapers and New Haven is loth to accept many new things. The second performance was a matinee and the house was packed, while at the night performs per process press papering even.

The Matinee Girl Musical Comedy Company closed for the bolidays, December 17, is Ok.

The Matines Girl Musical Comedy Company closed for the holidays, December 17, in Oklaboma City. About the middle of January the company will be reorganized and the tour resumed. Wm. Gross, with his wire and sixwerks-old baby, will spend the lay-off period in Sloux City, Is.

Percy Hammond, in his review of this production, had the following to say: "The play, a feverish episode, involving the guilty love of a man and a women, is an exciting and plausible transcript of the few joys and many sorrowa of such affairs, and should, if permitted, be agitating and impressivo. In it Mr. Bernstein exercises his sense of the the-strical, his ingenuity, and his intensity to the full limit, disguising his tricks and expedients deftly, and leaving unguarded few places where the curlona spectator may say, "Why?"

O. L. Hall, of the Journal: "Any perfectly good teacher of acting, or any industrious stage manager, might easily find a great many more things for Miss Illington to do, but their addition to what she already does would not in the least improve her performance, so fardoes real feeling, even when expressed without great physical exertion, go to justify itself. CHICAGO'S HOLDOVER SHOWS.

Chicago, Dec. 17 (Special to The Billboard).

The boldiars will bring with them changes at many of Chicago's theatres. The Girl in the Train, at the Studehaker, has made way for Sentimental Sally. The New Blackstone Theatre will open on Dec. 31. Besides these, many of the other showhouses wilt have change of attractions.

In the meanwhile, The Chocolate Soldier, at the Garrirk Theatre, with its beautiful melodies, has passed its hundredth performance with as much interest evinced in it as ever. At the Olympic, Get-Rieh-Quick Waillingford shows splendid advance sales, an evidence of the great oppularity of this production. The Sweetest Girl in Paris Company will give a Kris Kringle party on the day after Christmaa at the Lasaile house for the benefit of the poor children of Chicago'a down town distrirt. This production has greatly profited by the recent addition of Miss Dorolby Brenner and Frederirk Bowers. This is the finat week of The Soendthrift at the Chicago Opera Hunse. Were it not for the fart that contrarts rail for this production in other quarters. The Spendthrift could have a long engagement in Chicago, as the playgoera of this city have expressed their appreciation by a liberal attendance. Interest in The Deep Purple at the Princess is as tense as ever, this worthy production is going along at a speed that defied all scorching laws. The Communers will take its leave of Powers' Theatre on Christmas eve, and this, its final week, finds those many who have heard the good things of this production standing in line at the boxoffice grasping their last chance to view this party. Two Men and a Girl, with Bailey and Austin as the Chief langh producers, are dispensing fun at the Cort Theatre at a schedule rate of so many langths per minute.

—The thrilling melodrama, Side-Trarked, is the attrartion at the Bijou and The Montana Limited moves from the Bijou, where it played last week, to the Criterion. The James Brothers is making its home at Weber's and Ninety and Nine goes from the National over to the West Side, being the offering of the management of the Crown. The Newlyweds and Their Bahy are making merry at the Haymarket, while remaining four the Montania. Eugene Walter's Paid in Full is the attraction at the Globe. The resident stock company, at the Marlowe, is interpreting Monie Cristo. St. Elmo is the offering of the College Theatre Stock Company.

WHITNEY AND COLONIAL DARK.

Chicago, Dec. 17 (Special to The Biliboard).

—Both the Whitney Opera House and Colonial Theatre are this week without attractions. Lower Berth 13, which occupied the former playhouse, has dishanded, but in its place a new company has been organized to take the road. The Colonial is dark, owing to the recent closing of The Mayoress. However, this theatre will be reopened on Dec. 24, with Raymond Hitchcock in The Man Who Owns Broadway.

Accounting Asked for Mme. Sherry.

Chicago, Dec. 17 (Special to The Biliboard).

—Cyrus S. Simon, an attorney, with offices in the Ashland Block, Chicago, has applied to the New York Supreme Court for an accounting and a receiver in the belief that he has not been receiving his full share in the profits of hisdame Sherry, the musical comedy now running in the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, Mr. Simon was one of the backers of the musical production, and in payment of his service, was given a percentage interest. He received his share of the profits for the Chicago run, but, though the business in New York has been phenomenal, his returns have grown smaller and smaller,

The Vaudeville Week in Chicago

EXCEPTIONAL BILL

Theatre—Annette Kellermann and Stafford and Stone Register Big Hits

Since the American Music Hail has adopted the 22-act policy, the Majestic has been putting on some of the best acts seen in vandeville for some time.

The program for this week was one of axceptional talent and one that drew crowds to the theatre at every performance.

The Two Decomas, who opened the bill with a uovelty juggling act, were indeed appropriate for such a position.

The Hawaiian Duo were good but they were placed a tittle too sarry on the hill. The male voices were splendid.

The Three Livingstons, in acrobatics, were a riot. This is one of the most comical acrobatic acts seen which gets away from the silly ordinary comedy which is so oftan displayed. Everything being original with these people, the comedy was taken and it was certainly deserving of the credit the andience gave it.

people, the comedy was taken and it was certainly deserving of the credit the andience gave it.

Irene Hawley, the Manhattan Giri, singing fun songs, among which were: I Don't Care What Becomes of Me. 1 Feel Immanse, and the Bear Cat Rag, which were splendid.

Frank Stafford and Company, presenting an original novelty, entitled A Hunter's Game, was axcellent. Mr. Stafford earries his own scenery, electrical effects and everything which sets of the stage wonderfully. His tmitation of birds was excellent, which places Mr. Stafford in a class by himself for we have naver yat witnessed such a performance as was given by Mr. Stafford, Milss Marle Stone and bis wonderful English actter. The scene takes one back into the woods of the Adirondack mountains and one could certainly tmagine himself in such a place when witnessing Mr. Stafford's aplendid performance.

Ashley and Lee, in some entertaining funnism were very clever. This is a scene to one with a special drop showing a street in Chinatowa. The act opens with a Jew complaining shout his business being poor, his business being on the order of a delicatessen atore. A dope fiend arrives on the scene which hrugs the comedy into play and is sppreciated by everybody.

Carl McCullough's Novel Experience

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 17 (Special to The Billboard).—Carl McCullongh, in his footlight impressions, scored the most pronounced hit of the aeason with the andiences at the Main Street Theatre, Peoria, Ill.

Due to trouble with his baggage, Mr. McCullough missed his early train Monday morning from Chicago, and was forced to take a later one, which arrived in Peoria at 3:30 in the afternoon. Being haadilined at the theatre, the management feared that business would be hort if he did not make the matines, so they wired him to try and get ready on the train. After purchasing the use of a drawing-room on the Chicago & Alton train, Mr. McCullongh had his Japanese valet go in the haggage room and get his wardrobe and make-np. He was ready to go on the atage when he arrived at Peoria at 3:35 P. M.. and after being rushed to the theatre in a taxi-cab, he walked on to the atage at 3:45 P. M.. without any rebearsal with the orchestra, and scored tha unquestionable hit of the season.

The andience clamored for more until the young man atepped to the footlights and thanked them. McCullongh said: "Whan the management wired me to get ready on the train I thought it a good idea, but when I came out into the daylight with all my make-up on and naw the peopla atare at me I felt mighty cheap, but after being so well received by you this afternoon, I feel gratefully rewarded for my trouble."

An effort was mada by the management to hold McCullough over for the following week, but as he is booked at the American Music Hall, Chicago, it was found impossible. He is now booked up until September, so the Feorians will have to remember him until ha returns naxt winter.

PATTER.

Morey Stern has been given the management of Herry Von Tlizer's office in the Grant Hotel during Ben Bornstein's absence. Ben Bornstein will return to Chicago immediately after the New Year. He writes that there are two or three new songs in press which will be the hit of the West.

Annette Kaitermann, who does a diving act. is stuging 1 Love 1t.

Roiton, Hayes and Bolton, who have just come off of Doutrich's time, are singing 1 Love it and Lovey Joe, with great success.

Garnet Raymond la doing well with Lovey Joe.

Jones Linick and Schaefer Company, have secured the lease on the Star Theatre on Milwankee avenue from tha Cole Eatate and Associates. This is a class five bonse with a sesting capacity of over 1,500. Thay took possession of the house Monday, Dec. 12, with Charles R. Hagedorn as house manager.

Regioning Dec. 19, three shows a day of six audeville acts and pictures, will be given. The bookings for the present are to remain with the Western Vandeville Association.

Paul Goodwin will return from New York City on the 19th of January.

Draws Audiences of Immense Proportions to the Majestic Has Bill Combining Quality and Quantity-Among the Twenty-Two Numbers are Adele Ritchie, Godlewsky Troupe, Bob Fitzsimmons and Other Features

Chicago, 1ll., Dec. 17 (Special to The Biliboard).—Franiain D'Ora Martini in har graceful gymnastic act and Loes Brothers in illustrated aouga were good.
Vanus on Wheels or the fascinating beauty which is a rival to Annette Kellermann for the most perfectly formed woman on the atage. Her bicycle act is one of art but we are surprised to think that Chief Stewart did not take this set off, as it is much more suggestive than Mary Garden's Salome.

Renee Graham, English male impersonator, was fairly good. Her walk in overdone.

LeClair and Sampson, The Strong Men? have one of the best ianghing acts in the acrobatic line seen this season.

Waiter James' lmitation of well-known comedians, was fairly good.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fitzsimmons, presenting A Man's a Man For Ali o' That, Mr. Fitzsimmons might be an actor if he had a voice, but this he is lacking. Mrs. Fitzsimmons has a aplendid singing voice and ness it to her best shillty.

Pony Moore and D. J. Davey, in vandevill-novelties, were good. Miss Moore has no voice for the hailed, which she sings in the last of her act. Her male imitations, however, are clever.

The Operator, which has been reviewed time and time again, is not in need of another review, except to say that it is one of the best dramatic pieces seen in vandeville and will be for some time to come.

Miss Busse and her delightful offering of Littla Toy Tarriers, want well. Ons dog, which impersonated Ess Tanguar, in 1 Don't Care, made a decided hit with the andience.

Adele Ritchie, the Dreaden China prima domna, sang two or three numbers one of which was entitled Winter. She impressed the audience.

The Earls Trio is one of the hest acts of its

ence.

The Earls Trio is one of the hest acts of its kind working in one. The trio consists of one member working in black face, a straight and a woman planist. Among the songs used were Barber Shop Chord and My Hero.

Handrillo and his band of thirty men, rendered some beautiful pieces that took well. This act is given the closing position on the Ali-star Bill.

Eugene Trio, comedy bar artists, were clever.

Havery and Welia have a comedy singing and talking sketch, entitled Mr. Piker va. Miss Kidder. The comedy in this ta mediocre and the piece, therefore, not deserving or tha title of "a comedy aketch."

Mann and Franks have a ridiculously brainless and mediocre aketch, entitled From the Sublime to the Ridiculous.

Lee Beggs and Company, preenting The Old Homestsad of Vandeville, entitled The Old Folks at Home, were excellent.

Next week will be seen at this theatre Falix and Caire and Frank Bush.

The program in the future must be much better than the one offered last week or business will fall off considerably.

Annette Keliermann has issued pamphiets with her photographs which have been mailed to nearly all the theatres in Chicago, advertising her at the Majestic Theatre. Miss Keliermann with be held over for another week.

With the Busy Vaudevillians

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 17 (Special to The Biliboard.)—Lew Fuller and Littla Johnnie, the original Mintt and Jeff., who are playing around Chicago, are "screams" wherever they perform. Lew Fuller, who impersonates Mutt, made auch a tremendous bit with Witmark's Gee Whix. Sweetle, I'm Stuck On Ton, that he was forced to stop the act to respond to the numerous encores.

Williams, Thompson and Copeland, who are playing over the W. V. A. time, are using for their feature number, Armstrong and Clark'a latest success The Entertaining Man.

The Three Dancing Sunbeams, who were at the National Theatre isst week with the Giri from Rector's, danced their way into popularity to the atrains of Down Where the Big Banauas Grow.

to the strains of Down Where the Big Banauas Grow.

Casad and De Verne, who are presenting at Chicago's various playhouses a neat up-to-date singing act are creating a sensation with Wittmark's Where the River Shannon Flows, and bave also added this most popular publishing bouse's latest number to their act, entitled, Dutch Kiddies.

Miss Emine Earle, the dainty singing comedenne, was a caller at the office of M. Witmark & Sons, and after trying out several of their late productions decided upon Taka Me Back to Babyland, I'd Like to be Loved by a Boy Like You, and the Entertaining Man.

Bobby Stewart and Gertrude Earl, who are presenting the comedy sketch A Devil of a Mix-Up, over the S, and C, time, are creating screams of langhter and holding their audiance with Witmark's Gee Whis, Sweetle, I'm Stuck On You, and Lovesick, another Witmark song, used as a conversationat number.

The best evidence of what is a real song hit used as a conversational number.

The best evidence of what is a real song hit and how quickly a song becomes popular when it has merit is the fact that performers and aingers fairly run to put the song into their act before it is hardly off the press. A proof of this fact may be cited with Hawhornes and Raymend, a company of eight people, presenting The Ynm Yum Girlle, and using Ted Barron's, of Witmark & Sons, Down Where the Big Bananas Grow. They are also rapidly gaining popularity with the song hit, Yiddisha Love.

Karl Emmy, who is playing the Poli time with the act known as Karl Emmy and His Pets, was taken down with rheumatism recent. He went to a hospital in one town and will apend a week or so yet in rest before reopening his season. A latter received from him brings the information that he is feeling all wight acting the season.

Performer Dies in Dressing Room

Burlington, 1a., Dec. 17.—Frank White, blackface comedian, of White and Simmons, died at 3:20 this afternoon in the dressing room of the Garrick Theatre, in this city. Mr. White, with his partner, had just completed their act. He had retired to his room, washed and was ready to dress when he sat down and expired, death being due to heart disease. Mrs. White was with him at the time of his death. This being his last week on the W. V. M. A. time, Mr and Mrs. White had contemptated going home for Christmas.

Mr. White was born in 1856, and was one of the original old-time minstrels of this country. The local lodge B. P. O. E., No. 84 ahlpped the body to his home lodge in Newark. N. J. Mr. Simmons, his partner for thirteen years, was very deeply touched since this was so sudden.

TAYLOR AFTER VAUDEVILLE.

New York, Dec. 16 (Special to The Biliboard).—Now that melodrams has subsided considerably in popular estimation and offers few inducements to the playwright, Chas. A. Taylor who made his name in this field, has been thown melodramss are such as King of the Opinm Ring, Queen of the White Sinvea, Tracked Arcand the World, Queeu of the Highway, The Female Delectives, which brought out the Russell Brothers, and From Rags to Biches, which developed Joseph Santiey, who gust left the Broadway Theatre with Marie Cahill in Judy Forgot. Taylor's prolific humor rully appreciable in his thrillers, has also applied the lines for his vanderile sketches. Amongst those at present using his eretches in vandeville is Ben S. Mears, inte of Ben Hur, now with Sarah Breannn in The Tolird Night.

BUCKLEY AND SKINNER PART.

New York, Dec. 16 (Special to The Bill-board).—After years of close association between Otis Shinner and Jos. Buckley, beginning in the time when theatricat hardships brought them together and made them inseparable, the two friends will part as soon as Sire. Otia Skinner's new play, is produced near the first of the month. This time Buckley will in no manner be connected with the management. Beport had it that they would not be together at the beginning of this season, but such was not the case, as an amicable understanding is said to have taken place between the two friends whereby each will go his own way without the company of the other.

MOUNTFORD EXPANDING.

New York, Dec. 16 (Special to The Bill-board).—W. S. Mountford has increased his es-tablishment at 100 Maiden Lane, New York City, and has moved his offices to the second Soor, far better in all respect for his purpose than the top floor. He now occupies four Soors in this building.

THE FIFTH AVENUE BILL

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Biliboard).

Nat M. Wills, with his robust and melodious voice, his comical nulle, and uonchalent vagabondage has beld the andiences at Kaila Proctor's Fifth Avenne Theatre in liege approbation this last week. His act, which is probably the best monologue in vaudeville, was reviewed in these columns last week. Sharing headline honors with nifty Nat are The Contilers, B. A. Roffe's latest candidate for popular approval. It is an act along linea aimilar to his anccessful Ye Colonial Sepicite. Eleves people, each of whom is a vocal or instrumental artist of shilling, attired in the costums of the Middle Georgian period, the gentlemen is small clothes and surtouts, and the kides in bodiced watteau gowns, constitute the company, the personnel of which is as fullows: Alma Moore, soprano; Boy Dietrich, tenor; William A. Galpen, haritone; Jennie Griff, flute; Henry Schnier, Nettle C. Coburn and Ethel Adsmoon cornet; Lilliam A. Garris, 'cello, and Raymond S. Evans and Charles W. Harris, trombons. The scenic frame is the sumpinous interior of an tid English castle, and the act opens with a tenor and soprano duet, esquisitely rendered. This is followed by a musical ensemble involving the whole company. An appealing baritone solo by Mr. Galpen, and a medicy of national airs by Mr. Detrich and Miss Moore. are interspersed, the act finishing atrong with an ensemble in hrass, rendering The Pilgrims' Chorus from Tamnhaeuser and The Star Spangled Banner.

—Gauged by both standards—their ability to draw the dollars into the box-office, and their popular appeal—the All-star offerings this week represent the cream of New York's wandeville hanguet. On both counts the place of honor must be given to B. A. Rolfe's The Contiers. It embodies practically every requirement of the ideal enterialment, possessing something to auti every fancy. Its beantiful staging, ils picturesque costumes, and its graceful artissiconsiliute a delight for the eye, while its masterly program is well calculated to charm the aural senae. Above sit, it is pure and lofty in its appeals. It is an entertainment par excel icnce for the family circle. Nana, who make her New York debut, is a graceful dancer, and M. Alexals assists her in a program of senae though a select company share honors with him in the diverting comedy. Laddie Ciff occupies continued to the company share honors with him in the diverting comedy. Laddie Ciff occupies conth position by reason of the apperiar artistry of his work. Ben Welch likewise is entitled to recognition for a distinct creation—the Ghetito-Jew, as we may see him daily. The Brothers Lloyd combine skill and novelty, and deserve credit for getting away from the bealen track of wire acts. The Two Puck have an original way of delineating the Lowery character, and their planologue feature is refined, as well as enjertaining. The Vivians are skillful markamen, and their shooling times on a musical target is practically unique. Win sor McKay is a cartoonist with an imagination, as well as a delightfully human technique.

She recently returned to America after a tonr of Anstralla, ainging prima donna parts in The Dollar Princess. She will soon return to vaudeville in a new aketch, Nancy.

Sadie Leonard Granted Divorce

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Bili-board).—A surprise that amazed the theatrical folks of the country during the past week was the news that Sadle Leonard, wife of James Leonard, had been granted a limited divorce in the Chicago contrs. Proceedings had been in-atituted against the vandevillism while he wns abroad during the summer in Carlebad. They had been married about one and a half years.

De Beaufort Film Is Released

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 19 (Special to The Bill-board).—The mnch-talked of and long-anticipation of him of the life of Count De Beanfort is now so the market and viewed by the many who are anxlous to see depicted the many things they have read concerning the Count and his tribulations.

When a film of this magnitude is placed on the market it is needless to dwell on those many minor things that go to make up a regular release. The ambject in Itself is too large; the world wide publicity of the Count has created the demand. This void must be filled and Carl Leemile hit on the logical method when he Mcured the Count to pose before his camera. The story of the Count's life is familiar to practically every citizen of the States who can read. It is needless to review it here. Suffee it lo say that the film shows the most important events from the time De Beanfort landed in Now York to the present day, including his encounter with a chanflenr, his work on the railroad and his endeavor to gain admittance to the hospital where his wife lay sick.

THE HUMAN DOLL'S DOINGS.

Holding the little of the smallest performer on the stage, Little Lord Robert, sometimes called the linman Doll, is now being booked as one of the feature attractions over the Webster Time ibrough the North and Northwest. Lord Roberta has a clever act that consumes excenteen minutes and consists of two male and two female impersonations. The latter are take-offs on Julian Ellings.

ARCHER THEATRE.

Chicago, Ili., Dec. 17 (Special to The Biliboard).—Appessing at the Archer Theatre were The Five Gaffncy Sisters, singing and danclog; Carolins Comedy Four, Rose Johnson, George Chassia, charseter vocaliat; Washborne and Wilson, sioging and dancing.

At the Lyda Theatre were John L. Snitivan, the grestesi bailler the world has ever known, appessing with Jake Kiirain, the gama and ahle heavyweight who fought him for the championship when he was in his prime, in a taiking, boxing and ring exhibition sketch and other fine vanderlillo features.

THE RED CROSS FILM

and Development Stimulates Public Interest in Fight Against the White Plague.

Last week moving picture theatres throughout the United States had on display the Red Cross film. This ambject demonstrated how tuberculosis muds its hirth and development where manniary conditions exist. The film shows various accuses taken in the lenement district of New York City, and points out in what utter indigence some of the people of the lower East side are obliged to live. A more potent means of arousing public aympathy could not have been devised, as the film shows with a remsrkable exactness the hardships that are endured by these destituted families. The Red Cross Society and the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has been waring a relentiess war on the While Pisgue, and through the sale of Red Cross atamps they are doing moch to alloviate the antering of consumptives. Throughout the United States, moving picture theatre managers have granted the Red Cross Society the privilege of selling atampa in their theatres during the time this alm was on display. In Clucinnati, the Lubin Thestre, managed by Lonia Jacobs, had the film on for two days, during which time the Red Cross unress sold thousands of atamps. The film itself is very good, and the company who posed for the picture was excellent. The film was released by Edison, and a sysopais appears on another page of this edition.

MUSICAL CATES ACCEPT CONN'S CHALLENGE.

The Four Musical Catea have been advertising to the effect that they are the finest saxophone artists on earth, and have issued a challenge of $1.000 for all comers. An Esstern music paper refers to this challenge in a sarcastic manner, and offers to meet The Four Musical Cates with Tha Four Saxolians, the latter being considered by Coun better musicians than the former. They agree to meet The Four Musical Cates at any place or tima designated by the original challengers. The Four Catea have written The Billiboard accepting Mr. Com's challenge, and sgree to meet The Four Saxolians in an open contest, to take place Friday, December 30, at 10 A. M., at the Prospect Theatre, New York City, and agree to pul up $1,000.

The new Colonial Theatre at Sioux City, Iowa, now being constructed, will be opened about February I. Vaudeville, booked through the Sullivan & Considine offices, will be played. The management of the Bijon Theatre, Charlotte, Mich., is publishing a sheet in the interests of the theatre. It is termed "The Bijon Daily."

Picture Theatre Is Destroyed

Newark, N. J., Dec. 14 (Special to The Billboard).—A spark from a cigarette fell in a moving picture machine and lighted a $20,000 blaze, Dec. 13, which imperiled the lives of 450 residents of Nutlay. Harry Btone, of New York, the mechine operator, was badly hursed about the hands, and half a dozen women who ware entrapped by the finmes were carried down ladders by firemen to safety.

All that is left to-day of Masonic Hall, at High street and Franklin avenue, where the fire occurred, is four brick walls. The interfor of the hullding was reduced to sabes, and with it costly paraphornalia of half a dosen fraternal organizations which used the hall as a meeting place, and the stock of libree establishments on the first floor.

Private Secretary Revived

New York. Dec. 17 (Special to The Biliboard).—William Gilliette entered upon his secood week at the Empire Theatre io the revival of The Private Secretary. It will be remembered that Mr. Gilliette is the author of this farce, which he has played more than two thousand times. At the opening performance. December 12, a fashionahle audience laughed long and heartly. The farce was capitally acted by the company now surrounding Mr. Gillette in the farewell revival of his own plays. The Herald had this to asy: "Although it has been years since Mr. Gillette has been seen here in The Private Secretary, it seemed to those of his aodience who remember him in the title role, that he was just the same lo speech and action as when he was appearing in the play, which ran so loog before being farmed out to stock and repertoire compacies, who have done it from Red Bank, N. Marie Tempest in Becky Sharp

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Bill-board).—The New Theatre announces that, foliowing its policy of occasionally presenting plays in which stars may appear as "guest artists," with the regular company, the directors have invited Miss Marie Tempeat, the English actress, to play the role of Becky Sharp in a revival of Vanity Fair. Miss Tempeat has accepted the invitation. It is attacted that the production will be made early in the new year. The other parts will be played by the regular members of the New Theatre Company. Vanity Fair was written by Cosmo Gordon-Lennox and Robert Hicheos, and was presented in London ten years ago, with Miss Tempeat in the same part which she will play at the New Theatre.

SOTHERN AND MARLOWE.

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Bill-hoard).—E. A. Sothero and Julia Marlowe entered npron their second week December 12, he their Shakespeareas repertoire. The performance of As You Like It was as a whole sitent the heat in the reperioire of these cafars. Other well-known Shakespeareas tragedles, including Hamlet, Romeo and Juliet, were given throughout the week.

Lena Ashwell Reading New Play

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Bill-board).—Lena Ashwell, the English actreas, who appeared here several years ago in The Shniamite, returned to New York December II. upon the White Star liner, 'Arabic. She will appear In Liehler's production of Judith Zaraine, a new play by C. M. S. McLeiain. She has given the play a number of readings, and is letter perfect in her part.

"It is an exceptionally clever play," she said. "I know of no drama that I have found more interesting. I fancy the part will snit me because It appeals to me greatly. I am indeed glad to get off the atormy Atlantic and back to peaceful and atrenous America. I am anxious to appear again before Americao andiences, for I find a great pleasure in spearing before them."

Miss Ashwell asked the ship news reporters for news of the American atage. She wanted to know about her friend, Miss Margaret Angilu, and the American players who had appeared with her to Mrs. Daoe's Defence. She asked about William Vanghn Moody, the anthor of The Oreat Divide, and expressed great antprise and sorrow to hear that he had died.

CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA AND CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA AND PAGLIACCI AT METROPOLI-TAN.

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Bill-board).—For the third time this season Cavaiteria Rasticana and Pagiacci were sung in one evening. This double bill, given December 12, attracted the usual large and responsate acollence. Mr. Herman Jadlowker appeared for the first time this season as Trida, and while he sang the music very well, he was neither magnetic nor sympathetic. Miss Florence Wickham sang Loia acceptably, and Miss Destinn fairty outdid herself as Santuzza a part in which she is always delightful.

Mr. Caruso aroused much laughter by his antics on bis entrance in the donkey cart in Pagitacci, and sang as apiendidly as ever this favorite role. Miss Bella Alteu was a charming Nedda. Mr. Amato was recalled many times after his fice aluging of the protocus and Mr. Gilly made the shadowy character of Silvio vital by his dramatic singing. Mr. Codesti conducted without a poetry, crealing little of the illusion that is woven about the story by a more sympathetic baton.

COOKE REJOINS BELASCO.

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Rilliboard).—Charles Emerson Cooke, for many years general press representative for David Belanco, has rejoined that manager's atm to act as business manager of the David Warfeld Company.

Since his withdrawal from Mr. Belanco's staff a year ago, Cooke has been making stock productions. Of late he has been a member of the Liebler and Company forces.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

Business has been exceptionally good in this city for the past few weeks, especially in consideration of the greatly increased competition locally. Within the past year several large souses have aprung up on the East and West side sections of the city, away from the business districts, and they have naturally drawn a large number of patrons from the down-town theatres, which has had no perceptible effect on the trade of the main thoroughfares.

Mr. Worrell is the house manager at the Academy, having recently stepped into this position, and is evidently making good, indging from the husiness the house is doing.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

The Christmas holidays have had the usual effect on the theatrical husiness in Brooklyn. For the week of Dec. 26, all the managers have booked very strong attractions and look forward to a big week's business.

Brooklyn's newest theatre. The Bushwick, now under active course of construction by Percy Williams, at Broadway, Howard arenne and Madison street, will be the largest playhouse in the borough. It is doubtful if, excepting the opera houses and the old Academy of Music in Manhattan, there is any regular theatre in the greater city with as large seating capacity as The Bushwick is to have, namely, about 2,500 people.

The Bushwick will give Mr. Williams a total of ten theatres in the greater city, or which six are vauderille houses.

The house staff of the Grand Opera House is: John H. Springer, preprietor and manager; J. Harwood Springer, business manager: David Mayer, treasurer; John G. Canuing, press representative and assistant treasurer; Al. Gaylord, musical director; Chas. O'Hara, master of properties, Frank Rogers, chief unher, and S. Cantor, advertising agent.

SEATTLE, WASH.

Theatrical business was rather quiet in Seattle the week of December 5, as the Moore and the Grand have been dark with the exception of Ellen Terry's dramatic recitis at the Moore December 7, which packed this theatre to averniwing. For evenings of December 3 and 6 the Grand presented some motion pictures by B. B. Dobbs, the Arctic explorer. The pictures give an excellent flustration of life in Alaska mall teams carrying the mail through the waste ire and snow to civilization, with scenes along the trail, were an aye-opener to those who do not understand the bardships of the North. The polar bear bunt and the film showing the herds of thousands and thousands of walrus, and the roll which depicted the lee churning through Bering Straits, gave the audience an understanding of the immensity of the "great white alleuce." Native dances, mining, trading and film adepicting every phase of life in Alaska also were thrown on the canvas. These pictures will be very interesting to the many astiren people who have not had the pleasure of seeing these sights for themselves.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

The theatrical situation in St. Louis at the present is at best only fair, as some of the houses are doing good business, while others are not so well off. The holiday purchasers seem to be about equal to that of last year, and the general outlook is that next year will see a hetter patronage at the theatres than the season has thus far shown. The moving picture bours? are for the most making money, and until this class of ampsement abows a marked falling off. It is hard to know when the higher-priced houses will regain their hig business of former seasons.

reasons. The O. T. Crawford Circuit of vandeville and motion picture theatres the most exteorire in the city, is experiencing wonderful patronage, and as the Juniata, the Union, the Novelty and the Bremen are palaces of their kind, the patrona at these houses are getting more for their money than in any other way. The admission is but ten cents for a two-hour show. The Gravois, another house on this circuit, will open in Janoary, and will be followed by the erection of ten others.

NEW HAVEN, CONN.

Preston Gibson's new play, Drifting, opened at the Hyperion last week. Mr. Gibson was brave in a sense to open another new play here as it was in New Haven just a year ago that the production of The Turning Point, was given to an aodience that crowded the Hyperion to its doors, an aodience that thought the play wonderful and brilliant to a degree until Lesley Mason, a collega stripling, came out in the New York World the next day with an expose of Me. But Mr. Gibson has a following in New Haven. He is a graduate of the University and was one of the athletic heroes of his time. And Yale men are bound to give him a welcome no matter whose eptarama he selects to hand out to them. The New Haven smart set also takes a passing interest in this young playwright's ambitious efforts.

Yet it is an ill wind that blows nobody some good and that Lesley Mason, a senior at Yale, at the time a student absolutely nutrown outside of his own small fils and rank should have occupied an inconspicuous seat in the gallety of the theatre that night and should have decupied an inconspicuous weat in the gallety of the theatre that night and should have discovered that nearly every brilliant line in the piece was the twisted or turned about product of the late Oscar Wilde, was opprobrinm for Mr. Gibson, a trrible jote on his applanding New Haven andieuce and a feather in this young student's canfor he sprung into immediate prominence with all the metropolitan managers one of whom made him an offee hefore he graduated last Jose. MONTMARTRE A SUCCESS SHAKESPEARE IN OPERA

New Production Written by Novice Finds Instant Favor Macbeth Furnishes Argument for New Opera Which Has With Critics--Mlle. Polaire, the Famous Apache Dancer, has Leading Role

Le Dilemme is remindful of the Grand Guig-nol, and eave for a more literary finish to it, recalls to mind Roger La Route. Henri Dor-meuli, after a violent quarrel with his uncle, from whom he is to inherit a large sum of money, quits the house and epends the night away from home. The uncle is found mur-dered the next morning, and Henri is arrested. He really was at the house of his fiancee, and hy making this public he could secure his re-lesse. But he refuses.

Pierre Frondale is a brand newemer in the field of dramatic anthorship, hat it seems to be the consensus of opinion that he has a furture. His play in finur acts, Montmartre, as produced this week at the Vandeville, while not altogether a masterpiece, was well received, and though the "long-haired critics" picked flaws in its atructure here and there, they admit that it is entertaining, and on the whole fairly worth the price charged to see it.

I mentioned this piece in last week's Billboard. I told something of the quarter of Paris in which the scene is faile. Montmartre, the "night quarter" of Paris, its "tenderloin" (If Paris weren't sill tenderloin) section, the rendervous for Bohemians, or would-be Bohemians, would-be musicians and near poets, painters and what not. And, of course, women whowatch end pray.

The first act of Montmartre abows the garden of the Monlin Rouge. Marie-Claire (played hy Mile. Polsire), a habituee of the "mili," falls in love with a typical struggling Montmartre musician, and the musician, full of the hope of youth, decides to merry her and take her out of this atamping ground of painted ladies and—vice; why not say it?

Act II. abows the homa of Pierre Marechal, the musician, and his wife. It is a amail little, sad little, ordleary little home, and Marie Claire is already beginning to tire of the tame sort of life sha is tiving. Friends of hers, friends who "hang out" at the Montmartre cabarets and concert halla, call in to tell her the news. Homesick for her old tife, Marie Claire can't resist the call any longer. In spite of Pierre's supplications, in spite also of the news. Homesick for her old tife, Marie Claire can't resist the call any longer. In spite of Pierre's supplications, in spite also of the news. Homesick for her old tife, Marie Claire can't resist the call any longer. In spite of Pierre's supplications, in spite also of the news just received by the Lyrique, she tells him she is going back to her old hunts, that she leav't intelligent, original or any thing; all a that she doesn't care for art and masic, that she isn't intelligent, original or any thing; all she thinks about is the life of the cabaret. Good-night:

Act III. Place—Ostende, Pierre Marechal is there to prodece his work, for Pierre is no longer the struggling musician, but the rich and successful composer. He meets up with Marle Claire and learns that she is the "friend" of a millionaire, and that together they are seeing Ostends. They talk over old times, and in the end Marle Claire tosses over the millionaire and rushes away with Pierre. She even these a pesri neckiace from her throat and dings it back to the millionaire friend who gave it to her, the string breaking and causing a shower of pearls over the stage.

Act IV. Once again we are hack at the Moulin Rouge, Montmartre Pierre is doing the rounds of his old bannts in a spirit of adventure. For he is sad, perhaps hitter, and anyway a cynic. Meris Claire has deserted him again. The ture of the scarlat glare has been too much for her, and back to them she hee gone. Pierre and Marle Claire meet again, here where they first met. The one is sadder and wiser and knows he started out in do the impossible from the very beginning. The other is older, and several rounds nearer the bottom of the aide which abe had really never quitted—with both feet. And she tooks older. This last act is the best of them all and remieds one of Donesy, with its melancholy retrospections, hitterness, cynicisms, and its "what might have beens."

Louis Ganthier plays opposits Mile. Polaire, and is very good iedeed in the part. Jean Dax is the millionaire lover of Marie Claire. Mmes. Ellen Andree, Dherblay, Piernodd and Farna, in feminine roles, are praiseworthy, as are MM. Lacrotx, Baron, fils: Brousse and Lerand, in their respective parts.

THEATRE DES ARTS.

A rather gloom-laden entertainment is that furnished by the major portion of the new bill at the Theatre des Arts. Le Carnayal des Enfants (which needs no translation) is a three-act piece by Saint-Georga da Bouheller, and was produced this week.

The mother lies dying. Two sisters (whom she had not seen fur ten years became she had ded from home) watch by her side, and are hard-hearted enough to telt the dying woman's two children, one a mere child, and the other side of the crimp ways of the mother a girl of sixteen engaged to a boy of twenty, of the erring ways of the mother child, who recoils from her. She dies unforgiven in apite of the years of tender devotion she bad given her nifapring, years of the purest living. The boy lover returns to his child aweetheart, after at first ficeing from her in shame when he hears the truth. Together they leave the room of the dead to join in the carnival fun which is going on just ontside the windows. And in a final vision one seee in the room adjoining that of the dead mather, crowds of pierrota. The anthor of this play—a great tragedy it columbines, hariequins, dancing and making heliday.

The author of this play—a great tragedy it would be if a few unimportant access were eliminated—was a poetic prophet at seventeen and had a following. Since that time he has been likened to Balzac, Verlaine, Berlioz and even fibakespeare. The latest play from his pen doesn't qualify exactly for such an honor, hat it can at least be add that he has written a curious play for the Theetre des Arts, and one which comes near, at least, being mighty good. Le Sicilien, one of Mollere's delicione farce, ends the hill, patting the andlence in a hit lighter frame of mind, especially as Lulli'a music is incidental.

DOUBLE BILL.

The Theatre Moliere this week inangurated a double bill, two three-act plays, Le Dilemma and La Roone Salson (The Bood Sesson), the first by Mme. Adrienne Camiry, and the second by the co-anthors, Sam Zarasso and Henry Rigal.

where the operetts was produced, a tremendous impression was made, I understand.

GRAND GUIGNOL.

There are five new pieces on the program at the Grand Guignol which had a thorough house-cleaning and reopening this week.

Saturnin is the title of the opening piece. It tells the atory of a man who discovers after a long time that his wife has a child tiving, it is by Edonard Thorous—the play, I mean. Uppen d'Ideal (A Little of the Ideal) is by Urbats Gothier. A burgiar persuades the wife of a magistrate that he is worth move than a senator any old time, even one with the chance of becoming a minister some day. Three anthems are responsible for Sabotage (Property Wrecking by Strikers), one of the beadliners on the hill. They are named Hellem, Vaicros and Cestoc. The child of a workingman has the croop. It is night. The physicians find that the child will die unless they operate, cutting a place in the throat and inserting a 'tube for breathing. In the midst of the operation the electric light falls. The baby dies. The father has gone on strike, and it was he who persuaded the others to cut the electric light wires, indirectly murdering his own baby. This is the kind of piece the Grand Guignoi likee.

Condolences is the name of a farce by Pasil Aroas, which follows this piece. It is simply carleatures the defile of friends before the casket of one just dead. This is followed by another "terror" piece, and the "Prince of Terror" himself, andre de Lorde, is the substitis. A bunch of young people are celebrating at the Montmartre fets, and one of the number accepts a bet to pass the night in e wat-worth museum where famous crimes are reconstituted in the most tife-like way. Little by little fear tests over him and fear locrasses to terror as the midnight hours go by. Buddenly he seem one of the figures move, the figure of a woman, and in aheer fright he drops dead. The figure will have lead to the wet by a side door which had been left unfastened. There is quite a thrill in this piece, et the man who drops dead deem'

One of the favorites of the Gymnase, Paris.

At the last moment, in order to save her lover, the girl in the case confesses, completely exonerating Henri from the crime of killing his uncle. She thereupon commits anicide. At this instant an officer sanonnees the strest of the real manderer. It is a sort of Romeo and Juilet uscless sacrifice fielsh, for the curtain falls on this scene. The play is welt interpreted by MM. Almette, Poncet, Durand and Mmes. Chasove and Besaval.

La Bonne Saison is on altogether happier, that is to say, joilier tines. A young couple find that after their honeymoon is over they do not care a great deal for one another. An old physician sends the one in Evian and the other to Aix. Harband and wite meet again at —Trouville, the Atlantic City-Newport combination of Frence. Comment and Criticism on Eastern and Western Companies-Personal Paragraphs Pertaining to Promoters, Principals: and Ponies

By SYDNEY WIRE.

I saw Billy W. Watson last week, and be-lieve that he is growing funnier with every sea-con. The Girls from Happyland is a good show, and is getting the money. What's the answer?

The Giria from Happyland will be reviewed in this column in next week's issue.

Frankie Hasth and Loretts Leroy, why don't you arad for your mail? There are letters for you at the Cincinnati office of The Billboard.

I new Jack Fanat the other day. He is tooking fine, and is inhilant over the success of his abow, The New Century Giris, which will be reviewed in a forthcoming issue of The Billboard.

Billy W. Watson hart his hand lest week, cunning a large apliater into the thumb of his left hand. The wound bied profusely, hat Billy kept on working, and concealed the fact from the andlence by wrapping his het around the ujured hand.

A pleasant and gentlemanly young manager is the congenial Jack Levy, this season manager for Harry Hastings' Big Show. Mr. Levy is a theatrical manager of several years' experience, and is making many friends along the line followed by Eastern Wheel harlesque attractions.

The Gayety Theatre (Eastern Wheel) at Washington, D. C., is having splendid basiness. The Girls from Happvland, which was the attraction last week, did exceedingly well.

Mickie O'Brien, well known under snother name in huriesque circles, has been siarring on the one-night atands. She is at present with The Dainty Parce Berleequers, ona of the larger of the Polack office road shows. Mickie talks of framing a girl act for vandeville, but promises to tell us more about this later.

It is with regret that I chronicle the death of Flord Turner, for several seasons assistant divertising agent at the Star, Brooklyn. Flord was better known as "Shorty," and was well liked by all who knaw him. His death took place at the Homeopathic Hospital et Pittsburg, from tuberculosis, which developed from a cold canght while on a Barnom & Bailey advance car during the latter part of this season.

The Apollo, at Wheeling, is making all kinds of efforts to secure harisagns attractions for that house. In fact, several shows have been hastily thrown together aspecially to play this house, Needless to asy, most of these shows are of medicery quality, and are farfrom an honoe to that branch of amusement known as hurlesque. It is to be regretted that managers should ancourage the existence of shows of this description, as the ona-night stand manager who has got a show has difficulties enough without having to anter for the bad reputation left by "rag shop" attractions which have preceded them.

THEATRE DAMAGED

Tammany Hall Sustains Loss by Fire and Performances at Olympic Theatre are Stopped for a Few Days-Water Damages Scenery and Fixtures

New York, Dec. 16 (Special to The Billboard).—Manager Krana' Olympic Theatre was damaged by water from the fire hoses that played apon the configration that imperiled Tammany Hall'a sacred precincts Monday midnight, Dec. 12. This district on East Fourteenth atreet is very valuable and the fire department took ample care to restrict the growth of the fiames wherefore the burlesque theatre which is operated by the Columbia Amusement Company was subjected to a continued direction of water which worked its way into the auditorium and prevented performances of The Follies of New York and Paris for a few days and like of New York and Paris for a few days and like of New York and Paris for a few days and like of New York and Paris for a few days and like of New York and Paris for a few days and like of New York and Paris for a few days and like of New York and Paris for a few days and like of the house and to the stage seenery, some of which belonged to the company and the rest of which belonged to the house.

CHICAGO BURLESQUE.

The Pariaian Widowa are enterteining auditences at the Albambra and Al. Beld and his Beanty Show are the attraction at the Star and Gartar. The Kentucky Belies are at the Empire, while the Folly is offering Cherry Girls to its patrons.

HURTIG DIED POOR.

New York, Dec. 18 (Special to The Bill-board).—According to a statement made by his executors, Benjamin Hurtig, a member of the firm of Hurtig and Seamon, who axpired in February, 1909, died practically penniless. Only $50 in assets belonging to his estate have been found.

NOTES OF THE ROAD.

The Sear-Wilson Music Company ent another notch in their gun, which aboots nothing but forty-four calline hits, when they published Gee. It's Great To Be in Love, which ta being used by Miss Pauline Parks. This concern is only started, and at their present speed they bid fair to develop into a house that will flash its name in hig letters before many moons.

Miss Pearl Dawson, now traveling over the Pantages' Circuit, has added to ber repertoire of songs, I Went to Heer e Southern Tune. It is her claim that this is one of the greatest novaity songs she has aver used. Sha exteems it so highly that she saw fit to substitute it for on of the raging hits of the day. This number comes from the house of Sear-Wilson.

II, with the antire circuit to follow. Martin Bowers was the tast two aeasons with Kilroy-Britton's Cowboy Girl Company.

Mr. Fred Manchester, who, with Johnsle Pringia holds the issue on the Everatt Thestre, Everatt, Wash., is more than pleasing his audiences with his ainging. It is as much his ainging as the hills played that draw the crowds. B. B. O. is common with the Pringle Company.

led by George Stone, and called The Gingar Girl.

Every time I see the name of Frank Damsel, I think of Clark's Runaway Girls and The Sultan's Dilemms, which was to my mind one of the most attractive buricane shows aver produced. It was certainly the forerunner of the many excellent productions which have been sent over the Eastern Wheet since that time, some few seasons aro, and to Pete Clark a deal of the praise is due for the present high standard of the hurlesque attractions in general. Frank Damset played the Sultan, and played it well, making a fine and dislinguished appearance in his own polished and inimitable manner, for Frank, untilke most hurlesque light comedians and straight men, is an actor, and is possessed of a splendid and sonorom volce of mustical qualities. Clark's show was the talk of buriesque circles that season, and included in its cast. If I remember rightly, Joe Howard, Frank Damsel, Abe Beynolds, Ida Emerson, Clars Berg, Bert Wiggins, and several others who have since become famous in various lines. Frank Damsel is this season with The Ducktlings, where he is more than making good.

Manager Miner's Jardin De Paris Girls, playing Empire Circuit.

There are very few good American plan houses where buriesquers can get a decent meal and a comfortable room at a reasonable rate. A good many of the old atanda have been turned into European houses, owing to the present high cost of food stuffs, while many places which were once noted for their excellance, hava datarlorated considerably in the past faw seasons. There is atill one really excellent American house which is always well filled with people from both wheels, and where the alandard of excellence never seems to fade. I refer to Billy Bhea's popular bone at Lonisville, which is coming to be the talk of the shows on both wheels as soon as the shows begin to get in the vicinity of the Lonisville date.

You can always get The Biliboard at Bilip Rhea's, and he is an interesting encyclopedia of show business; with a knowledge which goes hack for a number of years. Bili has been stags manager at the Lonisvilla Buckingham for a mmber of, years, and is a great locat favorite. He is also a talented scenic artist, and is responsible for a deal of attractive work. All those who pass that way please give Bill and his affable wifa my kindest wishes.

The Liberty Girls is the show which played Wheeling last week, and which was hastily thrown together at a few days notice to fill the slighter, the title of which has been changed so aften that it to bord to take any chances by giving the show a name, reports excellent hasises throughout Pennsylvania. The show is ators around the local small time vandeville spencies. The La Voies, tight and slack wire performers, were the feature of tha ollo. I didn't see the show, but heard about it. I am told that the numbers were put on by C. N. LaRoux, the stage carpenter at the Apolito. Mr. La Boux told me himself that he had put on some of the numbers, so the statement must be accurate.

Manager J. M. Ward, of the Gayaty, Detroit, has received a grand offer to go to Anatralia, where he has been offered the general management of a powerful English ayadleata, whose intention it is to baild a circuit of theatres, which will play attractions similar to our American hariesque. The proposition as tendered to Mr. Ward, was an excellent ons, which, however, the genial and well-dressed John refused to consider. Eastern Wheel managers would one and all be sorry to tose the popular head of the Detroit Gayaty, and we may be, one and all, thankful that ha is going to atay with us.

Wherever The Ginger Girls play, the admirers of red hair are prominent in the audiences. After the abow there is always a small group of waiting "Johnnies" at the stage door, and after an hour of fruities waiting, and as the last few stranglers are leaving the theatres, some of the admirers of the Titlan shade of hair nanally brace up sufficient courage as to nervously enquire: "If the little girls with the red hair have gone yet." The girls with the red hair have gone yet." The girls with the red hair are the ponies with the show who wear red-haired wigs in the opening of the show and sing a pretty special number.

Satisfactory Agreement is Reached Between Principal Circus Proprietors and Associated Billposters—Convention to be Held Later

A movement which promises to be of far-reaching importance in the circus world has been determined on by the principal circuses.

Concinding that common action would be of benefit, an agreement has been signed, looking to action in common in the business relations of the circuses with the Associated Biliposters and Distributors. The agreement in full is as follows:

Distributors. The agreement in full is as follows:

The undersigned circus proprietors, for the purpose of securing anitable terms and conditions governing bill posting apace, and for mutual protection, hereby agree to act in common; and for this purpose each show agrees to appoint one representative to a convention which shall organize and appoint a committee to meet the Associated Biliposters with a view to making a fair and equitable agreement for the season of 1911. The circus proprietors agree to adhere to the action of the convention and under no circumstances make any arrangement with the Associated Biliposters individually, or excepting an agreed to by all of the undersigned circus proprietors, or by their accredited agents anthorized by letter to act for them in convention to take place immediately prior to the annual meeting between the circus agents and the circus committee of the Associated Biliposters, and at the city agreed upon for this meeting.

All the principal circuses are parties to this agreement, including the John Robinson. Solisfioto, Hagenbeck-Waliace, Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill, Hingling Bros., Forepangh and Sells Bros., 101 Raneh, Barnum and Bailey. Gentry Bros., Gollmar Bros., and Campbell Bros. Shows.

There is no intention of becoming involved in a fight against the bill posters or anybody else, but this new departure on the part of the circuses is in line with the trend toward unified action in business, and marks the passing of individualism, which has been a remarkship feature of the circuse business. It is to be expected that many matters other than bill posting will be taken up and common action prevail, as there are many lines in which anch action can not fail to be extremely beneficial to all circuses, and as such are properly within the scope of the new organization.

A prominent circus agent in talking of this organization, says that the raise in rates on the part of the Association is probably a contributing cause to its formation, and that the new rates which will make it cost twenty cents per month to post a sheet of paper coeting from one to four cents, will force the circuses into new methods of advertising, owing to the prohibitive cost of bill posting.

Commercial advertisers the country over are protesting against the advance in trates and in the opinion of a number of prominent Association bill posters, they will be withdrawn.

SHORTY TURNER DEAD.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 14 (Special to The Billbeard).—Floyd Turner known all over the country as "Shorty" Turner, and a member of the Billposters' Alliance, Brooklyn Local No. 23, died at the Homeopathic Hospital, Pittzburg, Sunday morning, Dec. 11. "Shorty" was for several seasoes assistant to Bert Simmons, advertising agent at Hyde & Behman's Star Theatre, Brooklyn, and had just finished a season absend of the Barnum & Balley Show on advertising car number two with Vlefor Cook. Towards the close of the season "Shorty" contracted malarial fever and returned from Texas to Pittsburg, where he had intended to spend the winter. The cause of death is said to have heen tuberculosts. Mr. Turner was a great favorite among his many friends and was known all over the country.

SPENCER Q. STOKES.

spencer Quinn Stokes was born in Cincinnati.

O., July 20, 1819. In 1828 Purdy Brown came to Cincinnati. Young Stokes, when ten years of age, made the acquaintance of Mr. Brown, and was a favorite of the manager and a constant streadant at all his performances. Thus he acquaintee, who lived on farms, and with their plow-horses "played circus" to his heart's content.

This continued nutil 1832, when Levi J. North arrived in Cincinnati to fulfill an engagement. Mr. North was the embodiment of grace and atpis, and captivated young Stokes. From that hour the ambitious boy was determined more fully than ever to become a circus-diar, and, to put to practice his cheriabed plans, he ran away from home and joined Benedirt & Eddred, a new firm just beginning management. The Eliack Hawk War had just terminated, and the famous chief and his followers visited the show at Detroit, at that time a military post, and of inconsiderable size. In 1836 Mr. Stokes left the circus husiness and engaged in mercantile pursuits nutil 1840, signaling his return hy embarking in management, and, it is believed, putting affect the first streamer used for circus in the same parts of the command his own steamers, and it is believed, putting affect the first streamer used for circus in transportation ever seen on the Mississippi River, where for some years be continued to own and command his own steamers, and it is believed, putting affect the first streamer used for circus in the principal citles on the Continued to own and command his own steamers, and it is believed, putting affect the first streamer used for circus irraportation ever seen on the Mississippi River, where for some years be continued to own in a shell determined the first streamer used for circus francortation who had acquired gene abilit naterial subscillage, and arrection on the Mississippi River, where for some years a continued to own in the stream of the stream terious Ella Zoyara, who concealed his sex from the public of Europe and America for nearly fifteen years. A few years before he began his European tour, Mr. Slokes while in New Orleans, conceived the idea of supplying the tack of female performers by the substitution of comely, boys. A youth named Leon, dressed in girl's clothes, made a great anccess. Omar Kingaley, a Creole boy of seven years, with long blonde hair, fitted the part so well that he was apprenticed to Mr. Stokes, who trained him with special rare. He had the boy wear bia woman's dress even in the sirreta, and this disguise was kept up successfully null Kingaley, or Ells Zoyara as he was called, was twenty-one years old. He accompanied Mr. Stokes throughout his ten years' tour of Enrope, exciting in England, France and Italy the same admiration for his graceful figure and equestrian skill that he had aroused in America. Mr. Stokes died, New York, Feb. 28, 1888.

PARAGRAPHIC PENCILINGS.

By CHARLES A. WHITE.

Chicago, Dec. 17 (Special to The Billboard.)—Bert Loveridge is to step from the ranks of circusdom. He has signed contracts to devote his attention to the interest of the Associated Bill Posters for a period of one year.

Mr. Loveridge, so 1 am informed, is to act as inspector-general, flitting from piece to place, and reporting to his superiors the condition of various hill posting plants in the United States.

Mr. Sol Litt, manager of McVtcker'a Theatre, announced The Nigger, now being ected at his over York City, where he is located for the next four weeks.

Mr. Sol Litt, manager of McVtcker'a Theatre, announced The Nigger, now being ected at his house, has not been rewritten by the policeman who recently sat in censorious, watchruness over Edward Sheldon's play. The only changes made in the play were two emendations effected through the removal of epithets not in common use in polite society.

Bumor has it that the property of the Star Publishing Company, which publishes the In-dianapolis Star, the Muncie (Ind.) Star, and the Terre Hanta (Ind.) Star, is ordered sold by the court. Frank J. O'Donnell will kindly refrain from throwing a fit of joy.

William Morris' installation of the twenty-two act bill at the American Music Hall has caused the scretching of many managerial haeds and the sparking of many e trooper's ambi-tion.

It has been announced that the mambers of The Sweetest Girl in Paris Company will strive to gledden the hearts of the poor youngsters who inhabit Chicago's downtown district. The data selected is December 26, the place, LaSalle Theatre, and the time, 10:30 A. M. There will be a huga Christmas tree groaning under its load of candles and presents, while Alexander Carr masquerased as Santa and Miss Trizle ander Carr masquerased as Santa and Miss Trizle Frigansa as the fsiry god-mother, will be in evidence. Admission will be hy tickets, which will be given away at the etage door of the LaSalle.

Count De Beanfort has hied his royal presence to New York City, but wa still have an Esri in our midst. His given name is Harry.

Pani Armstrong, the man who receives revenue for baving betched The Deep Purple, and several other claver pleys, has been lightened in bank roil to the extent of twenty dollars. Peul, who is keen for things western, "galloped" into a tocal theatre the other evening and whooped his opinion a few. This being Chicego, located for from the rolling prairies, Paul was naturally on the wrong galloping grounds, which he realized after the judge spoke his little speech: "Twenty, sonny, and don't talk heck to Your Homori"

The proceeds derived from the performance given at the Colonial Theatre Thursday afternoon, will be employed in relieving the strait of those who suffered embarrassment through the demise of The Mayoress.

Those who arrange the bookings for Chicago's Colonial Theatre have come within a hair's breadth of causing the stately edifice to be dubbed the "try-out" theatre. They have also interrupted the peaceful slumbers of genial James Jay Brady through their careless selections.

James Jay Brady through their careless selections.

Our Miss Gibbs, a concoction of "crutch" humor, was the first nightmare with which pow Jay had to contend. And, while on the subject, tt is but fair to atate that Mr. Brady put up a desperate fight to behalf of Gibbsy. He even went so far as to diminish several pencilsainging praise of the play, but to no svail, for the public refused to be bunked.

The next blow was dealt when The Mayoreas bobbled into the Colonial. She was a well gowned little lady, chaperoned by May DeSousa. and heraided to be the sort Chicago ond embrace, but Chicago failed to open its erms. Sequel: An "angel" with singed wings, some between Chicago and New York, and a local manager-scribe searching for Mr. Jonah.

Among the many prominent visitors is Tom Ryan, of the Norris show.

Pete Baker and wife are here enjoying life (also working at a local theatra.)

Chris. Brown, the well-known booking man ager of Sullivan and Comidine, is sojourning at the Arilagton Hotel.

J. W. Considine has been enjoying the mountain wells here for a few weeks.

Boy Doe is another prominent "trooper" in the Vapor City.

Availon Family is spending the season in the city of Vapors.

Fred E. Young, a theatrical manager, was a recent visitor in our city.

The Grand Opera House was recently closed. The Dearmond Sisters' Company had intended playing stock all season, but dull business compelied them to close.

Bill Bookafellow has returned to the Vapor City after an absence of several months. Bill was leader of the orchestra at the Grand Opera House for a number of seasons. Many performers will remember him. What Grand Opera House for a number of seasons. Hany performers will remember him.

The Lyric Theatre management report good business for the past week.

The Auditorium Theatre has a number of preminent stars booked for January and Jebruary, During the season all shows that play the Auditorium usually play to capacity.

MONTROSE, CAL.

The Gaysty Theetre, owned by Wance Bros. has been purchased by Edward J. Cooper and F. E. Washburn. The Gaysty has been oper sted as a moving picture house for several years. It is now the intention of Messra. Cooper and Washhurn to Couvert it into first-class opera house, soding uphoistered folding chairs, balcony, new severy and new entrance. Mr. Cooper owns the Crystal moving picture house here as well as one at Telluride, Colo. A stock company and vardeville will give nightly performances in the new opers house opening about January ist.

The Montrose Bend and Orchestra will give rese Sunday afternoon concerts at the Crystal Theatre during the winter months.

Mr. Thurston, the magician, who played the first three days of the week at the Grand Opera House, gave a benefit Tuesday night for the Santa Clans Association of the Salvetton Army. Ten per ceut, of the gross receipts of the bouse was given to the association. Through the kindness of Manager G. L. Eisler and Mr. Thurston, $33 was turned ever to the association. Mr. Thurston also gave his check for $10.

Menager M. O. Winter, of the Norke, has closed his house for repairs and to enlarge the stage. The house will open Dec. 26 and play high-class vandeville.

Upon viewing The Deep Purple, 1 found it to be a melodrama presented by one of the most clever companies that aver interpreted scattment and situation. The other dey I inquired of e well-known Chicago producer regarding the financial outlook on the road. "It's tamer than a fat man in July," he replied.

Baymond Wella and Marlon Lord, formerly of the Grace Hayward and Calemet Stock Companies, have joined The Squawman. Mr. Walla is to portray the character of Cash Hawkins, while Miss Lord will assuma the role of Diana, while Aliss Lord will assume the role of Diana.

Harry Scott, lete of the Calemet Stock Company, has been engaged by Georga Gatts to delueste character roles with the Grace Hayward Stock Company et Oek Park.

The first of the George Amusement Company's products to throw up the sponge is St. Eimo. The company will take the count at Quincy, ill., Dec. 18. Bad husiness is said to have been the sleep producer.

George Heins, a well-known circus hustler, is dealing a few winning hands at the Lyda Thea-tre these days. George is not on speaking terms with the Hemlin management, and just to show a few eperks of spirit he is offering a hrand of vendeville that draws many dimes into the Lyde till.

Alfred Witsenfausen, better known to the circus fragernity as "Witz," is still manipulating tickets in the Olympic Theatre box office. While "Witz" has had a thorough understanding with Dame Fortune, one would never surmise it when the "next round" is in order.

4 Clandia White, late of the Grace Hayward Stock Company, Oak Park, ill., is appearing in a new role: Dispenser of wholesome, home-cooked food to yours truly.

Harry Holden's Stock Company ceased to xist Saturday, December 10, at Dayton, O.

A stock company is now being organized to hold forth at the Columbia Theetre, Milwankee, commencing Monday, January 2. William B. Morris and Grace Thurston will assume the leading roles.

The new Imperial Theatre, Western avenue and Madison street, which Messrs. Kilmt end Gaszolo will open Christmas Day with The Lion and the Mouse, should prova to be one of the best paying stock houses in the city. The location is ideal, being in the very heart of a community that has been compelled to travel many hlocks to view palatable theatrical offarings. Henry Rowell and Edith Von Luke will portray the leading roles, assisted by Pete Raymond, Frederick Julian, Harvey Hayes, Sam Mahary, Frank Tohin, Louise Glaum, Ida Glenn and Lea Elisworth.

Since substituting moving pictures for ven-deville, the Gardeld has jumped into promin-ence. For a nickel one may now receive courte-ous attention, view up-to-the-minute pictures and listen to the ditties of two well-voiced warhiers. The strendance has been very good during the first week's tryout.

Adelaide Keim, regarded as queen of the headliners who play Chicago's neighboring vanderme theatres, has shelved her clerer playlet, Miss Bright, Decorator, in favor of a two-scene play, entitled The Little Mother.

While Miss Kelm may have displayed judgment in the selection of her new vehicle, it is quite evident that she erred when ordering its scenic investiture. Evidently she did not give thought to the feet that there are very few theetres of the outlying type with sumcient stage room to accommodate so massive an offering.

When it comes to "farewell" visits, Miss Bose Stahl ranks a second Sarah Bernbardt. Miss Stahl's present engagement at McVicker's Theetra makes her third "ferewell" in The Chorus Lady. And there are a number of theetregoers who would willingly welcoms another "farewell."

During a mass-meeting of the Lake View Pro-tective League, at the First Presbyterian Church, the nicket theetree and danca halle were de-nounced as being the ceuse of much evil to the children of the district. A committee was sp-pointed to inspect the places in question.

Chicago, lil., Dec. 12, 1910.

Schitor The Biliboard.

Cincinnati, O.

Dear Sir—Your articles pertaining to roller rink news and policy have aroused much interest here, and being desiroue of doing ourshare in exchanging ideas with other rink managers, which cen not belp being of matuel elencit to eli concerned, I take pleasare in writing a faw lines concerning the situation in this city.

The idee which seems prevaient emong a large perceniage of rink managers as well as with the general public, thet roller sketing is a passing fad good but for a yeer or two, is fastly contradicted by the elituation in Chicago.

There are four first-class rinks in this city, all doing well, and Sans Sonel Bink, now in its fifth year, to doing as much business as trered dd. Of course it takes considerable work and thought to keep up the interest of the public, and to fill up the ranks of those who for various reasons drop the aport, so that the manager who follows the policy which suffices while the gama is a novalty—thet is, merely throws open the doors and waits for the public to come in and skate—will necessarily anfor from decrease in patronage as the novelty wears off, and will find himself compelled to devise various avoreities from tima to tima to keep the peopla coming.

At Sans Sonel Bink we have a schedula covering every day in the week, with a diffarent sovenies from tima to tima to keep the peopla coming.

At Sans Sonci Rink we have a schedula covering every day in the week, with a different ettraction each evening, and a complete change of schedule from time to time, as conditions seem to warrant. This schedule is based ou a close study of the desires and preferences of our patrons, and at present is made up as follows:

Monday evening—Fency eketing exhibition by talent. day evening—Ladies prize graceful aketmg contest.

Wednesday evaning—Conples prize popularity

raday evening—Gentlamen'a prize graceful itering contest.

Friday evaning—Two big races.
Saturday evening—Grand prize roller masque

The boys who tekn part in the races at this risk every Friday evening are among the fastest in the West, and include such well-known speeders as B. Angelica. A. McChesney. B. Froctor, H. Paimer, C. Gullickson, A. Reed. M. Kranse, C. Shafer, M. Caswell. H. Beaumont, B. Grodets, O. Carison, Nip Melser, Wm. Bobinson, C. Keppler, and many other aimost as fast. As an added attraction, every evening of this week, we have en exhibition of trick and feucy skating by Prof. Albert Weitz, the old-time fevorite, who is giving a very pleasing performance, and satisfying our regular customers as well as attracting new regular customers as well as attracting new some by his axcellant ect.

These attractions suffice to bring the publis, til is no less important to so conduct the risk that those who come once will come agein, and in order to accomplish this, we have three experienced attendents on the floor, under the direction of Hubert Plain, one of tha best floor managera lu the husiness, assieted by Edw. Hlavac. These men are on the floor at all times to help beginners, free of chargs, end to preserve order, not the elightest eign of rowdyism being tolerated, and our arowd at all times will be found as orderly end well believed as any gethering of the same eize at a dance hall of fecture.

Summing up the whole situation beledy, it seems that if rink menagers will use thair energy to get the crowd coming, and then see to it that their rinks are neat and ctean end orderly, the roller skating game promises to be as lasting and popular, as e standard amusement in the larger cities at least, as dancing or the theatre.

Very truly yours.

SANS SOUCI ROLLER SKATING RINK,
Miles E. Fried, Menager.

AN ERRONEOUS IMPRESSION.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15, 1910.
The Billboard.
The impression that has gone broadcest that I am interested in the Detroit Arena, is true, only, so far as to watching, with interest, the development of the first artificial ice surfece in the open, but in no other way.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) FRED W. NALL.

JORDAN EASY WINNER.

Naw York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Bill-board.)—"Joe" Jordan, former A. A. U. champion, won one of the sasiest reces of his career last week, when he led home a large field from scratch in the two-mile event for amateurs, decided et the Metropolitan Rollsr Bink, Broadway and Fifty-second etreet. Jordan gave handicaps up to 150 yards, but displayed such exceptional form, that he easily caught up to the leaders before the one mile mark had been passed. From there to the finish, he held the lead, crossing the finish line in the fairly good time of 6:31 2-5. The real contest was for second piece, Harry Clark, 60 yard handicap, and J. Fargusos, 60 yards, fighting it out nip and tuck for the position. The men finally finished in the order names, inches apart.

MEET DATES ANNOUNCED.

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Bill-board).—January 24 to 26 are the dates decided upon for bolding the annual Saranac Lake ice akating races at Saranac Lake. Following the Saranac races, the skatters will go to Montreal, where events will be held from January 30 to February 4.

HANDBOOK ON SKATING.

The latest issue of the handbook on ice and roller sketing published by the Western Skating Association at Chicago is now ready and elipersons interested may have a copy upon epplication to the Western Skating Association, Chicago. The booklet is comprehensive in its scope and contains much information indispensable to the profession as well as amsteur sketer. The rules and regulations of the Association, together with many pertinent hints to skaters, a complete list of recorde and illustrations erd blographies of leading champions are features contained in this booklet. The book has been compiled with that close attention to details which characterises those directly interested in the promotion and general aggrandisement of sketing. The Billiboard publishers on this page a photograph of Alian J. Blanchard, president of the International Skating Union of America and honorary president of the Western Skating Association, to whom credit is due for his aid in publishing the booklet referred to above.

BLACKBURN RETAINS TITLE.

New York, Dec. 17 (Special to The Bill-board).—Harry Burks, the youthful akater from Bridgeport, made a game effort last Thursday evening to wrest the victory from William Blackburn, the Eastern professional chempion, in a two-mile match race between tha two, decided at the Metropolitan Roller Rink, New York City. But the experience and speed of the older skater told, and he was returned the victor over his younger rival by several yards, in the feet time of 6:00 1-5.

ty—poverty which Scrooge could help. And then, peeriog forward into the future, the Spirit shows him the pictures of himself dying in his lonely room without the eare or love of anyone. He reads his own tombstone, which tells a pirifal story—that he lived and died without a friend. This vision proves too much for Scrooge's hardoess. He repents of his fowner mode of tife and staggering hack, drops unconscious upon his bed. When he awakens he is a changed man, with a firm determination to live a life of love for his firm determination to live a life of love for his friends instead of for his fands. He accordingly calls on his nephew, and when he finds the nephew with his little fiances, he gives him a paper telling him that as his partner he will be amply ashe to marry the girl of his choice. And then he takes the young people with him, and loading themselves with good things, they repair to Boh Cratchit's humble home; now Cratchit and his little, lame child will be well cared for in the future.

A GREAT IMP COMEDY

will be released the day after Christmas, Monday, December 26. It is cotiled "The Unexpected Honeymoon." It deals with a bright young chap who seeks to marry the homeliest girl he can find, intending to divorce her at the end of a year, and thus hoping to dodge the terms of his rich uncle's will. Well, the girl isn't homely, but she "makes up" that way. Then the fun begins and we defy a wooden image to keep a straight face as the comedy develops. Here's a subject you'll be only too giad to have your exchange send back for more than one return engagement. Please get after it!

A POWERFUL DRAMA

will be released Thursday, December 29, entitled "Unreasonable Jealousy." It tells the story of a doctor's wife who is jealous of her husband's patients of the gentler sex. This jealousy involves the couple in a series of dramatic events which lead to the most thrilling climax you have seen for many a day on any stage. Tell your exchange you want both of these films—in fact, TWO IMPS EVERY WEEK!

THE ACTORS' FUND

The dues of annual members of the Actors' Fund of America, are payable on November 24. It will be of assistance to the Fund if return postage should siways be enclosed. The fund is a charitable organization, and what it can save contributes to relieve the indigent. Prior to its establishment, assistance for the impovertished professional as principally casual, indiscriminating, disproportionate and meagre, humiliating and disheartening. This state of affairs had long been admitted and deplored, the necessity for a change conceded, and remedies frequently attempted without success. In June, 1882, the present Actors' Fund of America was founded, and through it the principal dispensation of benevelence to the public amusemant world is systam-atized and as bountiful as its treasury will allow. It is for the slightle applicants to its beasficences to enlarge that treasury and make its existence permanent, and thereby assure future as well as present necessary reliefs, thereby assisting to eliminate further appeals for outside side which hitherto has been a sacrifice of independence and a stutification of professional pride. Strennously labor to procure new life and annual members to the Fund, and also subscribers to ward the maintenance of The Actors' Fund Home. Do not procrastinate; do not backslide.

Cut out this annual membership application hiank, have it properly filled out, and algoed by two Fund members in good standing, or one or two well-known managers as references; then mail it with two dollars and return postage to the Fund's address.

TED SPARKS' VAUDEVILLE

is recognised all over the U. S. as the standard of superiority in popular priced talent and is acknowledged by all managers and acts who are acquainted with it, as the best managed, equipped and all around satisfactory circuit in America. This is not "TALK," but real "FACTS," and we can and will substantiate these assertions if you desire. Don't fool away your time, money and business prospects with "EXPERIMENTAL" and "UNRELIABLE," so-called "VAUDEVILLS AGENTS," when you can secure superior service in every particular at no increase in cost over the inferior and unreliable kind, which sooner or later, if need, will mean the run of your husiness.

A conference was held Dec. 11, at the St. Paul Hotet. of St. Psnl, Minn., hy reperesentalives of four of the largest theatrical concerns, namely, John Cort. John Conaldine, of Sullivan & Considine: T. M. Scanlon, manager of the St. Paul Shabert Theatre: C. A. Marshall, of Duinth, of the Iron & Copper Circuit, and C. P. Watker, of Winniper. The concernces started at 7:30 A. M. snd continued until 11 A. M. It is not known as to the exact results of this conference at this date, but it is supposed that the purpose was to arrange for a better understanding in the western territory between such rival theatrical syndicates. The Bijon Omers House, of this city, and the Grand Opera House of St. Paul. Minn., will not enior into the new popular-priced syndicate circuit, being organized by the Weber Coperative Rooking Circuit, according to the statement of Mr. Theo, L. Hays, who manages both of these lheatres.

Both of the popular-priced vandeville houses here, the Unique Theatre, booking S. & C. time, and the Miles, booking independent, who shaodoned the linstrated song feature some time since, have reinatated this act again as part of the weekly hill, and Mr. Jerome While, haritone, has been engaged by the Unique while Maater Rogene White, soprano, is vocalist at the Miles.

More Diverting than

Five Hundred; more absorbing than Bridge yet less complex than Skat. : : : : : :

The game of "Sixteen Hundred" may best be described as an elsborstion of Five Hundred, which in turn is a combination of Euchre and Bridge. But Sixteen Hundred is more, much more, than a mere bodge-podge. It literally abounds in susres and pitrails for the anwary, and consequently provokes no and of mirth and hitarity.

It appeals atrougly to the abilities playee also, for its possibilities in the way of authie atrategies and clever coups are well nigh countiess.

SPOKANE, WASH.

Alice Lloyd, the English comedienne, hroke all records at the Orpheum Theatre, week of 4, on the night of December 8. The Eiks bought ont the bouse in her honor, Miss Lloyd being the only woman Eik in the world. The theatre was decorated with elk heads over the boxes and the lights throughout the colors of the order, purple and white. Her songs almost censed a riot with the andience. At the end of her act Miss Lloyd was presented with a handsome bounget of American Beanty roses.

Mrs. George Bonce, sieter of Tom McNanghton, who is the husband of Alice Lloyd, arrived in Spokane to be Miss Lloyd's compenion on her Welfran tour. Her trip to America with be an expedience long remembered. As she boarded the Majestic at Queenstown, the English anthorities notified the American immigration subtorities that Ethel Lenevs, former companion of Dr. Orippen, had engaged passage on the Majestic under an assumed name, and from the time Mrs. Bunce boarded the big liner, she was the object of suspicion to the erew and passeogers, and the climax came when the anthorities as ampicions charactee. The arrival of her vaudevilla agent straightened out the tangle.

Fargo—Grand Commandery Knights Templars. April. 1911. Waiter L. Stockwell, secy.

He is also figuring on starting out a lady minatrels some time in Jannary.

The management of the Arcade Theatre hera, Mr. O. F. Wilkerson, has accured the greetest hill be has ever played at his theatre for Xmas week. This house plays the Norman Jefferies attractions of Philadelphia, and Jefferies baseben sending him the best of everything siways. Mr. Wilkerson has just added lots of touches in that theatre. It was hall at cost of $30,000, and the front is a beauty, having about 375 lights. The seating capacity is 600. The Edisonia Theatre, a moving picture house, is still doing capacity husiness, and always runs three reels of the best film ever shown in the city.

The John W. Cox Circuit has just added two more weeks to its wheel, and they now have a total of 21 weeks is all. They play the acts leaving the Jefferies time down Sonth. The Star Conrie pni out by the Radeliffee of Washington, are running their acts on here. They are all good.

BLACKBURN RETAINS TITLE.

Burke took the lead on the start, evidently relying upon the difficulty in passing a men on the fifteen-lap track of the Meiropolitan Rink. Blackhurn seemed content to let Burke set the pace, and followed along a few yards in the rear, until the mile and a haif mark had been passed, when he suddenly swooped down on his younger rival, and before the latter was aware of the fact, had taken the lead. He beld on to this advantage until the finish, although Burke made several game efforts to regain the fore. Blackburn crossed the line a winner by about a yard.

RINK NOTES.

The rink at Garden City, Kan., is now open, and is doing good business, according to Managers Smith and Chapman. Skating attractions are being booked at the rink.

Alice Teddy, the roller akating bear, has just finished playing the tuteratate Circuit of Rinks for W. E. Genno, of Eric. Pa.

Capt. W. D. Ament has opened the Tempir Rink in Jackson, Tenn., and reports hig husi-

Martin W. Hudson has all the concessions at the Detroit Arena, Detroit, Mich.

PARIS LETTER.

There appears to be considerable trouble be-tween rival factions of the Rue d'Amsterdam Rink management, each claiming the right of control. There are rumors to the effect that the building has been sold for circus purposes. I state the news with all reserve.

GOSSIPETTES.

Japanese wreatiers, Masselti, Ito-O, O-lkarino, and others, are drawing cards at the Casino de Paris.

The Shakespeare Theatre began its season this week with Le Souge d'Une Nuit d'Ete (Midsummer Night's Dream) before a fine house.

Beesie Clayton, Loia Selbini and the sixtees "Blossom Girle," are huge bits at the Olympia in connection with the revue, Viva Parisi Mms. Zareit and her human Teddy bear, opened on the Kearney Circuit, December 4 at the Columbia Theatre, Kaneas City, Kan.

ranged by Mr. Charles Berton. The set went big. Bond and Benton, who were the features of The Girl in the Taxl, presented a playlet, en-titled My Awful Dad, which went hig. The cast is as follows:

Scene—Richard'a Office. Time—10:30 in tha morning.

Empire Comedy Four, which is an act deserving of a position on the All-atar hill, met with big success at the opening performance Monday matinee. The comedy is rich and wholesome and the harmony is beautiful.

Miss Aunctic Kellermann, the Diving Venns, who closed the hill, was wonderful. Never before on the American stage have we witnessed such a divine figure. Her diving and awimming act is one of exceptional character. Miss Kellermann was the first woman to attempt to awim across the Euglish Channel and the first woman that was ever presented on the vanderille stage in soch an act. She la indeed worthy of the honor of holding a position on The Biliboard's All-sist hill.

Violinaky, a wizard at the plano and a genina on the violin, held one of the best positions on the program, that of next to closing the hill. His act, which takes up but five minutes, is short hat sweet indeed, and the andience cried for more hat were refused.

Wartenberg Brothers. Enropean noveity scrobatic act, closed the hill.

Next week we have that young and energetic comedian, Carl McCullough, who will show the sudience at the Hail how to sing Stop, Stop, Stop, and will prove to them that it is the performer that makes the song auggestive and not the lyrics or music. This song has been forbidden by the police of this city and as Mr. McCullough has proven to them the above atatement he will probably be allowed to use it next week.

Harry Langdon bas drawn caricatures of Kelfer and Kilne which he presented to them isst week. Langdon and Kelfer and Kilne were formerly with B. C. Whitney's The Show Girl. The Three Yoccarrys are playing Winnipeg this week for William Morris, after a few weeks for the W. V. M. A.

The Majestic Theatre at Columbus, Ga., is booked by Rosalie Mackenfuss, of the Interstate office again this week, It was previously booked by her hat changed agents for a short three weeks.

"Any news?" was the inquiry made of John Nssh, of the Chicsgo Sullivan and Considine office, last Thursday, "This may interest the public." he replied, handing over a report of the show at the Hsmilt Theatre the first haif of last week. Every act was marked "extra good" by the house manager and Nash smiled complacually while it was read. The acts were Hermau Lieb and Co., in Dope; The Rinaldos with their new act; Bilsa Trio; Lucaa and Fields; and the Rurkhardt-Herry Co.

Helen Rhoda and Fio O'Nell have joined hands and are appearing in a neat little singing and taiking act cutilted The Cowboy Girland the Anto Lady. They will be known as the Florence Sisters.

Refer Colion is assisting Frank Q, Doyle until January 1.

Fank Hunter is again at work with his new partner, Sylow. They are playing S. and C. Circuit, and were in Cleveland, Ohio, last week. Since Carl Sicchilongh has made aneh a decided hit here in Chicago, it might be suggested in him that he use Little Maid of Old Chicago, as most of them have failen in love with this handsome chan.

Charities of Chicago, 2,000 copies of popular music among which is Little Maid of Old Chicago, with which Count de Beanfort made a decided hit at the American Music Hail. Mr. Sumner wauts it thoroughly nuderstood that it is not for prestige that he is doing this, hat solely on secount of the needy ones in Chicago. Now that he is making a ancess of his husiness he thinks the leest he can do is to help some who need it. Ten or fifteen North Side dehntantes wilt sell this music in the office huldings in this city at 10c. a copy. This will awell the Charity Fund to $2,000,000. Ethel Swanson was married a week sgo to Walter Horn, a professional man who has left the husiness, and will enter into a new field with his father about January 1. Everybody wishes the couple happiness and success for the rest of their lives.

Dave Vive, playing the Dutch comedian in The Marathon Giris, states that he intenda to remain with the show the rest of the season nuless his voice gives out completely. He has had a terribic time with it in the pest two or three weeks and on the program it states that Mr. Joe Friend has taken his place, which is a misprint.

THE WHIRLWIND LAUDED.

Ashton Slevens, of the Examiner, used the following heading: "The Whirlwind, French and frank. Bernstein drama better than 'Samson;' starts where most 'Problems' stop."

Jamea O'Donnell Bennett, of the Record-Herald: "Ia feeble in invention and pointiess in its application as a criticism of life. Lacking the first attribute, it falls to sustain the interest of the auditor; lacking the second, talls to provide the element that makes so sordid a tate endurable. Miss litington enacted the role of the wife with ahandant emotional prowess, and she has made a marked gain in the command of repose."

through the conrtroom as they announce her liberation, that veil was inseparable from the figure of the woman.

The court scene as the crisis gave the wretched prisoner in the dock her greatest opportunity in the conflicting motions which beset herborro of her hushand, present to watch his son's first great case, absorbing tenderness for the boy, from whom she must guard the secret of his ahamed mother, and protest against the law which would condemn a sinner for the crime inspired by her one pure motive. But it was the cumulative force of the portrayal which won the actress such lasting plaudits and such tribute of tears.

The Tribune was equally spontsneons in its appreciative comments and said:

Afme. Bernhardt rises fully to the demands of the old, old altustions in their new guise. It is no difficult task for her, perhaps, to produce again the fitting tricks from that bag filled with the stage experience of half a century, but her performance is wonderfully effective, none the less. Amaxingly realistic are her attitude and her look of hiank bewilderment after she has killed her lover, and theuseforth she rises from climax to climax, ending with a death scens that is not drawn from the bag, where so many are atored, but is worked up snew, with ghastly realism. The trial scene is a trimph of her alient play. In short, kime, Bernhardt added, last night, another trimmph of her virtnosity to her unparalleder record.

From the Herald:

snew, with ghasily resilism, the trial section is a triumph of her alient play. In short, Mime, Bernhardt added, last night, another triumph of her virtnosity to her unparalleled record. From the Heraid:

The French actress bas a role in the Bisson drama that is wonderfully solted to her art and talenta. She abstained from making the second act as grewsome as it has been played here, raiber lempering the portrayal of the chert drinking woman. But the trial scene gave her the opportunity for wonderful emotional acting that hrought tests to many eyes.

Mons, Maxodian as the Fleuriot was sdmirable, and Mons, Lon Tellegen played Raymond with convincing boyishness, Mons, Decoent was artislicily brutal as Laroque, and all of the other roles were ahly filled.

In whatever language it la played, LaFemme X is a gripping drama.

The Sun remarks that Mme, Bernhardt's share in the action of the play is slight; so in quantity the audience has comparatively little of her. The quality of what she offered was incomparable, and she not only acted the abandoned, hopeless molher very realisticily, hut abe looked the part so completely that there was no necessily for the unconsclous apology that some of her appearances have irresisihly suggested.

The output of one of our improved presses to-day is greater than the output of the entire plant of the largest establishment in Cincinnati in 1855.

The United States Lithographing Company, which was established about ten years ago, succeeding the Bussell-Morgan Company, is now the largest plant in Cincinnati. They have made a fine reputation for good work, and their trade covers practically the United States.

and their trade covers practically the United States.

One of the latest processes in lithography is the Henbner-Bleisteln patent—not yet in nse. Mr. Bielstein is doing the most wonderful work accomplished in lithography up to the present time. His transfers are made entirely by photographic process, and his work equals the finest three-color process work. It would seem that his is the crowning invention in lithography up to the present time. In conclusion, I would say that in crossing the ocean some years sgo, I met Mr. John 2d. Wright, a missionary from Persia, who told me that in Persia, nearly all documents and much of their printing was done entirely by lithography, and he assured me that he had seen documents produced by lithography which he thought antedated the birth of Senefelder. If he was correct in this, it would seem to prova the old saying, that, "There is nothing new under the sun." Mr. Wright geemed to be very positive in his recollections of what he had seen.

HEARD ON BROADWAY.

Mr. Arturo Toscanini, Italian musical director of the Metropolitan Opera Company, received a leiegram from Paris signed jointly by Debussy and D'Annunzio, alating that they were working together on an opera hased apon the martyrdom of St. Schastian, and that they tooked to him as the masical director of their choice to preside at its premiere.

Tha Shuberta have engaged Charles Charry for the role of Duke Sergius in their production of Tha Balkan Princess, which is now in rehearsal. Mr. Charry last season appeared in The Spithire, at the Lyceum Thaatre, and the acason before under the Shnbert management, was tha star of The Bachelor.

Howard Estabrook, Frank Sheridan, Emily Stevens and Roth Benson have been engaged for The Boss, in which William A. Brady will present Holbrook Blinn before the close of the month.

The beadquarters of this gratuitous distribution of mail are at the Cincinnati offices, where all such matter should be addressed, unless it is known that it will be more convenient for addresses to receive it through the New York or Chicago bureaus.

In addressing mail to individuals in care of The Billboard, kindly indicate what company (if any) each is identified with or in what line of the business he is engaged.

When possible, addresses should be identified by incorporating the name of the show or company in the address of mail sent to them. This insures prompt delivery or despatch and saves infinite trouble in The Billboard's postoffice department.

All mail advertised in this list is being beld at the Cincinnati office unless otherwise indicated by the characters (New York), (Chicago).

Parcels at Cincinnati office and amounts due.

5,000 Army Horse Blankets $2, $5, $8 each. Dou't lose this chance. EDWARD J. KANE, 50 Ann St., N. Y. City.

FIRST, LAST AND FAIR WARNING!

nouncements proclaimed, that an encroachment on the name, fame and reputation which has become of great value to us as a trade-mark, owing to its original and historic association and the reputation gained throughout the world on account of the exalted character of the exhibition created by ourselves, and because of our distinct personality, we deem it just to the public, and to ourselves individually, to

WARN ALL PROMOTERS, INVESTORS or "PROFESSIONAL ANGELS"

Who may in the future attempt to promote or induce others to subscribe or invest in the corporation, promotion or presentation of any exhibition bearing the names of BUFFALO BILL or PAWNEE BILL or any part of such professional titles or acquired trade-marks, and we hereby further emphatically state that every legal means, pressure and influence will be used to protect our legal and just rights in this respect.

will be used to protect our legal and just rights in this respect.

It has come to our personal knowledge that certain shows during the past season were advertised and operated under such misleading titles as "Young Buffalo," "Buffalo Ranch," and other fictitious names closely resembling Buffalo Bill, and it is now publicly announced that it is the intent and purpose to place other and similar shows before the public, bearing the title of "Young Buffalo Bill's Wild West," or otherwise, with the intent and purpose of misleading, confusing and implying that the original and only "BUFFALO BILL"—COL. W. F. CODY—or someone closely resembling him, will appear and impersonate, or lead the public to believe that the great plainsman, whose reputation is one of the most valuable assets in business, is in some manner connected with that or any other fraudulent outfit.

It has been decided and adjudged by the highest courts in England and America that in all equity, legal and moral right, the identification nom-deplume of "Buffalo Bill" is a legitimate, legal title and trade-mark, and that anyone other than Col. W. F. Cody, who may attempt to use this title, is perpetrating a swindle upon the public, and liable to imprisonment for fraud with fines and cost of action. Therefore we will use every proper and justifiable means to protect our interest in the enterprises bearing our names, with which we are personally identified, and our attorney, Francis James, Esq., of Cincinnati, Ohio, has been and is hereby authorized to prosecute any and all parties infringing upon our rights in these premises.

Sant to reform. "The Tin Horn" confronts Mamle and confirms the fact that she leves Frice. Holding her happiness as more than his, he relinquishes her to his rival, but first holds him up and recovers the money which Frice has stolen from the bank. Then handing them a bag of gold, he bids them begone. While his back is turned, a lounger wounds Saul, grabs the money and seeks to make of, but is shot by Mamle, who sees the deed through the open window.

Price returns with her and is arrested by the sheriff, who hears the shooting and enters. Mamle throws, herself into "Tin Horn's" arms sobbingly, as the curtain descends.

Another sketch which is fairly good is A Night in a London Club, played by Fred. Karbo's Lomdon Comedians, under the management of Alf. Reeves. It is described as a pantomime farce, a description that does not apply in the American conception of the word. It is supposed to portray an amateur contributed entertainment, and its humor is induced by the presence of several distinct types of lower middle class personages, who clash temperamentally and physically. Charles Chaplin is the ine-hristed Archihald Binks, always seeking a disturbance. Others in the cast are: Misses Muriel Palmer, Amy Minister and Emily Seaman, and Mesara. Arthur Dandee, Albert Williams, S. Jefferson, M. Asher, A. Anstin, C. Griffiths, A. Seaman, F. Westcott, Fred. Palmer and Frank Melroyd.

Sam J. Curtis and Company contributed a one-act musical farce, entitled A Session at School, from the pen of George W. Day. Sam was greeted with blurious applanse in the role of folly schoolgiris, and Tim Fanst is an angular schoolmaster. Mr. Curtis renders a number of pleasing songs during the act, among those worthy of mention being Little Puff of Smoke, Good-night and Think it Over, Mary. An interpolated number that goes high is when the Gid Oaken Bneket was New, the words of which were composed by George Moriarty, third baseman of the Detroit team of the American Lesgue.

The Forr Amaranths, a quartette of r

London, created a sensation with their acrobatic dancing.

Jessie Broughton, English costrato, playing her own eccompaniments on the grand plano, delivered a notable program of song, in which she had the assistance of Denis Greedon, violinist and baritone.

The Brothers Lloyd are another pair of English importation, and they reflected credit upon their native land by contributing one of the most novel and skillful acts on the bounding cables in the whole field of variety. Their act couples the entire stage, which is set as an English battleship, and the Lloyds in naval costumes, dance hornpipes and play violins on the bounding wires. They conclude their performance by turning someraults while playing the violin, landing upon the cables without missing a note.

tumes, dance hornpipes and play violins on the bounding wires. They conclude their performance by turning somersaults while playing tha violin, landing upon the cables without missing a note.

Other acts which entertained the American elientele during the past week were Winsor Mc-Kay, cartoonist of the New York Heraid, and creator of "Silas' Welch Harehit' series, and "Little Nemo," who drew a "Story of Life" in thalk: Allan Shaw, expert coin and card manipulator, who picked money from the curtains, and from thin air; Elliott and Wills, two young men at the piano, who vocalized attractively, and purveyed a wholesome hit of philosophy in the song, It's a Foolish World After All: Ed. Lateli, in blackface, who sang, talked and made music on the henjo and musical aleigh hells: Franklin and Pierce a young man and woman in dances and hisarre capers; La Petite Mignon, comedience with inneful lays and initations of Bert Williams, Gearge M. Cohan and Marie Dressler; The Woman in the Case, a twentieth century illusion; Murphy and Francis, in coon dialects; Sidney: Falk, singer of topical songs, and Will Van Allen, musical comedian.

gram and good-natured cynicism. It has to do with a shrewd politician who matches his wits with those of a peroxide blonde manicure, and saves his son from an entanglement that threatened to blast bis career and his father's political chances. Mr. Bolt made an ideal mayor, and Mattle Choste as the manicure; Edward B. McGnineses as the son, and Ethel Lloyd as the latter's flancee capably anyported blue. Joseph Hart's production of The Little Stranger was another welcome offering. It is dominated by a fine tonch of sentiment ideally in keeping with the Ynleide spirit. Frank Craven and George, Hohart are the anthors, and they have created a story that grips the beart-strings in this vignetic of the race track. The Little Stranger is the name of a horse entered on a Southern track, which a broken trainer plays for his last five spot, acting on the hunch furnished by the expectation of e "little stranger" in his home. A prosperous horse owner and his negroservant watch the race with him from a distant for $300. When he has left, the negro servant for $300. When he has left, the negro servant calls his master's attention to his "mistake," and he explains that he has thus taken the most delicate way to make a present to "the little stranger." George Pierce plays the borse owner. Richard Webster, the old negro servant in Dulzell, the hroken trainer.

Ben Welch gave us a faithful picture of the "wise kny" Hehrew, e type conspicuous on the East Side, and won rounds of applianse from his headed humor and politocophy. He fanished in a Dago make-up, affording a striking demonstration of his versatility.

Morton end Moore, white-face grotesques, recently atters of The Merry Whiri, whistied, asang and danced, and finished strong in a burlecque "gaster act."

The Great Lester just returned from his Loncon triumhs, made a bit with his ventritoquial act. While his mankin kept up a rapid fire of song and atory, Lester smoked, drank end of song and atory, Lester smoked, drank end

Song and actif, action of the sentrance in full dress and started his act of novel surprises by butling a detached chandelier upon a hook suspended from the files and lighting the stege. Assisted by a comical valet, he juggled all of the furniture and fittings of the set, even to two heavy sofas, which he balanced on his chin. Returning in garh of an ancient Tenton. Spadoni juggled beavy cannon halla, catching them on his hack and aboulders.

The Two Pucka went hig in second place, opening with a planologue and closing with a lick song and dance in costume, My Little Queen. Wentworth, Vesta and Teddy, a man, a woman and a dog, opened the show with comedy acrohatic noveities.

bundred dollars of stage sound effects, stolen from an express wagon, upon his return from the road.

H. A. Davis and Company has just returned from the West, and have already received a ronte through Pennsylvania from W. S. Clevestand. This week they are the feature of an eight-act bill at the State Street Theatre, Trenton, N. J. The cast is made up as follows: Arthur M. Perry as the crooked jockey, Fred Yunker as the Italian boothlack, and H. A. Davis as Charley Getdough, the plunger. They announce European hooking to begin April I.

Miss Grace Edmonds, who has recently returned from a successful tour of Australia, where she played the prima donna in The Dollar Prinoess, will return to vandeville. She has in preparation a new sketch, entitled. Nancy, in which Miss Berry, Mr. William McKee and herself will appear.

Fiske O'Hara is another star who will rest during the week before Christmas. He will spend the week on his farm near Cansan, Conn., and resume his tour in The Wearing of the Green at Altona, Pa., December 28. Lee Shabert entertained three hundred blind children from the various institutions for tha juvenile blind in New York City, at the Hip podrome matinee, December 12.

ter-day wire-pulling by Oliver White, called Politics and Petiticosts, illustrating woman's infinence on affairs of state. It possesses an ingenious plot and is capably acted.

Laddie Cliff proved to be a magnetic youth, with an infectious good humor thet caught the fact that American andiences can appreciate English humor when presented by an artist who understands its moods. of new songs, including a droll ditty asking What Can You Do for a Quarter? His eccentric dancing, attired as an Eton boy, took the house by storm.

Lydia Barry, dangbter of the late comedian, Billy Barry, assisted by a young man at the plano, showed hereditary talent as a performer. She sang a song extolling the virtues of the Barry clan, and showed the contrast between vandeville of to-day and the variety or "twenty years ago," while habited in a black and white bobble akirt.

The Pedcrsen Brothers, Carl and Victor, gained mingle applause and laughter by runaing up perpendicular posts, catching them by the toes, and silding down with comical grations, performing on the flying rings and executing other unique atunts.

The Tasmanian-Van Dieman Troupe, six atured young women in attractive costumes, exhibited feats of equilibriam, and performed akirt dances in the air while suspended by the teeth from trapeses.

The Vivians showed their skill as extraordinary marksmen, shooting with hidden sights, igniting matches by riffic shots, and perforating three swinging targets by a single ahot. They same a demonstration of the Maxim number and its potentiality fer evil, and concluded hy playing tunes by abooting at a musical target. Ray Montgomery and the Healy Sisters, a young man and a couple of pretty girls in pink and hue, entertained with jolly songs and repartee, and uset dancing. They coucleded with a robe dancing and ainging number that gained immense applause.

PADEREWSKI'S RETORT,

The planist, Paderewski, is well known among his frieuls ea a wit who generelly has e resdy answer, even in English, n language which he has mastered with wonderfol ease. One night, ourtug the London season, he was the chief performer at a smart concert, but, unfurtunelely, he was defailed in arriving, and did not turn up until he was just in time to hear tha hosters say to a guest, a well-known popo player and an excellent amstenr musician:
"Ohl Captain, do be a dear kind sonl sad play as a solo notil Paderewski arrives," Paderewski did not make himself known to his hoatess nuil after the young man had finished his solo, and then turning to the amateur, he gracefully congratulated him noon his performance.

"Ah!" asid the young man modestly, "it is very kind of you to congratulate me, but no-body is more painfully aware of the fact of bow great a difference there is between us."

"Oh!" replied Paderewski, "the difference isn't so very great after al!—you are a dear soul who plays polo, while I am a poor l'ole who plays solo."—Boston Courier.

SOLAX RELEASE OF DEC. 30-"MRS. RICHARD DARE."

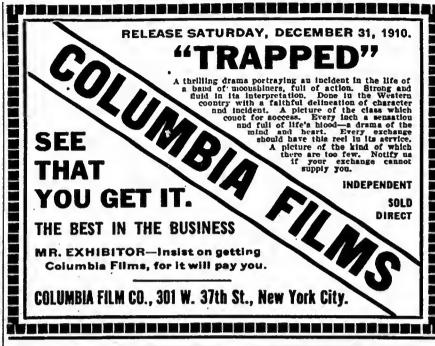

The Solax release for Dec. 30 brings them again to the front with another of those light comedies, which while they seem to be so esecutively popular, are difficult to get. It is called Mrs. Richard Dare. a galtent young army officer, has just married the girl of his choice, and two loving hearts best happily with but one single cloud in the horizon of their bilestice wreth of Uncle Heary—Captein Dare's millionaire retative. Capiain Dare's efforts to have his rich uncle acquiesce to his marriage are funny.

HERE AND THERE.

By GUY WEADICK.

New York, Dec. 16.—The Christmas Number of The Rillboard was a dandy, and as predicted by the publishers sold out on all news-stands almost immediately after its arrival. Saw many folks in New York chasing around to get one after they were all gone. Like Christmas shopping, it is always a good ptan to order the special numbers in advance. "Heard in Advance," that breezy column contributed weekly by The Newlyweds' hustler, Tom North, is one of the newlest fibres in The Billboard's construction, and is read weekly by the many who follow his witty articles as regular as the paper is issued.

Will Rogers, the Oklahoma fancy roper, who has been a headliner in vandeville for the past five seasons, tried out a new act in Bayonne, N. J., week of December 5. It consisted of the following: Miss Goldis St. Clair, champton lady hacking horse rider of the world, who mads such a reputation on Red Sandy, the outlaw bocking horse, at Frontier Day Celebration, at Cheyenne, Wys., last August; Miss Florence Ladue and Miss Hazel Moran, world's champlon lady fancy ropers; Miss Mabel Hachney, with her high school horse, Eed; Miss Tillie Copenhagen, lady trick rider (all ladies mounted); cowboys, Bernie St. Clair, Guy Weadick, Charlie Tompkins, a total of ten peopte and elevenhorses. Exhibition ran sixteen minutes on full stage, roping by two ledies, high school horse, Cosack riding, and trick riding by ladies; and miding of bocking horses by cowboys and Miss Goldle St. Clair. But although the act went big with andlence, it was deemed too hig for the vandeville atage, so Mr. Rogers has framed up a new roping act (he doing the roping), and added the bucking horse riding of Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair to the act. Miss Ariline Palmer left for Chicago. Miss Moran is doing a single act. Chas. Tompkina, Maset Hackney and Tillie Copenhagen have framed up a high school and bucking horse act for vaudeville, and weakler in the rope, and Guy Weadick, original huriesquer with the lasso on Princess Rajah's Oriental dance. They open on United time Dece open on United time December 19.

Mr. J. C. Miller arrives in New York City Dec. 19 to witness the performance of the western vandeville act, entitled A Day at the 101 Ranch, which will appear that week at the Hudson Theatre, Union Hill, N. J.

Ed. Esies, the band baisneer, is here in Rew York, for a two weeks' engagement and then returns to the road.

California Frank Hafley is here in New York looking np some time for his att-atar wild west aggregation for the 1911 season. Ha says the past one was a good one for him.

OPENED IN HONOLULU.

The Slegrist, Silbon and Foster Show had a successful opening at Houselin, Hawaii, Dec. 5. The hig top was packed and grass had to be placed on the Hippodrome track to accommodate the crowds. The venture promises well for it is the first circus to visit the islands in years.

The performers with the show came direct from the Barnum and Balley Show and included the Siegrist-Silbon troupe of three women and six men, casting and return act; Prince You-turkey, wire act; Tato and Tate, clowns; Frank Yoerg, musical act; Prof. Geo. Settler's troupe of performing canines, the Valle Trio, musical act; The Weldons, acrobats.

PLANNING FOR 1911 SEASON.

Miller Brothera and Edward Arlington are already making preparations for the forthcoming acason of the 101 Rauch Wild West. At the close of the season, October 19, all the horses, hnfisioes and long-horned ateers were shipped to the Miller Bros. ranch at Bliss, Okia., while the wagons, seats, lights, cars and equtpment went to Edward Arlington's eastern winter quarters at Passaic. N. J. The eastern quarters at Passaic. N. J. The eastern quarters at Passaic. N. J. The eastern quarters are in charge of Fred Beckman, who is busy rehniding and repainting.

J. C. Miller is now on his ranch at Bliss. He has purchased a large berd of buffaloes, which will tucrase his hotdings to about one hundred, and as he is possessed of the largest ranch in America, he will almost control the hnfisio industry.

Edward Arlington, who is an equat owner with the Miller Brothers in the 101 Ranch Real Wild West Show, is laying out his campaign for the coming season. The ahow will be targer in all departments, and will absolutely atand on its merits. Performers have been secured from foreign countries, some never seen in America before. New novettles will be added, entirely foreign to the Wild West show, and some surpassing any ever seen with a tented show.

tirely foreign to the Wild West show, and some surpassing any ever seen with a tented show.

A number of the old superintendents have been re-engaged. The cook teat will be under the supervision of Arthur Davis, who successfully handled it last season. Ed. Lacey will handled the canvas, with Mike Quidian, first assistant, and Eph Sells, second assistant. Wm. Faulkner will have charge of the stock, and Frank Gilson will be apperintendent of sleeping carson will be apperintendent of responsation. Geo. Connors, of Chillicothe, O., will handle the side shows and outside shows, assisted by Gene Milton. Butch Cohn has been recuraged to handle the candy stands, and Roy Gill has been retained as auditor. George Ariington will be generat manager, assisted by Fred Beckman.

RING BARN GOSSIP.

The Bevolving Minervas, novelty Iron jaw act, closed a season of thirty weeks with the Forspaugh-Sells Bros.' Shows, and came to Cincinnati, O., where they were joined by Miss Geneva Blinerva (Davis). After a week's rehearsal with their new apparatus made into the shape of an aeroplane, they opened in vanderille week of Dec. 12. The act is booked solid for this winter in the East, and will again be with the Forspangh Show next season.

Sim Stough, contracting agent, ahead of Hester'a Wild West, was arreated at Ganado, Tex.. for posting bills without a license. The charge against Mr. Stough was withdrawn noon the payment of four dollars for yearly license for posting hills in Ganado.

NORFOLK, VA.

J. P. BARRETT.

It is wondered why the Bastern wheet (Bnr-leaque Circuit) won't make its entry in this cir. Why, the husiness wond be great. It was tried here about five years ago, but since then things have been clanged from a theatrical standpoint and the community assures success. The Portsmouth navy yard across the five with between 4,000 to 6,000 men siways atationed permanently, the huriesque game would he a mint.

This city is no longer a one-horse burg, but a live tandem town.

Ton New York "wise ones" get wise to the situation. And now is the time to take advantage.

situation. And now is the time to take advantage.

Special mention should be made of the great success Mr. Stephen H. Butler, resident manager of the Orphenn Theatra scross the river, Portsmonth. Va., has had with the neat two-aday bouse.

All the theatrea to this city are making preparations for great attendance during the holiday week. Mr. George Baker Moore, a local young man prominently connected in social life of this city, played the juvenile part of Jefferson Ryder in Henry B. Harris' Lion and the Mouse Co. Young Moore has been connected with the footlights about three years and he certainly is making great headway.

EBERLE THREE SCORE TEN.

EBERLE THREE SCORE TEN.

Robert Eberte, for the last aixteen years manager for William Gillette, has now reached his seventieth year, almost of all which have been of a theatrical connection, as acror. manager and producer. His relations to the hygone years associated him with Lawrence Barrett, Edwin Booth and other stage celebrities of a generation ago.

The septuagenarian's greatest activity took place in 1869, when in the Angust of that year he went West to California with Barrett to produce a repertoire of plays that the famous actor brought out at the old California Theatre. Besides this association with Lawrence Barrett, Eberte also acted as stage producer for John McCallough and other contemporary performers. In 1889 he returned to New York with Barrett, and acted in the capacity of stage director of all their Shakesperian productions during Barrett and Booth's partnership. Between this connection and the commencement of his association with William Gillette, Eberte produced plays for Katherina Clemmons, who later became Mirs. George Gould, and produced most of the earlier Augustus Thomas plays. In 1894, he accepted his present engagement with Billette, and will no doubt remain with this Broadway favorite for the rest of his working hours, as his position with Charles Frohman seems life-long.

JONES SHOWS IN FLORIDA.

JONES SHOWS IN FLORIDA.

CAMPBELL BROS. IN WRECK.

Goliad, Tex. Dec. 16.—Campbell Bros. Circus narrowly escaped a serious wreck on the morning of Dec. 9. one mile east of here, hy the spreading of the rafls. As the train was running slowly, only four flat cars left the tracks. No one was injured and only slight damage was done to the cars. The abow arrived at Edna, their next atand, at 5 P. M.. where an evening performance was given.

Louis J. Berger bas left the Barkoot Show. No. 2, to join the Moissant and Hamilton In-ternational Aviation Company, at New Orleans.

Vale 1910; Welcome 1911.

Another year has gone by, and with it many of the profession whose memory will long be cherished by the amusement-loving public. Not only have more deaths occurred in the profession, but a greater percentage of fiascos in the theatrical business have occurred during this year than in other seasons.

The year of 1910 has gone into history as one of greater trials and vexations in the amusement business than in the preceding year. Not for many years has the circus suffered as it did during the first few months of 1910. Many inauspicious openings were made, several shows inaugurated the season in snow storms, while a few postponed the beginning of their tour until the severity of the elements had abated. Added to the inclemency of the weather were numerous cases of unprofitable opposition fights, which greatly aided in diminishing the profits. The circuses undoubtedly made more money than other amusement enterprises, for, while the first few months were unprofitable, it is a fact that business during the summer months reached normal proportions.

The parks suffered in no small degree in the spring. The cool weather kept the public indoors until the early part of summer, and even though the weather in most localities was delightful during the summer and autumn months, a material falling off in receipts was noticeable.

Theatricals have had a trying season, with many hard struggles. The 1910 offerings have, in the aggregate, been little better than passable, and the real meritorious productions have been greatly outnumbered by those of mediocrity, or even inferiority.

Vaudeville has advanced in popularity and quality. The construction of theatres throughout the country, where vaudeville is the form of attraction, indicates unequivocally that vaudeville as a popular form of amusement stands upon an adamantine foundation. Not a small number of shining lights in the theatrical firmament have embraced vaudeville during the past season with variable success.

Burlesque has shown remarkable development. The indomitable perseverance of its promoters is beginning to manifest results, and their efforts covering a period of several years, have at last demonstrated that burlesque can be produced as a pastime for the classes as well as the masses. Seeing a woman attend a burlesque theatre is no longer a spectable to cause amazement, as the quality of burlesque has been so materially aggrandized that a husband need not hesitate to take his wife to this class of theatre. While this is true, there are many communities in which the burlesque theatre is still considered a place only to be visited by the sterner sex.

Agricultural fairs met with variable successes. In some locations, records for attendance were established, while in others, business fell short of former seasons.

The motion picture business has undergone many changes, for better and for worse. The fight between the two factions, the Motion Picture Patents Company on one side and the Sales Company on the other, has not been ended, although there was less display of hostility than in other seasons. The fight between the licensed and independent companies has not been as severe as that which marked other seasons, and were it not for a few mudslinging film periodicals, no sign of any differences would be apparent.

Although the foregoing epitome of conditions in the several branches of amusements does not present a very alluring picture, there is no reason for alarm. A closer view and careful study of the situation should suggest remedies—bearing in mind the public and its capricious tastes. No vast degree of perspicacity is needed to discern the fact that the public's tastes are undergoing a change. This statement applies to all form of entertainment. The process of evolution has been going on since the history of the world began. Sometimes there is a reversion to old forms and old desires, and the astute purveyors must take note of these whims. The people must be amused, and the managers with the foresight to provide the form of amusements in demand will profit. Those in the professional ranks who apply their wits and capital to meet the desires of a fickle public, will succeed, as all such men do.

This being the season when thanks for extended favors are in order, The Billboard acknowledges with sincere pleasure and gratification, all gratuitous advertising which has been given it by its contemporaries in their reading columns during the year 1910.

Reaping the Reward.

In this land of ours there are many real people—people whose perseverance, grit, stick-to-it-iveness and abilities are brought to popular notice torough achievements out of the ordinary. But sometimes it happens that an unappreciative and indifferent public fails to observe and take cognizance of the certain few individuals who are within their midst in every-day, commonplace existence, and yet who are possessed of virtues far, yes, very far out of the ordinary.

One of the greatest triumphs the individual man can accomplish is that of doing well the things that are his to do. His station in life may be ever so humble, yet if he fills that station creditably, he has succeeded well. A man who exerts himself to the limit and gives to a non-observant world the very best that is in him, and draws therefrom a mere livelihood in compensation for his untiring efforts, is certainly a great, strong, compact personality. His is not the career that solicits applause, neither can he feel the intoxication of being popular, nor the attractiveness of the "much-made-of" idol. His only happiness and contentment comes from the beautiful thought of being true to himself and to the standards set by custom and environment consistent with the position in life that his natural fitness provides.

This thought is prompted by the death of such a man. He was a performer, a man subservient to the dictates of others; one whose vocation was to entertain the masses, and make them forget the cares and troubles of a hard and sometimes cruel world. Yet how little they knew of his troubles. The memory of this man only tends to enliven within us a sort of revolutionary pirit towards those who were indirectly responsible for his death.

As we said before, this performer was engaged by a well-known manager of a well-known vaudeville circuit. His work was strenuous. Through whim of satirical nature, the physical man rebelled. A nervous breakdown was evident unless he could take the time to rest and recuperate. He appealed to the manager only to learn that if he did not appear at the scheduled time, and present his act, that his contract for all future bookings would be canceled. Then the spiritual man asserted itself—that dominant trait that has made man master of the world—came to the front, and he continued to work and work, being present every night and not in the least endangering the success of the performance by any soldiering on his part. Of course, the inevitable happened. The performer is taken from his dressing room to the hospital, where in a few hours he was forced to give up the great battle, and in a feeble whisper murmurs his last farewell to wife and friends.

This man's indomitable spirit to do or die teaches one of the grandest lessons ever taught. His only reward—the self-consciousness of a noble effort. Really, does not the world owe such men greater rewards?

The New Berth Rate.

Now that we are to have a reduction in rates on upper berths, it is to be hoped that the obliging porters will not become so much more attentive, that what is saved on the berth, will be applied by necessity to the tip.

Speaking of porters reminds us of the following anecdote: A traveler had with him $5,000 in bills, wrapped in a package, which he discovered he had lost directly upon leaving the train. Rushing into the Pullman office, he acquainted the manager with his loss. The manager summoned the conductor, but this individual had seen nothing of the package. Calling the porter, the manager said to him: "Jim, did you find a package of money in the car?"

"Yes, sah," replied the porter.

"How much was in the package?" asked the manager.

"Five thousand dollars," answered the porter, as he handed the package to the manager.

"Why didn't you report it immediately, you black scamp," retorted the manager.

The porter, with an offended and disappointed air, replied: "Boss, I done thought the genman left it for a tip."

"One way to measure your success is by the earnestness with which your competitors lie about you."—Benjamin Franklin.

BROOKS JOHNSON

"By Watched"

Brooks Johnson is not slender,
Nor would you call him tall;
His chest's by no means hollow,
He has no waist at all.

He boasts no cheeks deep sunken, Nor caverns round his eyes; e has no wasted biceps, Nor spindling shanks nor thighs.

But he has got ways vinning A broad and unctuous smile-And finally not least but last, Colossal nerve and guile.

He sells mankind a cure-all,
(And "sells" is good, you bet),
They think they're buying medicine;
Spring-water's what they get.

If e'er he tires of water. His many gifts and rare, fill bring him in a living, Selling sky, gold-bricks or air.

How does he put it over,
Repeating it anon,
And make his victims like it?
Oh, reader! Just read on.

He hails from Old Kentucky, And hence, what need to say— Loves horses, girls and bourbon, In good, old-fashioned way.

A king among the gourmands, They say he can't be beat At judging table daintles; It's a joy to see him eat.

He's full of anecdotes and Of stories simply rife; Non-expurgated—print them? You'd go to jail for life!

That's why he can sell water.
That's why his dupes don't yell,
That's why they even whisper
When wishing him in hell.

And furthermore, he's Irish, And 's kissed the Plarney stone Can tickle each one's vanity, By methods all his own.

He's most intensely human, And always on the job; So everybody likes him, Including Father Cobb.

A man like this, some principle Would own to, don't you think? Yet still he does sell water That he himself won't drink.

George Cohan needs him badly, At least, that's what I've heard, o play the title role in "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

—West Baden Journal.

Heard in Advance

Below is a reproduction of an editorial carried recently by Detroit Free Press, and it is a pleasure for me to give same the wide publicity it deserves because if ever a press sgent had one good friend, settern Geo. P. Goodale. Here's a man that greets large and small alike. No line drawn and is a living reminder of Bushin's famous saying, "Greatness of mind is not shown by admitting small things, but by making small things great under its infinence; he who can take no interest in what is small will take false interest in what is great." May you live long and prosper, friend Goodals.

MR. GOODALE, DEAN OF DRAMATIO CRITICS.

MB. GOODALE. DEAN OF DRAMATIC CRITICS.

Forty-five years ago to-day. George Pomeroy Goodale began his service on The Free Press, a service which has never been interrupted and which has uniformly reflected credit not only upon the worker himself and upon his paper, that also upon all dramatic art and criticism. Mr. Goodale today is the oldest writer on etage topics in continuous active service in America—perhaps in the world. His knowledge of his chosen field is not exceeded by any man and possibly it is not equaled.

Mr. Goodale is fortunate in many of his endowments, not the least of which is a genius for hard work. Hy means of it, he developed from a boy printer with a liking for the slage into a thorough master of the English language, as distinction acquired by very few even of those who are accounted successful writers. By means of it, he gained the power of making accurate and nice distinctions, and of weighing and balancing, men, methods and plays. He learned to distinguish almost unerringly hetween honest endeavor and hinf. He is uniformly patient and helpful toward the former, and always justly severe with the latter. Mr. Goodale never falls to recognize the man or woman who tries, and he is quick to detect talent.

Through his genius for work, the dramatic editor of The Free Press has performed a service that would have exhausted many a naturally robust physique and hrain, elimply because of its monotony of theme; hut today, Mr. Goodale is as keen and alert as ever he was. This solidity to work has also kept him abreast of the times, By maintaining an open mind and retaining a readiness to accept whatever is best and most, worthy in the newer school of dramatic art, he has avoided the pitfulls into which some others of the older critics have occasionally fallen. It is inconceivable that Mr. Goodale could ever grow old in spirit.

EDITORIAL BULLETIN

Managers and Agents Series

The Billboard has in preparation a series of illustrations of managers and agents with the leading theatrical attractions. This series of portraits will constitute a gallery of well-known scouts and managers with wide acquaintances among persons interested in amusements. These reproductions will be of especial interest to managers and attaches of theatres, as well as others whose employments bring them in contact with theatrical people. Managers and agents desiring representation in this series, may send their photographs to us.

Parks and Fairs

While any mention of outdoor amusements at this season of the year may be considered incongruous, the fact that a large number of letters asking for information concerning outdoor amusements have reached us, indicates that more than usual interest will be manifested in outdoor enterprises next season. This being true The Billboard has been prompted to arrange with several of the foremost authorities on outdoor amusements for the contribution of articles on the industries they represent. If the popular belief that fortunes and misfortunes run in cycles is to be credited, we can look forward to a very prosperous park season next year. The articles in preparation will give reasons why the season of 1910 was not a good one, and will point out the indications forecasting better success during the coming season. The several articles will treat exhaustively the subject of operating and managing the summer park, and also give many hints for the successful organization of the agricultural fair.

As articles of this nature, in order to be of any real value, must be accurate and comprehensive, The Billboard has solicited contributions from only those, who by long association with outdoor affairs, have become so well familiarized with conditions, that their opinions constitute unquestionable authority:

These articles will not only be of intrinsic value to those engaged in the pursuits they represent, but will be of sufficient merit from a literary standpoint, to hold the attention and interest of all Billboard readers. Don't miss them.

Advertisers and Correspondents, Notice!

As the next edition, which will bear date of January 7, will go to press several hours earlier than usual, correspondents and advertisers are requested to get their copy in as soon as possible this week. The mails were delayed last week owing to the large number of Christmas parcels in transit, and it is possible that the rush will not be over for another week or two. This being the case, a reasonable time should be allowed for delays that may occur in the transmission of letters and packages. Get your copy in early!

But mere lova for work and the ability to perform it alone could not have made Mr. Goodale what he is to-day. It was fortunate for the and doubly fortunate for the world, that his industry could call to its aid a keen intellect, a naturally lovable personality and a bread charity. These things ware the foundations upon which his will to do, worked. As the years passed the man's faculties and graces became more and more obedient to the force behind them, more and more securate in their wasnits.

Among the blessings showered upon him at his hirth, Mr. Goodale received from the gods one of the rarest and most useful gifts, an almost faultiess memory. To-day he has shelves of reference books in his library, but he seldom turns to them because he also possesses in his well-stored mind an encyclopedia that can always be called up at a second's notice from the pit of the subconscious and opened to any page, paragraph or line.

As already indicated, Mr. Goodale is more than a critic of stage people and stage happenlars. Ha is also an observer and weigher of people and of life, a kindly and charitable one. It is true, hut none the less a searching one. It follows, therefore, that be is a philosopher. To this the persons who habitusly read his "Kaleidoscope" can ahundanily testify, for they find in the thoughts of one who has atticle the meaning and heights and of the reporter's table and the city editor's deek, as well as from the city editor's deek as the reporter's table and the city editor's deek as well as from the city editor's deek is never dogmatic, for as auggested, his mind is always open to the acceptance of possibly lish tongue, giving them quaintness, humor, or pathos at will as his trained instinct impels him.

It follows from all these things that Mr. Goodale is loved by the public, which, in proportion as it knows him, takes his judgment on things dramatic as sacred writ and his observations on life as the atterances of a sage. Ha is loved also by the actors from the humblest to the greatest, by the playwrights from the beginners to the veterans. They seek him out to greatest, by the playwrights from the beginners to the veterans. They seek him out to granters to the veterans, and his opinion is listened to with respect. He is recognised as a moral force for the uplift of the stage aface, if he is the first to acknowledge merit, he is also the first to acknowledge merit, he is also the first to condemn coarseness, indecency or immorality. The Free Press congratulates itself that for forty-five years Mr. Goodala has been a part of it.

The Free Frees congratulates itself that for forty-five years Mr. Goodala has been a part of it.

Witnessed Stair & Havilin's company in The Wolf recently. It is certainly a powerful and gripping drams of ont-of-door life and alemantal passions. The Wolf holds close to the heart of nature.

At no time has the Walter faculty for character drawing of the grimly humorous kind shown more markedly than it shines in this drams, and particularly in the Beot, McTavish, whose conviction that anybody or anything laying claim to Scotch nativity is unequaled and unmatchable ta not to be argued out of him. His observation that "the Lord must have been careless when he made the Ewode." indicates his familiar Scottish acquaintance with the Detty he criticines and suniably excuses in a hreath.

The leading role, Jules Besubein, is gracefully and attractively played by E. Fernandes, who was the Mexican years ago in Arisons, and played here in Going Some last year. Tom Burronghs was seen as Andrew McTavish, and Mildred Hyiand as Hilda. his daughter. Boberto Dashon plays Taptiste Le Grand; William Crimmins, McDousid, the engineer, and J. Davis Pandiston. George Huntly, his assistuat. Both as to play and acting, the performance is an acceptable entertainment.

"Ever play the ponies?" casually remarked the racetrack tout to the man utiting near him in the Senece Hotel loby, Eochester, N. Y.

"Not quite," smiled the other; "but I'va played the ilon in The Wisard of Os. the dog in Buster Brown, half the clephant in Wang, and the bear in The Newlyweds." (It was Al. Grady that answered.)

Mrs. Geo. McManus had just returned from her senest free to the mountains.

Lives of Famous Showmen

To attempt to enumerate all the incidents of interest in the lives of famous showmen, of whom this article treats, would be a stupendous task. Besides, our limited space compels us to give only those facts which are most important and which are of the most interest to the reader.

It is only fitting that the article shall be commenced with a brief outline of the career of that peer of showmen, P. T. Barnum.

Phineas Taylor Barnum was born in Bethel, Connecticut, July 5, 1810. His father, a country storekeeper, died poor, accordingly, Barnum, at a very early age, earned his living, engaging in several lines of business in different towns. In 1828, he returned to Bethel, where he opened a store. Soon after he was married. His business was unsuccessful, and he established a weekly newspaper with no better fortune. In 1834 he removed to New York and entered the show business with one attraction, Joyce Heth, a colored woman, announced as the nurse of George Washington, and 161 years old. With this attraction, Barnum registered his first success. A year later, Joyce Heth died, and then after a lapse of another year, Barnum purchased Scudder's American Museum, changed it to Barnum's, and his fortune began to accumulate. In 1842, the dwarf, General Tom Thumb (Chas. S. Stratton), was engaged and exhibited by him successfully in the United States and Canada. In 1849, he made a contract with Jenny Lind for a concert tour of one hundred nights in America, at $1,000 a night. He gave only ninety-five concerts, but made an enormous profit from this speculation and many others, and retired temporarily in 1855, to live in his oriental villa, Iranestan, in Bridgeport, Conn. He expended large sums in improving and beautifying that town. Having endorsed notes to the amount of about one million dollars for a manufacturing company which failed, he was financially ruined. In 1856, he returned to England with Tom Thumb, and partially retrieved his fortune. Returning to New York, he opened and conducted a museum, but it was burned July 13, 1865, as did another which he opened afterward. In 1871 he organized his great traveling circus and menagerie, with which he was remarkably successful. The circus is still continued under his name and that of his partner, James A. Bailey.

Barnum possessed remarkable instinctive for advertising possibilities, and his original methods created for himself and his attraction world-wide publicity. One of his sayings, "that the public like to be humbugged' resulted in his obtaining much gratuitous publicity. Even to-day it is used with much frequency. As a showman, he was first despised, then ridiculed, then tolerated, and lastly, for many years, abundantly welcomed. His charities were many, and he was one of the most public-spirited citizens in Bridgeport. On several occasions he was elected to the Connecticut Legislature, besides being Mayor of Bridgeport. He died April 7, 1801.

In his most successful enterprise, P. T. Barnum was associated with James A. Bailey. To Bailey was given the title of "King of Showmen." He was born in Detroit Mich., in 1847, being of Scotch-Irish descent. Like his distinguished partner, Bailey was born of poor parents. At the age of ten, he conceived the idea of tempting fortune of his own accord, and left his home. He obtained work on a farm, receiving the munificent wages of $3.50 a month. Later on he became a bell boy in a hotel at Pontiac, Mich. This was really the crucial step in his life, because fate ordained that he should meet there the man who gave the future circus king his first chance. The man who had that honor was Fred Bailey, the general agent for the Lake and Robinson Circus. He rapidly rose from billposter to general agent, becoming finally a proprietor in 1872.

In that year he entered into partnership with J. E. Cooper, forming the celebrated Cooper and Bailey firm, proprietors of The Great London Show. That same year the don Show. That same year the partners took the show to Australia, New Zealand, South America, and India, returning to the United States in 1878. By 1880, P. T. Barnum had realized that the younger and rapidly-forging-ahead showman would be a better friend than a rival, with the result that he offered Mr. Bailey the co-partnership with the present world-famous amusethe present world-famous amuse-ment enterprise, known as the Bar-num and Bailey "Greatest Show on Earth." The actual management and policy of this show from that time on formed the life-work of Mr. Bailey. He planned and di-rected the European tour of the show, which during its five years abroad exhibited in England, Scot-land, France, Germany, Belgium. land, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Austria-Hungary. From the start it was a great and triumphant campaign. In 1905 he took the show to the Pacific Coast for the first time in its history

Not only did Bailey build up, control and direct the greatest show on earth, but, at the same time, he was supervising the movements and policy of the Buffalo Bill Wild West, of which he was an equal owner with Col. W. F. Cody. He also owned the Forepaugh-Sells Show in conjunction with Ringling Bros.

In 1868, Bailey married Miss Ruth Louisa McCaddon, of Zanesville, Ohio. She was his constant companion, and in his will the great showman paid a touching tribute to her devotion and love through the many vicissitudes they had experiturning to New York, he opened and conducted a museum, but it was enced together. Bailey died at his home in Mt. Vernon, New York, on burned July 13, 1865, as did another which he opened afterward. In April 11, 1906, erysipelas being the cause of death. His remains were interred in Woodlawn Cemetery, on Saturday, April 14.

Admittedly one of the rivals of Barnum and Bailey, when these showmen had reached the pinnacle of their success, was Adam Forepaugh, the proprietor of Forepaugh's aggregation. Forepaugh entered the show business in a rather peculiar manner. He had been a butcher boy in Cincinnati; later was in the employ of a butcher and horse dealer, then he operated the stage line in Philadelphia, and afterwards dealt in horses and cattle. It was through his connection with the latter named business that Forepaugh entered his career as a showman. In 1861, he sold to John O'Brien, who was running a small wagon show, sixty-two head of horses at $9,000, and took as part payment an interest in the show. At that time Forepaugh had no idea of permanently embarking in the show business, but visiting the O'Brien Show in Pittsburg, he purchased it, and buying Jerry Mabie's Menagerie, combined the two, which formed the nucleus of the leviathian proportioned, Great Forepaugh Show. The Mabie purchase consisted of two elephants and eight animals, for which Forepaugh paid $42,000. The property was delivered to him at Twelfth and State Streets, Chicago, on the very day of the

Is Matrimony a Failure? Closes

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 22 (Special to The Bill-board).—The Is Matrimony a Failure? Company, which played here last week at the Olympic Theatre, under the management of David Belasco, closed the season last Saturday, and after paying all hills, the company was eent back to New York. A member of the eompany declared that the play was far from a failure, and if the intentions of the management are carried out the play will be produced again next season.

According to Manager Pat Short, of the Otympic Theatre, the company did enough hustbeas in St. Louis to defray expenses.

Bobert Hilliard, who is here in A Fool There Was, was at the Olympic this week and said that the play could not fail with David Belasco behind it. It has been taken off, he said, probably because it had run out its natural life.

Mr. Hitliard also stated that The House Next

WHO'LL GET THE EXPO.?

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 20 (Special to The Billboard).—When Congress takes up the question of the Panama Exposition this winter there is every probability of a merry war in Washington. When the lilea originated that the completion of the highligh that uncle sam is diggleg through the Isthmus of Panama should be commemorated with a nationat celebration in the shape of an exposition, New Orleans loomed up as the proper place for the hig event and the nation applauded the citizens of the Crescent City for their patriotic effort and energy. Then the spould have the hig show and for many months much printers' ink has been used in chroniciting the merits as to these rival cities in claiming the exposition.

Beveral weeks ago a committee of The Travelers and Marchants' Association of Baltimore went over to Washington and told the merchants and husiness men of the National Capital, that Washington was the proper place for the exposition and that Baltimore business men would co-operate with them and use all their influence in landing the coveted prize. Mayor Mahool, is interested. The city council has already drawn up a resolution that will be point a commission to assist the Washington in securing the heaven and all have expressed a desire to assist the citizens of Washington in securing the big event. So the interesting point in the controversy is Who'll Bring Home the Bacon?

"We would recommend that the several fairs name such dates as may suit the individual fair, and report date setected to the secretary of this circuit. Such date to be selected and reported to the secretary of this circuit on or before March 1, 1911."

After the adoption of the foregoing the following report was presented and adopted:
"Your committee on resolutions beg leave to report as follows:

SEELEY VERSUS MORRIS

Rupture of Relations Between Wm. Morris Company, Western, and the Vaudeville Magnate is Confirmed by Wm. H. Seeley-Eastern Company Not Affected

Wm. H. Seeley.—Eastern

dan Francisco, Cal., Dec. 24 (Special to The silboard).—A local daily paper prints a story of a rupture of relations between William Morria and his San Francisco associates, known as The Wm. Morria Co., Western. It is said by the newspapers that Morris has failed to account for $40,000 to his San Francisco partners, which caused the latter to sever all relations that existed. Talk is heard of a suit to be instituted by the local people to compel an accounting of the money.

An interview with William Hoff Seeley, who has been manager of the Wm. Morris Company, Western, is asid to have brought forth a confirmation of the story. Questioned for further details, he preferred to remain silent.

The Morris Western Company is asid to have given Morris stock in its organization and made a twenty-five year contract with him to provide acis for a chain of theatres located in cities west of the Missouri river. Theatres were opened in the West, but proved nonuccessful. It was jost a year ago when William Morris was ont here with Harry Lander, that the San Franciscans made their deal with him. One thing he insisted upon was that they purchase shall interest in the Barresford Ctrcuit in Great Britain. The price was to be $173.000. They paid in advance $40,000, to be need, as a first payment, provided, after the late Georga Leaventritt, of New York, the attorney for Morris, inquired into the affairs of the Rarresford Circuit, he recommended the purchase. Last spring Leaventritt crossed the Atlantic, under the money, Mach to their surprise and indignation, they were informed by Morris that he had used the money for the purposes of William Morris, locoprorated, of New York,

Last May Seeley went to New York and sued him for the money. He managed to get together $10,000 of the sum and turned it over to Seeley. On Morris' promise to make a final

Kittie, Famous Horse, Is Dead

Hundreds, yes, we might say, thousands of troopers will learn with sorrow the death of "Kittle" (Kate). Kittle was only a horse, but ser history as a trooper is well known, and her death, which was most pathetic, as playing the risat lot." will interest ber, many, many triends in both Figurus and Balley's Show and The Two Bills. Shows.

On Tuesday, December 20, at 4 P. M., Geo. Conner discovered her ill in the center field of the race track at the inter-State Fair Grounds, Trenton, N. J., and at once got her into her stall, where medical sitention was given. She appeared to have a bonch of colic, and was treated as such cases are. During the night a special watchman was instructed to waich her closely and administer her medicines. At. 2:25 A. M., Wednesday, she got her footing and started out of her stall, the watchman not bothering har, and after reaching the driveway of the stables abe turned towards the rear end of the stable where her old bogky, atood, and after getting to the bugky, she isld her head in the seat and dropped dead. There on the cold earth she remained a sad picture to gaze upon until huried by loving hands. How well she knew her buggy, a crude affair ossed by Rett Davia and wife, the homespun couple known as Hiram Birdseed and Anut Lacioned, the feature down-town attraction of the Two Rills' Shows. Several troopers who have been with Kittle for years actually shed lears at the sight of her in cold death, with her head resting in the Errunw Show as far back as 1883. She

The Arcadians opened at the Illinois, Sunday for an engagement which extends over the holiday season. The score of The Arcadians is by Lionel Monckton and Howard Taibot and the book is by Mark Amhlent and A. M. Thompson. The plot opens in the land of Arcadia where guile is nuknown and the advent there of Japues Smith, a Loudon caterer, with a tendency for the untruth, the washing of Smith in the Well of Truth and his missionary visit to London is ample excuse for exquisite humor, haunting melodies and dainty stage pictures. The cast includes Frank Monlan, Julia Sanderson, Percival Knight, Connie Ediss, Alam Mudie, Ethel Cadman, Harold Chemence, Mary Mackid, Lawrence Grant and H. H. Møyer.

THE LITTLE DAMOZEL AT WHIT-NEY.

Chicago, Dec. 21 (Special to The Billboard).—After a week of darkness the Whitney Opera Home opened on Christmas night with Henry W. Savage's The Little Damosel, for an insensity of the Christmas of the Company of the Christmas and to a said to have been very successfully, produced in Wyndham's theatre. Loadon, and it is expected that this success will be duplicated here. This organization is headed by May Buckley and Cyril Reightley and several members of the original London company.

CHICAGO'S HOLDOVER SHOWS.

Chicago, Dec. 21 (Special to The Billboard).

This week brings many changes to Chicago's theaters and also marks the opening of the New Blackstone. Those plays which might be set down as having had long runs and which will remain with us until after the New Year are: The flwestest Girl-in-Paria, the-bright and snappy musical, comedy which holds forth at the LaBalle Opers House; The Chocolate Boldler, at the Garrick with its wealth of good meiody, and The Deep Furple at the Frincess a play, full of genuine entertainment. Said and Seen In Chicago

In Edgar Selwyn's play. The Country Boy, which is now playing at Powers' Theatre, there is a scene showing the dining room of a theatrical boarding house in New York City. Mr. Selwyn lifted this scene from a famous institution of this character, which was located on. West Forty-first street, New York, about ten years ago. Mr. Selwyn and his wife, Miss Margaret Mayo, lived there, together with the Barl of Yarmouth, Engene Waiter, Eleanor Robson (Mrs. August, Belmout), May Hall, Madge Carr Cooke and Jane Kennark.

The Original Young Buffelo is now signing his talent for the season of 1911. He already has five winners on his 'shooting staff, Mile. Vers. Baby Buth, the smallest ride shot in the world: Tex Baker, champion of Texas; Capt. Joe Knight, champion wing shot of Canada, and himself. The Great Wilmots, casting act, Tommy Burns, the champion roper of Anstralia, and Pasrile May's High School act, featuring her $2,000 White Beanty, have also signed.

A STERLING PROGRAM

Majestic Theatre—Other Acts on Bill up to the Usual Standard

Chicago, Dec. 21 (Special to The Biliboard).

—Borr McIntosh, tha famous actor, last seen in Chicago as "A Gentieman from Misaisiappi," appears at the Majestic this week as the head-liver to a great holiday hill. He is one of the most interesting men on the American staga today. Since leaving Princeton University he has successfully been a journalist, actor, pholographer, poblisher and lecturer. But it is as an actor, photographer, peblisher and lecturer that he is best known in the East. He was the founder of that beautiful act publication, Tha Burr McIntosh Monthly. As a photographer, which vocation he left the atage sine years ago to pursue, he soon became possibly the best known in the country, but while at the height of his success, the opportunity to accompany President Taft as afficial photographer on his famous Philippine trip, five years ago, presected itself. Mr. McIotosh is playing The Banchman, e breesy Wyoming drama full of life and interest.

Bessie Wyan, the beautiful singing comeditione, always a prime fevorite in Chicago, is the bright particular musical feature of the bill, introducing a sumber of new sears.

A hig musical act is The Courtlest, one of Bolfa's most ambitious efforts. It includes a dozen instrumentalists and opera singers, handsomely costumed and provided with beautiful scenery.

TREVETT THEATRE.

Chicago, Dec. 20 (Special to The Billboard).

The Munical Wilsons opened the bill and were classified as reflored munical artists. Their act was too reflored for the audience, as they did not go at att. Their munic lacks vitality, and we would suggest that they take a week or so off in rehearsing.

Long and West, who were the extra added attraction, were the poorest we have seen at this theatre, doing an old monologue with the same old hungry coon and the well-dressed straight man.

Majestic's Bill Last Week

Chicago. Dec. 20 (Special to The Billboard).

—Los Anger, in his German monologue, entitled The German Soldier, was a phenomenal hit at the Majestic teat week. It seldom hapens that we witness such an act as his, which kept the audience in a continual aproor. Two or three people have gone into hysteria over Augeria ability to hand it to them in such a comical way.

Woods and Larson, lo singing and dancing, were fairly good. This act would have been immense had the female member of the team a good singing voice; however their dancing was excellent.

winging voice; however their dancing was excellent.
Herbert Germania, European coster entertainer, was excellent.
Milss Rose Roma, who entertained on the violin, went well.
Kremka Broa., novelty eccentric and comedy screbats, who do a hand and bead balancing, were immense.

Coakley, Hanvey & Dunlavy, those ever funny town hall minstrels, were indeed clevet. My Home to Georgia, Dear Old Moonlight. That's the Fellow That I Want to Get. and Jungle Band, were among the numbers offared.

Jungie Band, were among the numbers offered. Wester Lawrence and Llitten Fitzerereld, in a madeal Irish comedy shit, entitled Just Landed, were a riot. The trish certainly show themselves off to great advantage when their humor and wit is placed into the hands of Willer Lawrence for delivery.

Conneity and Webb, in their musical absurdity, entitled A Stormy Finish, was excellent. This is a consended ect, with just enough humor in it to make it absurdly fanny.

The Police Inspection, by Clay Green and Harrison Armstrong, a dramatic shetch, was good.

Harrison Armstrong, a danage of the food,
Harry Williams and Jeau Schwartz, who are representing the two most auccessful song writing teams in America, went well.
Miss Annetta Kellermson closed the hill again last week, and was indeed a big box of fire number. Miss Kellermson bas delivered two or three tectores to women only, and has apparently won many friends.

Mir. Frank L. Smith was in this city last week to the interests of Harry Hastings, the famous buriesque producer and manager, whose sew production. The Hastings Hig Show, is at the Star and Garter this week. The show, which is said to be one of the finest attractions which has ever played the Columbia Amusement Company houses, is headed by Viola Rheldon, one of the best soprans singers on the buriesque singer, and Tom Cayne, the clever character comedian.

Miss Physic Rankin succeeded Miss Edna Aug in the part of the cents sevenal in The Commuters, the latter actress withdrawing to take up her new position as the star of The Cherus Lady, left vacant by Miss Rose Stahl;

One of the most delightful acts on the bill is that of Bessie Brown Ricker, a social favorite, whose readings and dislect stories have made-her a universal favorite with both children and grown-ops.

The Barrows-Lancastee Co. play a smart mil-itary drama called Tactics, which was pre-pared for them by Margaret Mayo, anthor of Baby Mine.

Al. Joson, the fun-maker, la another fea-ture of the hill, together with Marvelons Dick, Clark and Bergman, The Balzers and other en-tertaining acts.

Lova a Little Girl Lika You, Bonita. Alexander and Scott, and the World's Comedy Four are using soms of Harry's songs.

May Bush, with Al. Reeves Beauty Show, is making a hig success. Among the songs used by Miss Bush are Colored Romeo and Messenger Boy, which have gone good.

Will Johnnie Guise please write to the Chicago once of The Billboard for his mail.

Chaz, W. Racey, known better to profussion, als as Lee Bandall, has handed in his two weeks' notice to Mr. Wilfolk, of The Winnieg Miss Company, so we shall expect to see Lee in Chicago wery soon.

Frank Stafford & Co., who played the Columbia, St. Loois, lisst week, will return to Chicago Monday, to play aix or sight weeks of the samal time to break in a new dog.

Miss Anbrey Eich, the dainty singer of popular song, who has just finished playing the & & C. time, and is now going back ever the same time, is using with success To the End of the World With You, Cheer up, Brothers, and Sweet Italian Lova. Miss Rich has a contratto votce, and known how to use it aiways. She shares the bonor on every bill.

Diggs and Burna, who played the Cox and Century theatres last week, are using the best Irish beiliad written in years, For Killarney and You, which has proved a winner for them.

The College Trio are naing Yiddisha Love, which is a big number with them.

Carl McCullough is using Some of These Days, Friendly and Jordan at the Casino this week, are singing Patry Club and Yum Yum Tree. Rannington and Howard are singing MaBeile Rose and I Love it. Three Rambler Girls are singing Lovey Joe. Sophie Tucker is singing I Love It and Lovey Joe.

Mr. Henry Kolber will annear in The Contact Lovey Joe.

Mr. Henry Kolker will appear in The Great Name, New Year's night at the Cort Theatre, supported by Miss Lizzle Hudson Collier and Russ Whytal,

At the Willard Theatre

Chicago, Dec. 21 (Special to The Billboard).

A very strong aggregation of acts made op the program at the Williard Theatre last week. Bingham and Gable opened the hill with a musical act which was indeed a credit to the Doyle Agency. The male member of the team played two cornets at one time, which was something unusuat and more in a musical act. The Snily Family, in an original farce by Mr. Bearl Alieo, eotitled The Snil Case, was a riot. This comedy farce is one which confused the andience from the time the curtain went up onlil it dropped on their act. It is one of the most absurdiy funny acts in vandeville. Mande Wabh, in illustrated songs, was grood. Herman Lieb and Co., with a selected company of players in a dramatic skatch entitled Dope, was immense. This twenty-two playlet, written by Joseph Medill Patterson, is a fair sample of the great work accomplished by this playwright. Acting of acceptional character is seen in this absect, not only by Mr. Lieb, but the whole cast. Such as act as this is certainly deserving of a position on the All-atar bill.

Kraemer and Willard, the singing, talking and dancing team, made a decided hit.

George E. Delmore & Jules W. Lee, who are considered as America's foremost athletes, do a revolving ladder act in hisch and white, which went bis. This is one of the best hills given at the Willard Theatre this seams. The last his for the week will be seen Bimm, Bomm, B-r-r-c Trio in a musical act.

At the American Music Hall

Chicago, Dec. 21 (Special to The Biliboard).

-Following is the opinion and criticism of Ashton Stevens, vaudeville critic for the Chicago American:

"Fluent service in the quick-innch spread of cago American:

"Flucot service in the quick-iunch spread of twenty-two courses at the American Music Hait was heard to creak at pudding time, when Sophie Tucker, the large and nuceasored celebrant of rag-time, appears to be crowded by a coupla of acrobatic waiters in their eagerness to meet the schedule. Even without sering them the andience did not care-a syncopated hemi-demi-semi-quaver for the antics of the waiters. The audience wanted more pudding, more of that a la Sophie with the hard sauce. You looked to see the inchiess weiters atomised while they waited. Such a blast blew the gale foc Sophie. Her megaphonic argan alone could have been heard above the tumit, and it was "Watchur want," shouted Sophie, and averybody shouted Grinzly Bear, which, of course was refused, on account of the police prohibiting any performer of orrelects to use same. She compromised by singing Yiddisher Eag, which was a riot." Thus endeth the chapter of Ashton Stevens: "After, we had been served with dessert, the next course was demi-tasse, which was ladeed hylgorating. In this form we have Cacl McCollough, who was without doubt the only rival Miss Tucker had for first place. McCollough can be considered an observer rather than an imitationist, and we dare say that before another season has gone by, performers will be imitating the congenial Carl.

Mr. Stevens says: "McCultough is an amiable floot. I'll wager that even Trixle Friganze, the arch enemy of imitations, the avenuing Nemesis of the body snatchers of the living, will find something to admire as well as satirise in Mr. McCullough's oew and forgiveable way of 'picking the hrains' of actors not so widely unknown as himself. By way of a song, and a Sophie Tucker song at that, Some of These Days.
Mr. McCullough gave us 'cartoous' of Foy, Cohan and Wardeld in the act of singing it.
"And it is the best work of its kind since those many years gone when Heary E. Diray, einging It's English y' Know, gave us Heary Irving before we had seen Heary Irving himsolf.
"Mr. McCullough is force and the seen Heary Irving him-

"Mr. McCullough is just on the threshold of success, and we will not be surprised if some blg manager does not pick him up and make a musical comedy star of him."

The rest of the bill is as follows:
Stevens & Vallero, singing and daucing act;
Stevens & Vallero, singing and daucing act;
Fred Williams. in an filmstrated song; Wice
Mika, Foster's dog, which was indeed cluver, Morris and Kramer, black-fased singers and

The Christmas spirit pervades all of the bills at the metropolitan theatres this week, the bills at the metropolitan theatres this week, the offerings reflecting the joyous abandon of the Yuletide. In making the All-star selections this week, this holiday attitude has been considered, but likewise that pathos which can not be dissociated with the season of the Nativity, has been given a place. This is the primal reason, but by no means the only one, for placing Frank Keenan's drama of Iriah crofter life, The Oath, in the stellar place. It pul-

Walter Lawrence a Bankrupt

New York, Dec. 24 (Special to The Billboard).

—Walter N. Lawrence, theatrical manager, filed a petition in bankruptcy this week. His liabilities are $56,104; bis assets are: Cash in benk, $4; debts doe, $1,601; manuscript of two-plays; sme-third interest in the play, The Other Fellow; 500 shares of slock in the Walter N. The distribution took place from the stages of the Colonial, Alhambra, Bronx, Orpheum, Greenpoint, Crescent, Gotham and Novelty Theatres. +

While singing in St. Louis last week as prima donna of The Tales of Huffmann, Miss Helena Prederick was the recipient of a valuable Christmas gift, a solid silver laurel wreals in miniature, sent by her former classmates at the Boyal Conservatorium of Laipsig, Germany.

Bud Fisher, talented young cartoonist of the "New York 'American," who recently took a filer in vandeville, has issued a book comprising the principal cartoons of his famous Mult and Jeff series, which he has put on sale at leading new-stands. The book is dedicated to "the boy who got his goat when a kid." Charley Harvey, the latter being the well-known amusement promoter in the Knickerbocker Theatre Building.

Edward Birnbanm, manager and father of June Eleanor, the child wonder nonbrette, writes from Niagara Falls that the little artists is dangerously ill in that city. She was operated upon Dec. 20 at St. Mary's Hospital at Niagara Falls for acute appendicitis, and her fallure to rally speedily is causing wuch apprehension to her friends.

Walter Stanton, originater of the comical rooster on the musical comedy and vaudeville stage, has accepted an engagement with Miss Maude Adams for a special part in Charles Frohman's production of Chantecler. Mons. Roetand's play is now in rehearsal, and will have its premiere about January 16.

Alfred Rossi and wife, who will be remembered as proprietors of Rossi's Musical Elephants which played sixteen weeks at the New York Hippodrome, and two seasons with Buffale Bill's Wild West, presented their new musical act last Sunday at Percy G. Williams' Albambra Theatre. The Rossi's act combines music and jugglery with eccentric comedy, and is full of novelty and diversion. It is the original act as presented by them in the leading theatres of Europe, and is assured popularity Short and Ugly Words-New Ruling Also Bars Abbreviated Costumes.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 21 (Special to The Billboard).—The short and ugly words which used to be evoked when somebody accidentally hit tha foot of the rich old man suffering from gout, or when some other caraculty planned catastrophe happened on the stage, will no more be heard across the footlights, if the campaign just inangerated by some of the total managers extends to the other houses in the city.

Actors who must use naughty language will have to unbosom themselves in their dressing-come, as rules posted yesterday for the guid-ince of performers declare that impropriety of word or action will not be tolerated.

The war against anything offensive extends also to the costumes, and artists, when they feel doubtful about any feature on their respective turns, are advised to countil with the sanager before going on for the first time.

"Hell" and "damn," with all other similar repartee must be eliminated.

"Do not use one word of profanity on your act," reads the set of tron-clad regulations which went into effect at the Princess Theatens.

"The introduction in your act of any suggestive word or expression will result in instant cancellation. The shows at this theatre must be as clean throughout as the provential bound's tooth."

The movement is in line with the determination, some time age, to abolish the "mother-inius" achool of alleged jokes. "I believe," said Dan S. Fishell, of the Princess, "that patrons are entitled to absolute advance assurance that they will not be oftended by any feature of the performance.

NEW LEXINGTON THEATRE.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 24 (Special to The Bill-board).—Lexington is to have a new vaudeville theatre. It will be located on the site of the present Hippodrome at 825 west Main atreet. Work on the huliding will be commenced about April 15 and completed August 1. L. H. Ram-sey will manage the house.

MANAGER RETIRES.

Pail River, Mass., Dec. 24.—William B. Stecker, manager of the Palace and Scotic Theatres, has redired from the theatrical business and will return to the West, where he formerly resided, to engage in the cattle husiness on a Montana ranch. A theatrical manager named Graham, who halls from Warren, R. I., will succeed him at the Palace. The Palace is a new vandavilia and picture theatre seating sight hundred.

Frank M. Adama has bought the Star Theatre at Haslewood, a anbarb of Pittabarg, Ps., and is remodeling the bouse. He will install an excessive band organ, and run first release films.

"The words 'hell' and 'damn' may be considered harmless by a great majority of theatregoers, but even those words are going out of the Princess' lexicon hereafter.

"With the almost general inaugural of 25-cent matinees for high-class vaudeville, a policy adopted by the Princesa Theatre, more women and children will attend vaudeville than ever before.

Forming Another Vaudeville Circuit

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 24 (Special to The Bill-board).—The National Theatre Company is the name of a new corporation that intends to ac-quire and operate a circuit of thirty theatres in Michigan, to play vaudeville. Representatives of the company are at present selling stock to local business men, to finance the construction of the Jackson house.

GOLDEN'S LATEST PRODUCTION.

New York, Dec. 20 (Special to The Bill-board).—M. Golden, manager of the Russian dancers, now appearing in the East with phenomenal success, has a new act in preparation which will be produced for the first time at the Athambra Theatre, Lynn, Mass., Jan, 2. If past performances are taken as a criterion, this latest effort of the experienced manager will show something entirely original and meritorious. The Golden Troupe has been highly complimented in all the cities it has played, and its future success will no doubt be as pronounced, as in the past.

arose en-masse and stood until the last note had died away. After the audience resumed seats, former Deputy Stata's Attornsy Eugene O'Dunne appeared before the footlights and delivered the dedicatory address and in doing so, he had considerable trouble. The boys in the gallery were inpatient to see the show and they frequently interrupted the speaker. Mr. O'Dunne and that a theatre like the one in which he stood, which had for its ideals clean entertainment for ladies and children, where the pernicious infinences of certain forms of modern entertainment would be entirely removed, was a cause which any son of Maryland might well be proud to dedicate. After the apeaker had finished, the curtain rose for the performance. The first act to appear was Carleton Macy and Maude Hall, in a comedy sketch, entitled A Timely Awakening. Then came the Jupiter Brothers as cowboy magicians. Carney and Wagner, two winsome young ladies, appeared in a ciever singing and dancing act. The Bartella, as comedy musicians, were very entertaining. Fost and Russell made a hit in a comedy singing and dancing act. Lillian Stone is of the type of Maggie (Line, There were other acts that made a good impression. Several new films were shown which completed the bill.

The regular show will be a continuous per formance from noon until midnight. After the andience had been dismissed, a sumptuous ban, includence had been dismissed, a sumptuous ban, net was served on the stage and a large number of representative society folks, prominent citizens and representatives of the press were present. LEO DISPOSSESSED.

On Monday morning, December 19, the Lee Booking Agency were surprised to find themselves dispossessed from their suite of rooms on the eighth floor of the Forty-fith atreet Exchange Building. The reasons advanced by the landlord were that a number of his tenants were complaining that some of the frequenters of this booking agency made themselves quite undesirable and annoying. However, Joe Lee did not allow his temporary discomforture to interfere with business as he notified all visitors by a card on his old door that he was using the quarters of the Ruff and Sheridan Agency where he found enough room to run his booking husiness. The consensus of opinion concerning The Fooliah Virgin, which had its premiere on Mooday, December 19, is that Henri Bataille has written a play very atrong and pleasing for the hypothetical Frenchman, but not entirely adaptable to the American atage because of the difference in characteristics between the two nationalities. The play, which deals with morality and temmorality can not find the ready sympathy in the hearts of the New York andlences, according to one of the New York critics, probably because of its dealing with an extreme case in an extreme way. From beginning to one fits dealing with an extreme case in an extreme way. From beginning to ond The Foolish Virgin is criticised as an unpleasant story. The only Character for which there is any sympathy felt being the wife, who, in spits of-her husband's baseness and improper relations with a young girt with whom he has eloped, peralist in believing that her husband will return to her. In the meantime she stands ready to do all she can to protect him from the maddened brother and parents of the girt he has led to ruin. At the conclusion the wife meets this girl and couvinces her that a wife's love is more sacred than that of a mistress, whereupon the latter shoots herself. No similar treatment of complicated love has been offered in a play up to the present time, wherefor the critics can not wholly agree as to its success.

The Herald has this way: "This view of love is, at least, a new one of the old triangle, and it offers some new situations which the andience seemed to relish, for it applanded New York Dec. 20 (Special to The Billboard).

Warfield's New Play Announced

New York, Dec. 21 (Special to The Billboard).

The title of the new play which David Belasco has written for David Warfield has finally become known as The Beturn of Peter Grimm, a play which in many ways promises to be one of the most worthy turned ont by the aesthetic playwright. It is to have tita first performance at the Hollis Theatre, Boston, Mooday, Jaconry 2. Supposition has become husy and there is talk astir that this new play with the long tillis may replace The Music Master in Warfield's repertoire. The Grand Army Man was written for that purpose, but could not afterwards be used, and it is stated that Mr. Belasco has determined not to stagnate Warfield in a single role forever, as was the case of James O'Nell in Monte Cristo, and other performers of big magnitude. The new play is in three acts, and the position is asammed therein thet there is life after death. The company is and to have been in rehearsal for a period of six weeks, and inclindes in its cast Marie Battes. Jeannette Dunbar, Marie Reicherdt, John Selmopolis, Thomas Melghao, Joseph Breunan, William Raag, John F. Webber, Fercy Holton and Tuny Beven.

SOTHERN AND MARLOWE IN REP-

New York, Dec. 21 (Special to The Biliboard).

—E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowa returned to the comedies of Shakespears by presenting The Taming of the Shrew at the Broadway Theatre, Monday night, December 19. The co-stars presented the comedy as a farce, so that, according to the World, it was in a broadly morous spirit, and with swiftly moving, buoyaot, rollicking action that it was give. The mode of interpretation of the play is a matter of choice. Other aminent actors have preferred a more restrained key of high comedy, but Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe are quite justified in the manner in which they act it. Sothern as Petruchio curbe Katherine with ample violence and tyranny, but always betrays his feigned roughness by the satisfied twinkle in hie eyes. Miss Marlowe's Katherine is the prood, etubborn, virusish woman through and through until the geatleness that is latest in the character, wells up at the fasi curtain. Her interpretation is character, wells up at the fasi curtain. Her interpretation is character, wells up at the fasi curtain liest minutes of her subjugation, which was accomplished in a manner so characteristic of the renowned actress.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

The question of the appointment of a crosor for the theatres of Vancouver came np at a special meeting of the council held recenily. A motion was made hy one of the aidermen that an amendment to the city charier be obtained giving power to appoint a censor for all smusements, the authority extending to the supervision of the hills posted, programs, etc. The Mayor took the floor in opposition to the motion. He said the proposal aimed at taking away the right of ellisens to judge for themselves as to the right or wrong of things in the smusement line. There had never been say thing at local theatres which warranted a call for such drastic action.

The police were keeping watch on the theatres and anything which had the appearauce of being barmful was stopped immediately. He cited Toconto, where a censor was employed, which allowed a play that was barred lu many cities. Bills were posted up the like of which has never been seea here. Adults should be allowed to judge to a certain degree as to the class of eartrainment they preferred. He thought it was up to the parents to look after their children. He did not see the wisdom of legislating when there was no apparent evil. The motion was lost.

OMAHA, NEB.

Businesa at the local theatres has only been fair during the week previous to Christmas and the holiday week, which was expected by the local managers, and the houses did not have anything out of the ordinary to offer their patrons. However, the patronage has been about on an average with the past years, during the Ynletide season.

Omaha will be the farthest western polut in the tour of the New York Hippodrome, which comes to the Auditorium for the week commencing Jan. 9. The company numbers 600 and takes a train of fifteen cars to transport the scenery and all. To give this hage apeciacie room, the atage of the Auditorium will be extended into the body of the house thirty feet, and apecial arcs put in to light it. The Auditorium seats eight thousand and Manager Gillan expects the seating capacity to be taxed at every performance. Matinees will be given daily. There are only about a dozen cities to be visited by this great traveling organization and Omaha feela proud of the fact that it has been placed on the route.

Col. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) dropped into Omaha Dec. 18, to apend a few days visiting his boat of old friends. "The acason just closed was the most prosperous I have had aince I went into the show business." said Col. Cody in interview. "From the time we opened at Madison Square Garden. New York City, until the closing night at Little Rock, we did not miss a day nor even a performance. There was not a serious accident to mar the entire season. This is surely a record to be proud of."

Mike Russell, of Deadwood, S. D., a lifeliong friend of Cody's, went to Little Rock when the show closed and accompanied Buffalo Bill to Arisona to visit the mines. They also visited quite a time at Major Lillie's reach to Oklahoma, and also at the Miller Bros.' Iof Ranch. Col. Cody is getting up a hunting party of old friends from Omaha and other citles and will go in for big game up in Wyoming. Col. Cody usually makes it a rule to organize a untiling party right after the show season.—and then ita 'off to the game preserves.' The famous old scout is never so happy as when ou a hig hunt, and as to whether his eye is attill clear and his aim true, you have but to ask any member of one of these exclusive hunting parties.

C. H. Thompson, former adjuster with Selis & Downs, and numerous other circusers, and now one of Toronto's real eatate kings, can thank his circus training for his quick will. Last week the pay-sayou-culer street car agatem caused a riot and all passengers immediately got out of the cars. Not so lucky was a passenger saswering to the description of fair, fat and forty, however. The only one inside the car at the time. With the first sign of atome-throwing with all his corpulence he dropped on the floor on nils alomach in the middle of the car between the scats. Fortunalely he was not injured, though covered with sollniered glass. He was rescued by a body of policemen who drew away the attention of the crowd. When he escaped he muttered libings not found in the average hymn book.

Two New Plays, A Love Tale and The Woman and Jumping Jack. Have Premieres—Generalities and Gossip of Professionals in Paris

Add to two productions of naw plays two revivals and a revue, sod you will have the totat of this week's activities in the show husiness here.

It sterted at the Athenee. Les Bieus de l'Amour (The Blues of Love, or, what seems to be a better translation, A Love Tale) is a three-act comedy, by Romain Coolins, and, as three-act comedy, by Romain Coolns, and, as nearly as a French writer could make it so, it no exception. Engaged though she has always been, to Bertrand, she is soon desperately in love with Gaspard. At this moment it is learned that Gaspard had been married to a glei in Ohlo. Further complications. Delightful scenes. Bully situations.

In tha end all is settled to suit all comora. Gaspard's Oblo wife is found to be a mythine invented her to stave off the matrimonist schemes of the Countess, his annt. So after all be torns out to meet all requirements, avaouthous of the Countess.

The piece is exceptionally full of the wit for which French plays have long been noted and coolus has put some of bis beat work into this stage on the American banks of the Big Pond. V. Bonchier as Gaspard; Casalis as Bertrand, Mme. A. Leriche, and Mme. A. Barelly, as Mile. Bertin, the actress, are each exquisite, Bonchier being exceptionally good in all of his access.

AT THE ANTOINE.

La Femme et le Pantin (The Woman and tha Jumping-Jack), which this week saw the light for the first time, at the Theatre Autoine, is in foue acts and five scenes. It is hy Pierre Louys and Pierre Frondaie.

As the title suggests—and personsily I think the titls is a corker—the story simply shows how a woman makes a jumplog-jack of a man. Dom Mateo Dian, a rich Soaniard, has had for yests as his mistress, Bisnea Romsol. But anddeuly he fells in love with Coochs Perez, a Gynsy dancing girl, and determines, at any cost, to possess her. Bisnea bosecches Concha to leave Mateo to her and with tests streaming from her eyes tells how abe cares for him. Concha tangha at her and tannia her for her weakness. But tells her that Mateo is nothing to her, Coochs, and for the other woman to take him if she wants him so badiy. Mateo appears and drives Bisnes away and obtains a promise from the grays that she will be his on the morrow—providing, ahe slipplistes, ha does not tell suyone. But in his ciation Mateo tells tha dancing giel's mother and gives her money. Disgusted, Concha flees.

The last act shows the house of Mateo. A Frenchman has come to plead the cause of Bisnoa, and Mateo seems to be stricken sudenly with a sense of only. He agrees to take Bianca back and go to France. The Frenchman goes to find Bianca and while away the gypsy giri appears on the seene. The Sarah-Bernhardt likewies will have a change of attractions. 'Homme Mysterienz and l'Attaque Nocturne will be taken off and in their stead will be seen La Damme suz Camelias, with Mms. Marie-Lonise Derval and M. Darsay in the pelucinal parts. This will be only a temporary reviral of Camille, however, as rehesrasia will commence at once for Les Noces do Panurge which ta shortly to be produced. This play is in five acts and sis secues. Felix Galipsuz, the actor who absred homors with Lancian Guitry in Chantecler, he playing the Blackbird, will interpret the main theme, the role of Panurge.

CIRCUS OWNERS CONVENE

First Convention of Recently Organized Circus Proprietors' Association to be Held at Palmer House, Chicago, Dec. 29—Raise in Billposters' Rates Will be Discussed

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 21 (Special to The Billboard).—The convention of the circus men, whose organization is one of the recent happenings, will take place at the Palmer House, Chicago, Thursday, Dec. 29.

At this meeting, among other business, a committee will be appointed to negotiate with the circus committee of the hillposters association in regard to the prices and conditions to govern the relations of the season of 1911.

The raise in raise announced hy the billposters and the revenue, but because of the encouragement is and the newspapers in their antagonism to billposting and billiboards.

THE AVIATION CIRCUS.

It has arrived—the eviation circus!

A new enterprise has seen the light of day in the abov-world; an incovation that is entirely different and in many ways akin to stage-land end the tan-bark arens.

The International Aviators, Inc., headed by Aifred J. Moissant, a Sonth American mineowner and capitalist, is on the road for a furty-week tour. Not only has Mr. Moissant secured six of the irading aviators of the world as his atar performers, but he is mubilizing alde-show features that will still compare favorably with those of any circus in the country.

The International Aviators, Inc., is something new. The idea when first proffered was

A cat once died of curiosity. No one knew whose cat it was, but tradition says that it was a nice tabby.

The people of Richmond are nice people, so are the residenia of Memphis, New Origans, Havana, Dalias, Galvesion—to say nothing of the score of other cities that the International Avistors, Inc., wilt visit.

So Moissant profited by the fate of the cat. "They can took over the feuce and see Johnny and the others fly, but I'll get something that'll arouse their curiosity and bring them inside." he decided.

And he did. He began organizing a Midway. This process is still under way. When completed the combination of Midway and aerial artists will prove a magnet that the least curious can not resist, it is said.

ED. CARR & ROSE WENTWORTH.

Miss Wentworth has been in the show husiness for several seasons, and it was while appearing with a well-known carnival that she met the millionaire ranch owner, to whom she is now married. Miss Wentworth and her husband are rehearsing an act at present which will go into vaudeville next summer.

taughed at by the wise men of the North, the East, the South, and the West. But Alfred J. Moissant is not a man to think long about anything. He thinks once, figuratively speaking, and then acts. Several months ago be conceived the idea of touring the country with an aggregation of aviators.

Just about this time foreign as well as American bird-men were gathering in New York for the loternational meet at Belmont Park. The finest aeroplane drivers in the world were there. Moissant had his pick of the control of world were there. Moissant and his pick unthem.

He secured contracts with his brother. John B. Moissant, of Taris to London and Statue of Liberty fame: Charles K. Hamilton, who fiew from New York to Philadelphia: Rene Simon, son of a French millionaire, and, on account of his recklessness, known as "the fool figer"; Roland Garros, one of the few air-men operating the tricky little Demoiselle, the smallest seroplans in the world; and John J. Frishle, the relevant balloonist, who has given up the parachate and gas bag for something more thrilling. Edmund Andemaurs, who landed in New York only last week, is on his way to join the aggregation at New Orleans.

A few days after the conclusion of the Bel-

New York only last week, is on his way to join the aggregation at New Orleans.

A few days after the conclusion of the Belmont Park meet, the International Aviators, Inc., started on the road in their own apectal train. Their first atop was at Richmond, Va., where they just "dropped in," with only two or three days notice.

The meet at Richmond—from a flying standpoint—was great. Financially—well, the least said about that the better.

The people went eraxy over the aviators: they were the men of the hour. They were wined and dined: box parlies were given in their house, receptions were held for them and thousands went out to the park to see them fly. But the great trouble—"Aye, there's the rub"—was that the great majority atood on the outside, looking in.

Hundreds of the richest people in Richmond, augmented by thousands of the less fortunate, stood on the exterior of the aviation field and clapped and cheered the airmen on to great conquests. No less than four times did Alfred J. Moissant send his aviators over the city in an effort to draw the crowds. They came out all right, but insisted on ataying outside. Nice, wasn't it? Ris show, big city, enormous expenses—thousands on the outside tooking in: a handful on the inside looking up! "What will I do?" Moissant asked himself.

The aviators went from Richmond to Mem-phis. At Memphis the further need of taside phis. At mempus the initial action attractions was more forcibly demonstrated. The grand-stand gave a good imitation of "The Deserted Village," but the crowd outside was by serted Village," but the crowd outside was by no means small.

Charlie Hamilton had an idea, but Charlie was strennously ruled out of order. He offered to fly over the crowd outside, dropping a pound or so of sneezing powder from his biptane. Great atmit, wasn't it? It wasn't. "Big Chief," said "No!" very emphatically.

Three weeks were spent in Memphis organizing, rehearsing and perfecting the business details of the company. Incidentally as many daring and thrilling exhibitions were crowded into the three weeks as possible for the benefit of Memphians.

In discussing the practicability of night fights John B. Moissant, whose achievements during his short career as aviator, have placed him at the top of his profession, said: "I would rather a great deal fly by night than in-the daytime. In the first place you have not the sun's rays to worry you; and then, too, the air is a great deal better."

From New Oriesns the avistors go to Dallas, Tex.; Galveston. Tex.; Havans. where a two weeks' meet will be beld under the anapices of the Chhan Government; then back to the Sistes, swinging along the western coast, visiting San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and other cit-

The International Aviators not only bare their own train, a hig top for a hanger, a full tent crew, an excellent publicity department, but they have let out concessions for the one great, capityating feature that is irrestatible to boys of ten years as well as those of two score and five—red lemonade.

It is the first aviation circus. It is acmething

It is the first aviation circus. It is something entirely new, and American ingeooity again forges to the front. This venture will be watched with great interest, for it means much. Upon its aucress or failore will in a great measure depend the further efforts to make "greater, and bigger, and better than ever before," the aerist circus.

assassination of Abraham Lincoin. Desiring to attract patronage, Dan Rice was secured at a salary of $1,000 a week for thirty weeks, and at this figure he remained in Forepangh's employ for three seasons. For eight years he invested his earnings of the show in its aniargement until the numbee of exhibition cages reached forty-four. Until 1876 the aggregation had moved by wagon but thereafter traveled by rail on its own trains. Forepangh was emperity a practical man and gave evarything about the show his personal supervision. Undoubledly to this sitention is due the fact that he never antiered a financial reverse. 'Forepangh was born in Philadelphia, February 23, 1830, and died in the same city January 22, 1890. The Robinson Show, a name that has been carried by traveling circuses for almost a century, was organized by "old" John Robinson, the head of the famous Robinson family of circus people. He was born in Ciocinnsti in 1804 and with Gilbert M. Eldredge, organised the Robinson and Eldredge Great Southern Circus, which was successful, particularly in the South. In 1836 he retired, but mable to withstand the call, by re-embarked in the handness in 1837, purchasing the Flagg and Aymar outif, which he rechristened The Robinson Show. During the season of 1835 he formed a co-partnership with Phil Lake, an arrangement which continued until 1862. The two ensuing seasons he made an alliance with his brother Alexanier. Up to the spring of 1871 Me. Robinson remained the sole proprictor of the "old" John Robinson family. The show's present owner is John Robinson family. The show's present owner is John Robinson.

Cincinnal!. August 4. 1888, the show has passed into the hands of the third generation of the Robinson family. The show's present owner is John Robinson.

The success of Isasc A. Van Amburgh in the circus field was achieved as a trainer of wild animals. He first came into the limelight at the old Bowery Theatre in New York. Previous to this time he had made his first appearance as a "iton king" at the Zoological Institute. With a crowning halo of success aftee his Bowery engagements he was innustred with inducements to go shroad. He finally accepted an offee and tonered Great British and France with remarkable success. Within and France with remarkable success. Within and France with remarkable success. This wenture was eminently successful. Upon his return to America, Van Amburgh successfully toured his native country for many years. Fishkill, New York, was the birth place of this showman. He died Nov. 29. 1865.

Recently was recorded the removal from the rapidly thinning earths of old-time showmen, one who had attained in his day an eminent position in his chosen vocation, namely. James L. Hntchinson. Hntchinson died at Shelter Island. Long Island, New York, on September 4, 1910. while playing golf. He was sixty-fone years of age. The date of his birth was Nov. 18. 1846. The career of this showman was begun with his engagement as canvasman with Lake's Circus. This position no proving very remonerative and at the same time placing npem him many hardships. Hatchinson left the show. In 1863 he joined Mahle's Menagerie and remained with that outfit until the cross of the season of 1864. From 1808 until 1809, inclinaire, he traveled with the Ysakee Robinson Show and in 1870-73. Having acquired a handsome rapital he entered upon the most successful period of his career. At that time he joined P. T. Barnom's biography, at handsome reptial he remained with Barson'm during the season of 1872-73. SUES RAILWAY COMPANY.

Son Antonio, Tex., Dec. 23.—Alex Glasscock, one of the owners of the Glasscock Shows, filed suit against the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass Railway in the forty-fifth district court a few days ago for damages to the amount of $18,000 for the loss of Bahy Mike, an elephant belonging to the show. The pisintiff. In his petition, stated that on Nov. 18, 1910. Bahy Mike and two or three other elephants, full grown, were loaded into a car at Falls City for shipment to Boerne. While the car was atanding on a switch in the yards in San Antonio, a string of cara was backed into it with such violence that the pachydermian occupants were thrown into a heap with Baby Mike at the bottom of the pile, and that when he was extricated he was in a hadly smaahed condition. Efforts to save its life failed. The pachydermia death was due, says the piaintiff, to the negligence of the railway company's employes.

HEARD IN ADVANCE.

Pretty girls in ticket booths in front of moving picture shows remind us always of the fair damsels of romance who were shut np in towers and dungrous for heave knights to rescue. Especially in cold weather we feel sorry for these unfortunate tades, and if we were not an old married man and father we should be templed daily to take a thestre by assanit and bear a buse but beautiful prisoner sway to a steam radiator.—Collier's Weekly.

A young man, pondering the advisability of marriage, went to a wise man foe advice, "Son," asid the wise man, "marry or remain as you are—whichever course you take, you'll regret it."

Thus is measurably true of all things, and wisdom dictates that one choose the course in which the fewest regrets will come.

I was paying my hill at the American Hotel, St. Louis, when a "rural guest" said to the hotel treasurer:
"I tunk you ought to make some reduction on my hill, lady,"
""Chase we didn't use the hath tub or the telephone, and my wife made up the bed this morning."

It's compnisory to base a sweet disposition around the Lyceum Theatre in Detroit. Why is it? Well, to begin with it is absolutely impossible to be otherwise. You commence to feel the inoculation when Allie Warner greets you; you feel more when Harry Bart says "howly:" commence to iose ground when J. Oliver Smith speaks "saintations;" you slip hard when "fixing John," the advertising erent, yells "helio;" hut you're gone into a whiripool foe fair when the "hroliers" in the campr shop say "welcome kiddo, how are you this season." Lot o' class to all connected with the Lyceum and you feel as though an agent's life had finally blossomed into one worth living and there—aye and them—comes Chas, Altuan, with his one-sheet boards and the dream is o'er!

There was a rumor from Minneapolis last week, that the engagement in that city of Miss Rose Metiville in her original Sis Hopkins, was the last on any stage of this famous character. This is an error, as it was given out in Kanssa the last on any stage of this famous character. This is an error, as it was given out in Kanssa City, when Miss Meiville was here at the Graud Opera Hoose the week of Dec. 18, that most assuredly she would continue en tour the rest of this season any way, and while Sis Hopkina night not he Miss Meiville's vehicle next acason, Miss Meiville would in all probability be on the stage.

Miss Mondane Phillips joined the Anditorium Stock Company this week. Miss Phillips is in vandeville and her home is in Kanssa City. She came here to apend two weeks with her parents. However, instead of resting she accepted the offer of Geo. E. Lask, director of the atock company, and aigned a contract to appear in the leading part in Forty-Fiva Minness From Broadway at the Anditorium Christmas week. Following New Year's week she will relurn to her vanderilla engagement in Chicago.

The Anditorium Stock Company is holding a piay-writing contest. This contest began Dec. 1 and closes Dec. 31, at ten o'clock. Some amhitiona playwright, amateur or professional, will thus have an opportunity to see his own work produced here for It is the intention of Manager Lehman of the Anditorium Theatre, to produce the winning play here, and then send it to New York, with Mr. Lask's recommendation. Mr. Geo. E. Lask is stage director of the Anditorium Stock Company, and is a thoroughly experienced showman. The following are the rules governing the contest:

All manuscripta must be typewritten. They must be are the name and address of the anthor, must be accompanied by e self-addressed and atamped envelope for return.

The contest began Dec. 1 and will end Jan. I. No manuscript will be received later than 10 o'clock the uight of Dec. 31.

The winner of the contest:

Joe Lomsa, for the past fourteen years clarionetist of the Grand Opers House orchestra, before leaving here Dec. 13 to join John Philips Scusa's world's all-star band of musiciana as first clarionet at New York, was presented by his Hamilton friends with a beautiful diamond ring, a massive ateamer trunk, and a bandsome traveling bag. Certainly this was a fine tribute. At the Grand Opers House, Dec. 13, Mande Adama and Company in J. M. Barrie's comedy, What Every Woman Knows, played to the isrgest, most enthusiastic and most fashlonable ardileuce this season. Over 2,000 people witnessed the performance, and all left in ectacies. S. nessed the performance, and all left lu ecutacica. S. R. O. sign bong ont for the first time this season.

Laurs Martiere Brand, Buffalo's clever singing, daucing and talking comedience, clowed her return engagement at the Crystal Palace Theatre, Dec. 17, and scored as strongly as on be initial appearance at this house, four weeks previous. She proved a strong box-office asset for Manager Clayton.

Victor Moore, as Dick Brennan, in The Happiest Night of His Life Company, which playal the Grand, Dec. 15 and 16, made a tremendons lit with his bright comedy. The entire company were greeted with great enthealasm, worth approval to the artists in the most pleasing musical comedy production presented at the Grand Opera House this aeason. Victor Moore, in his usual slangy expressions, was great, and the haseball jonk be sent over received such a salvo of bundclapping that he was forced to a curtain call, and in response delivered a clever apeech in his musul, and company, a trio of clever apeech in his usual custants.

Separtism Merrill and company, a trio of expert bicyclists, headliners, Temple Theatre, week of Dec. 12, proved e great ettraction. Two men complete e daring somersanit off of a steep incline with two riders in the esddle on a tandem. The act was a thriller and is one of the most sensational rests in vandeville. It was a good topliner for Msnager Jack Appleton's plessing bill.

SPOKES IN THE WHEELS.

Welcks as the very genteel store proprietor, worked easily and looked well, dressing his part in a most refined styte. He is evidently new to hurlesque and is free from the usual coarseness—or should I say brusquenes, of the average straight man in burlesque. Jimmy Connors, as Willie Nott, an actor, did remarkably well and made a high fit with his parodict, which he sang during the action of the second act.

All of the women with the abow are young and all are good-looking. This refers to the the show when I saw it is at week at the Pittshurg Gnyety, and of this act I feel bound to say a few words. They were the Mszetti Tronpe of serbats, consisting of nine people, seren men and twn girls. Their work is of the ordinary run of acts of their kind excepting that they surpass anything of the kind ever seen on a baricagae stage, or for that matter, on any nther stage. Their four high pyramid work and the triple somersanit of the youngest topmounter onto the alsoulders of another member of the tronpe, fairly brought the house down, with regard to the itentz-Samiley Show I might say that there are better shows on both wheels hat all in all the show is good and is possessed of many festures which are an innovation and a triamph in barlesque.

There is a new theatrical paper on the market which is to be devoted solely to the interests of bnriesque. If they keep no coming the variety performer will have to strike for an increase in satary to enable him to afford to read the bnriesque ravings of a bnndred more or less competent writers. Here's to the success of the new paper. Let 'em all come—the more the merrier.

Barney Gerard is still waiting for a check from the Big Fnnr, in payment for the damage done to his show by the haggage car fire on that road last April. The railroad considered Barney's claim excessive and the matter of payment is atlit simmbering.

The Omaha stand has been an exceedingly successful venture for the Commhia Amnsement Co., although it has its disadvantages, insofar as a deal of the profits are taken up hy the expenses of the long jump in Minnespolia, the following stand. By some arrangement with the railroad the shows were given a full week at the Omaha Gayety at the comencement of the present season, and played the Saturday shows as at other stands.

An Actor's Resolution.

As Christmas time has come and gone, And left us full of cheer, With mem'ries of half-salaries, And friends that cost us dear; We abake with apprehension when we Center our attention On the goodly resolutions we must Make for the New Year.

Oh, the times I've sworn off drinking.

'Inen resumed when cups were clinking—
Starts me hosily to thinking
Just bow futile such things are.

When I ptace a han on smoking,
I invertably 'wake, choking,
And go searching in the darkness for a.

Match and a cigar.

I see my friends all was their heads,
And smile quite knowingly,
When I hold up my hand and say:
"Get this new one from mel"
It's "No more superstitions;" Ah, you laugh
When your suspicions
Prompt the thought that never from them
Can an actor-man be free.

Oh. you'll raise your eyehrows alightly
When you hear me whistle nightly
In the dressing-rooms unsightly,
Th dispell their dismai gloom.
It will make me all the gladder,
To walk under that prop. ladder.
Watching ynu grow mad and madder,
Apprehensive of my doom.

When I unnack my make-up box,
And find the mirror broke,
I shall not roundly curse the tuck,
But take it as a joke.
Should the house possess an organ,
All the wealth of Pierpont Morgan
Cannot keep me from attacking it—
The dusty keys I'll poke.

If, when walking in the atation,
All the black cats in creation,
Pass me, without hesitation
I would pet a derk feline;
And when sleeper-jumps we're taking.
This request you'll hear me making:
—Every precedent a-shsking—
"Berth '13' I'll have for mine."

I am going to sell that good old trunk,
And buy a camel-back,
Just to see your frightened faces
When you watch me as I pack.
Shunld I find an ancient curtain,
Whose efficiency's uncertain,
You will see me kick the roller with
A strong and aturdy whack.

What's that! Hear the show is closing!
Yes, I must have been a-dosing.
Oh. a fine you are imposing.
'Cause I slept and missed my cue!
Well, It's only retribution
For my inane resolution,
And I secut my execution,
If that foolish dream came true.

Eastern Co., Time, Place and Girl. Season 1910-11.

principals who are Audrey Lang, Loretta Moore, Isabelia Miller, Peart Held, Mnrwa Williams, Eleanor Carroll, Helen Scott and Flo Dumont. The last two are choristers hut are well worthy of mention, especially Miss Dumont, who led a number in the opening, which was one of the musics hits with the show. The number was Moonlight on Broadway, in which Miss Dumont, who tooked and sang well, was assisted by part of the chorus, all of which carried sult cases. During the song, the girls changed from their dresses to neat knickerbocker suita, while the chorus boys joined the ensemble to a shuffle, which was danced npon the tops of the suitcases which were laid flat npon the stage for that purpose. At the exit the girls picked up the suitcases and turning them around towards the suidenee, disclosed a transparent effect through which glowed the light of small incandescent lamps. The stage and house lights were thrown off and a pretty effect was nbtained. All of the women did nicely as did the National Four, a quartet of excellent singers who materially hetped the show by their presence and versatility. One of those boys is an exceptionally quick wooden-shoe dancer and made quite a hit with his sole work in the deneling number with Pearl Reid and the fur boys, made quite a hit with his solo work in the deneing number with Pearl Reid and the finitions.

The immbers are conspicons by their variety and difference from the general routine work of the every-day hurlesque producer—but then Jack Mison is a producer and a dencer and doubtless was inspired to do his very best for a show in which he is financially interested. There is a deal of originality in the work, and several of the numbers are out of the ordinary. Sleepyhead, with the ponies entering in a roll over through traps in the side of the department store counter, the Moonlight on Broadway number and the automobile finish, are all clever creations, and have been produced with care and attention to detail. The pstriotic number used as a finise to the opening act, is on the old, worn-out fing order, but the andience liked it, so what's the use of criticizing. The girls all look welt, but the chorns is far from even and an effort has evidently been made to embody three types of chorns girls into too small a chorus. There are ponies, show girls and mediums, one of the show girls being of so lofty a statue that she would make an excellent candidate fur the next vacancy as gintess with one of the show girls being of so lofty a statue that she would make an excellent candidate fur the next vacancy as gintess with one of the show girls being of so lofty a statue that she would make an excellent candidate fur the next vacancy as gintess with one of the show girls being of so lofty a statue that she would make an excellent candidate fur the next vacancy as gintess with one of the show girls being of so lofty a statue that she would make an excellent candidate fur the next vacancy as gintess with one of the show girls being of so lofty a statue that she would make an excellent candidate fur the next vacancy as gintess with one of the show girls being of so lofty a statue that she would make an excellent candidate fur the next vacancy as gintess with

This, however, has been found impracticable, and the conditions of fast season are again in force, the shows now leaving Omsha on Saturday evening arriving at Minneapolis, early on Sunday. This gives the shows hut twelve performances at Omsha in place of fourteen as at all other atands west of Cleveland, and a corresponding decresse in the receipts at thus caused. When the eastern shows are able to invade some profitable town within easy intermediate distance of Omsha and Minneapolis, or can, by some other means, overcome the present invasificatory condition, the Omsha atand will become one of the hanner weeks of the western houses.

Did yon catch Billy Hart'a pretty tribute to his charming wife, Ls Belle Msrle in the Christmas Special number of The Billibosnd? Billy said ints of pretty things about the verastile Marie, and telia how sha can sing, dance, act, waik a wire, do contortion and acrobstica, play musical instruments, ride a horse, shoot a rife, and best of all, cook Billy a swell meal and sew huttons on his refractury shirts. Billy bas indeed a resson to be thankful, as Marie is aurely a prize. You've picked a winner, Bill, and I'm aure that your many frienda will reciprocate the good wishes you heraided in tast week's issue.

I wonder how Tom McGracken and Gladys St. John liked the hig picture of them which appeared in a recent issue of Tha Billhoard? I wrote to Tom a few months ago, addressing my tetter in a well-known theatricat paper. Tha letter was since returned inclaimed, where the still another paper, the hard since heard nothing from my friend Tom, atthough I believe he is atill in vandeville. Can it be that he is playing so many shows a day that he is nuable in find time to write to his old friends? Geet hut you must be husy, Tom.

Alice Brophy, this season with The Ducks.

Alice Brophy, this season with The Duck-tings (Western Wheel) has been indisposed, and was obliged to lay off for a few days. She cinsed with the show at Scranton, but will rejoin as soon as her voice is sufficiently rested to resume her work.

Lynn, Mass., Lodge No. 124, T. M. A., was organized last Sunday, Moses P. Pickering, deputy grand president, of Boston, organized the lodge.

last season with C. B. Arnold's Fads and Foiles.

George Armstrong, who has been for the pasi two weeks with Harry Hastings' Big Show, has just received an offer from the Morris mice for immediate vandeville time. George is asking a hig figure for his act and is undeclided as to his immediata arrangements. He is at to his immediata arrangements, and will play a week with the Al. Reeves Show at the Star & Garter, after which he will probably rest until after the holidays.

The one night-stand show which opened at the Appolio. Wheeling, and sent out by the Polack Booking Exchange, opened to over $700 at the Wheeling house and played to fair huisers for the remainder of the week. The show has been strengthened and will play as many osenight stands as can be booked, the opened weeks to be played by splitting the show isto two parts, each harietta taking half of the chorm, and playing some of the small vandeville houses booked by the Polsck office.

Those who have played the Gsyety, St. Louis, this season, are refolcing over the many improvements which have been made at that bouse. The dressing rooms there were slways noted for their inconvenience and general discomfort, but conditious have been changed. The place has been entirely renovated while hot sud cold running water have been fitted in all of the dressing rooms.

George Belfrage, with The Gay Muralag Glories, is playing the one-nighters through Pennsylvania, and reports fair husiness. I mel his agent, Geo. H. Turuer, in Pittsburg. He was looking for cborus giris, and stated that girls were the chief difficulty on the one-night stands. Mr. Turner is making good shead of the "Giories." He was, last season, with W. H. Truehart's California Giris, another buriesque show of the "Turkey" variety.

John D. Dougail, local manager for the Shapiro Music House at Pittahurg, states that he has received an offer from Harry Hastings to go with the "Big Show" next season. Mr. Dougail is some singer and made a hig hit tast ammer, ainging with Nirelia's Band, at the Hippodrome. Pittshurg.

Mnrray Simona la again with The Girts From Happyland, and has charge of all of the michanical and electrical lighting effects. This will make Mr. Simon's fifteenth year with the Hurtig's.

Christmas is done and gone, and I anpose that it is now up to us to wish each other a bappy new year. I feel as though I should should the existing fashion, and certainly ough to thank my many friends in the harlesus for the many kind presents, kind wishes and letters of congratulation which so many of you felt pleased to send me. I wish you all secreta and a 1011 of good health, and uninterrupted prosperity.

The now theatre at Savannsh, Itt., was opened Dec. 19 with the United Piay Company's production of The Lion and the Mouse. The town has a ponulation of 8 000 and has been wilbent theatrical entertainment for some time. Harley Davidson Defeats Frank Bryant at Duluth-Reminiscences of an Old Skater-Notes of Skaters and Rinks

By JULIAN T. FITZGERALD.

Chicago, Dec. 21 (Special to The Biliboard).—
That William Robinson, the undefeated roller skating star of 1908 and 1900, atill is in the game, was shown by the great exhibition of fasi skating that he showed in an exhibition of fasi skating that he showed in an exhibition do the skated at the Collseum Roller Rink at Fond du Lac. Wis., December 10. Robinson was asked to go to Fond du Lac at the request of Manage Al. Fisth, who has taken the Collseum Rink for the season. Robinson has not appeared in any skating event for over a year, and went into his akating exhibition without any training, and put up one of the fastest exhibitions for a half mile that would do justice to the best in his class. It ta now hoped that we will see Robinson back in the racing game be fore the season is over. Billie asid after his return that he felt just as good as ever before, and that he may enter that competition in the near future.

at the game, I attribute my condition to the excellent care I've taken of myself," he said. John H. O'Melia, of Angusta, Me., who left the employ of the atate to become assistant superlitendent of the Fidelity Trust Building in Portland, has the greatest record as a roller akater of any man who ever lived in Maine. He skated thousands of miles during his career as an amateur and professional speed artist, and never haked at any distance from one mile to a thousand. When he was seventeen years of age he skated aix days, a total of 1165 miles in 142 hours, and took second pisce. The winner, Wm, Donovan, of Eimira, N. Y., died from the effects of the terrible pace to which he was adviven. O'Melia's hair was gray when he finished, and he was a physical wreck. In those days there was no such thing as teams. Every man skated ail of the time. O'Melia began as a akate boy in the old Institute Fair Building, on Huntington avenne, Bostion, where the American League hasehall grounds are now altrasted. After he had been working about six months he entered one or two races as an amateur and won. Finding that he could show speed, he went after the championships and out an intercollegiate championship team. Winters knows the game as few know it. He has spent many years as a puck chaser, and certainly knows the finer points of the game. He is one of the best that Duluin ever produced, and the Ohio institution is fortunate in securing his services.

Hastey Davidson finished a three days' engagement at Duluih, Minn. On Friday night. December 9. Harley met Frank Rryant, the winner of forty-four races, and champion of the head of the iskes, and defesied him easy by one-fourth of a lap. On Smoday night, December 11, he met the same skater and wonfrom him by three-fourths of a lap, witbout any training only a little fancy skating the week before at Minnespolis. The crowd Smoday night numbered about 2.000 people, and in addition to Harley's race, he gave his usual fancy skating before the race. Harley is working out something new in the skating game, and as soon as it is brought to an lease he will let the public know about it. In all the time Harley lived in Minucapolis and St. Paul he never visited Duluth. Harley says that he races better this year than ever before. "Although I am old

As a professional he won a silver service at Worcester, Mass.; a diamond beit at Springdeld, Mass., and quite a large number of purses. His trainer was K. A. Skinner, then the five mite champion now a prominent Boston antomobile dealer. Johnny Nelson, then a champion hicycle rider, now a large dealer in jeweiry, prevailed upon him to enter the professional ranks. One Christmaa day he atarted in his first professional race, having for opponents Skinner, Chas Wallon (the old Lewiston polo player), and others, and won. O'Mella's explanation of how he happened to get into the six day race was as follows: "Pete Duryes, who married Viola Allen, came on to Boston, and asked him to enter, and he did so. The race was held in Madison Square Garden on a track which had nine laps to the mile. He skated for all that was in him and nearly won. He slept for several days after the race, and when he awakened, thought the pumice atone dust was still in his hair at first, but it never was dark again." HIS 'WIFE'S SWEETHEART (comedy: released Dec. 29; length 682, reet).—Jenkins has purchased for his wife a heantiful fur-lined coat and picture hat. Entering his home with these articles of feminies apparel, the covetousness of the servants is excited. The housemsid, who has a date with her sweetheart, wears the coat and bat. Mr. Jenkins aces the housemaid thus attired in the arms of a strange man. He mistakes the bousemaid for his wife. Rushing up, he proceeds to annihilate the supposed wrecker of his home, while the coat and hat, with its wearer, disappear. When Jenkins enters his home and dints his wife asleep and the articles in place, he is mystified, satisfied in a measure that he was mistaken. Sheeplishly he exits and atarts hack to the railrosd station, where he is this time just one second too late. Nothing to do now hut go home and wait for the train. On the way back, he esples the cost and hat, the wearer in the arms of a sallor. This time it is he kilchen maild. With a cry, "What, another?" he aprings at the sallor, and is effectively done up hy the 'hurly tar, the kilchen girl having beat it, putting the coat back where it is later appropriated by the colored maild. Mrs. Jenkins awakes, and discovering the loss, gives alarm, and a policeman is put on the trail. This policeman from her. Things look conclusire as to Jenkins helm the thier, and he is arrested, his wife motiled, and through her identification, is released. Jenkins' little act of generosity cost him several cases of heart failure, an arrest, a bedraggied ault of clothes, and two hisck eyes.

NESTOR.

AT CEDAR RIDGE (Drama; released Jan.
4; length — feet).—It was nothing but contrarineas on her fathee's part, so Dot declared, which kept him from resilaing Ned Sherwood's auperlority over Lewis Huntley, who, while not a bad man at heart, constantly spied noon hee and told her father every time she and Ned met.

The npebot of the matter was that Dan Netson declided to send his daughter away to school.

And it was after Jack had driven off with her for the station that Ned and Dan got into an argument. Hot-headedly the older man drew his gun, and in the atruggle which ensued, accidently discharged it, wounding himself. As Ned bent over the unconscious form, however, he believed that he had killed his employer, and realizing that Dot would have to know, he ran breathlessly through the woods to head hee off.

Almost overcome with the great misfortune which she believed had fallen upon her, the girl atill had presence of mind left to insist mon Ned going into hiding nntil things should quiet down. And right glad was she of her forethought, for, scarcely bad Ned lert the bingry than a poace of men, headed by Lewis, who had had heard the shots and hurded to the old man's side, hore in sight.

Sending them in an opposite direction from which Ned had taken, Dot drove home with all possible speed, where she had the happiness of duding her fathee slightly wounded, but very mad man. Knowing it was best for Ned to remain away for a few days, Dot hurried up to the cave with n hasket of supplies.

In turning quickly, however, to answer Ned's call, the girl fell from the rocks, and the result was a broken leg; so that, much against her will, Ned was forced to carry hee home, and brave the old man's wrath.

Fortuned you have a prevent had an exceeded in convincing Dan and the men that the wound had not been made by Ned's revolver, so that when the pring man appeared with Dot, he was eagerly greeted, and while the doctor looked after Dot. Dan expressed his approval of Ned in a manner to eause the young man to beam with

The does of anunal members of the Actors' Fund of America, are payable on November 24. It will be of assistance the the Fund if return postage should slways be enclosed. The fund is a charitable organization, and what it can save contributes to relieve the indigent. Prior to its establishment, sasistance for the impoverished professional was principally easual, indiscriminating, disproportionate and meagre, humilisting and disheartening. This state of affairs had long been admitted and deplored, the necessity for a change conceded, and remedies frequently attempted without success. In June, 1882, the present Actors' Fund of America was founded, and through it the principal dispensation of benevolence in the public amusement world is systematized and as bountiful as its tressury will allow. It is for the eligible applicants to its beneficences to calarge that treasury and make its existence permanent, and thereby assure future as wetl as present necessary reliefa, thereby assisting to eliminate further appeals for outside all which bitherto has been a sacrifice of independence and a stuitification of professional pride. Strennously labor to procure new life and annual members to the Fund, and also subscribers to ward the maintenance of The Actors' Fund Home. Do not procrastinate; do not backalide.

Cut out this annual membership application him, have it properly filled ont, and algued by two Fund members in good standing, or one or two well-known managers as references; then mail it with two dollars and return postage to the Fund's address.

FINE AND IMPRISONMENTI FINAL WARNING! Performers, Producers, Menegers, MADAME SHERRY" Amusement Proprietors, and others.

Performers, Producers, Menegers, at MADAME SHERRY" Amusement Proprietors, and others.

Office of WOODS, FRAZEE & LEDERER, (Sole Proprietors and Producers of the Musical Comedy, "Madame Sherry," Copyrighted), New Amrierdam Theatre, Naw York City.

To the Profession and Others:

The undersigned baving, at great expense, made and produced the musical success of 1910, known as "MADAME SHERRY." and being the sole proprietors thereof, the words and music of which were duly copyrighted, as provided for by the Federal Stainten of the United States, having been compelled to institute proceedings against persons violating their rights by using the words and music of such production, which resulted in an action in the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York, against Astels Ritchie, in which a preliminary injunction was duly granted by Judge Chatfield, and in which action thereafter, and on the 15th day of Ociober, 1910, a final judgment sustaining the copyright was duly entered against Adele Ritchie, in the office of the Cierk of the United States Organization of New York, the same being signed by United States Judge Lacombe, and desiring to prevent, if possible, a continuance of littgation against persons unlawfully using any part of the words or music, or any similation, imilation or partoy thereof, bereby give you notice that no one has any right to use the same without our written cannet, and that we have given no since consent.

WE CALL YOUR ATTENTION TO THE UNITED STATES STATUES, NOW IN FORCE, FOR THE PROTECTION OF COPYRIGHTS, AND THAT PERSONS UNLAW-FULLY VIOLATING THE SAME ARE LIARLE TO INDICTMENT BY THE UNITED STATES GRAND JURIES, AND THAT PERSONS UNLAW-FULLY VIOLATING THE STATUTES.

We particularly call your attention to the fact that proprietors and managers of theatres, or managers of productions, who permit the unlawful use of our property, to wit: the music and words or "MADAME SHERRY," or any similation, MISTATION or PARODY thereof, are also tiable to us as the sole owners and produ

A Letter from Australia

Sydney, N. S. W., Nev. 22, 1910.
To the Editor of The Billiboard:
Sydney at the present moment has got tha fever for building new theaties, and at the present moment there are no less than five beautiful new theaties in the course of construction.

Sydney at the present moment has got the fever for briticiting new theatres, and at the present moment there are no less than five inestifut oew theatres in the course of construction.

Mr. C. Speecer's new Lyric is fast approaching completion, and abould be ready for the opening on Boxing Day, the 26th of December, I must say that from the outside it presents a most imposing appearance. Mr. Spencer will continue to run his lyceum show as well, and with the two soling he should be able to make plenty of doltars. The new Adelphi is also blooming well to the front, and that will sooce be opened to the amnsement-loving public, but I am not too optimistic as to the location, but then there is an old saying, "All signs fail in dry weather." sed this may be nus of them. This theatre will bave a large seating capacity, but the one in be erected on the other portion of the ground and adjoining this theatre will be much more up-to-date as regards many tittle thiogs than the Adelphi. This will be osmed the Orpheom.

Mr. J. D. Williams' Culonial Nn. 2 Theatre will soon begin to loom up, as the men now are hard at it, some laying bricks and mortar, and others excavating for a basement, and also in gel te the bed rock for the walls in the building. This theatre will be built on totally different lines tu any that are being built, and will have anspended awaings in the front, and also all of the trade-marks of the M. P. P. Co. hulli-into the froot, so as to show as mediallons by day, and at night will be lituminated by electric light, and cause the whole ensemble to present a very fine and pleasing front. This theatre will be ready to open in February.

Mr. Williams has gooe to Melbourne to begin the building of the new theatre for the company in that city. The ground coat $120 000, sod will for a very great time to come continue to locrease in value, owing to it being located in the very lette portion of the elty, and on what is known as The Block.

The higgest vecture lot the building Plant, but which is now in the way of the earth, here is the ideal spot to locate the theatre.

The King's Theatre, next to the Glaciarium, seems to be doing very good, and I should say a paring trade, as each time that I have looked into the place there has been a good audience, and all seemed to be pleased with the piciners acreened. There have been many openatr theatres built in this city and suburbs, and they all seem to find their andiences, no matter how many of them are built. Mr. Walter Rrown, from San Francisco, has bought out the Qoeen's Theatre, and is at the present time engaged in making a lot of alterations in the way of seating and in the lighting of the theatre. This is a clean, cosey little place, but it has never been a great success. I hope that the present proprietor may hring good onsiness shillity in bis sid, and thus make it one of the beat. No reason why he should not do so.

At ther Majesty's Theatre, Our Miss Gibbs attil boids forth, and if all reports are to be believed, there is no need for any change foe some time to come. On the 8th lust, the following telegram appeared in the morning and evening dailies of the Australian Press as follows: "Methourne, Monday, Nov. 7, 1910.—Mr. Hugh J. Ward has purchased an interest in J. C. Williamson, Limited. Mr. Ward will become a director in the company in Sydocy, and work in conjunction with Mr. G. Tailia, director in Melbourne. Mr. J. C. Williamson, who is at present in Dresde, remains the governing director of the company." This was also conditued on the same day by the appearance of another telegram from Perth, W. A., reading as follows: "Mr. Hugh J. Ward confirmed the rumor that he had become a member of the firm of J. C. Williamson, Limited. Ha is now commencing a farewell tour of Ansiralia as actor-manager on his own account, and thereafter will retire from acting. Communing July lat next, he will join Messrs. J. C. Williamson and G. Tailia, and will become in resident managing director of the firm's interest in Syducy." The Morning Hermarks on the change: "Mr. Hugh Mard's world-wils experients as dancer, comedian, serious student of art, in characters requiring the exhibition of a gentle pathos, and finally as actor manager throughout Anstralia and New Zeal-and peculiarly fits him for the high and responsible position as an entertainer which he is now called nn in fill."

NEW YORK MUSIC NOTES.

J. Fred Helf has just returned from s ten weeks' demonstration tour, during which he and a large staff of singers and planists visited the principal cities in the East and the Middle West, popularising Pisy That Barber Shop Cherd, My Love is Greater Than the World, When a Boy From Old New Hampahire Loves a Girl From Tennessee, I'd Rather Say Hello Than Say Good-hye, Oh, Yon Rear Cat Rag: When My Marle Slors Chilty Billy Bee, etc. Mr. Hetf's latest song hits Hands Up, Don't Ynn Forget in Remember, Miss McCue, and Up the Bickety Stairs, won immediate favor and also enjoyed targe sates.

The Chicago office of the J. Fred Helf Co., in charge of Sadie Helf and Dave Weston, assisted by Fred Dempsey, Geo. Graity and Gus Winkter, has been temporarily located in the parior anite of Hint's Hotel, 148 Dearborn street. Professional singers are condistly lovited to call and listen to the latest Helf hits. Mr. Helf has secured offices in a prominent theat-rical exchange building in Chicago, to which his Western representatives will remove on Jan. his Wes 1, 1911.

The J. Fred lleif Co. has in press a number of new movelty and coon songs, written by Lewis F. Milr, in his own characteristic style and exceeding in interest anything the popotar anthor of Play That Barber Shop Chord. The Oklaboma Twirt and The Chility Blity Bee and Oh, You Rear Cat Rag bas ever composed.

acteriatic words and its catchy melody (which introduces a variation of the old favorite song) predict that it will be one of the hig popular hits of 1911.

Rene Anhrey's song repertory consists entirely of Helf bits, including the semi-classical ballad, My Love is Greater Than the World, the novelty success, Hands Up, and the new malix hallad, Don't You Forget to Remember.

The Misses Bell Gold and Elsa Ryan are making hig hits with the two publications, entitled What's Your Hurry, Birdle? and It's Awful Hard to Try and Be a Lady, in the production (Sam S. & Lee Shubert's) Two Men and a Girl.

J. W. Slern & Co. feel that they have gained unite a point by having the chief of Chicago police Indorse Nix on the Glow-Worm, Lens, after the publication of the etery in the press of that city that this musical selection had been placed on the forhidden list.

MUSIC NOTES.

Miss Miedell Kingsten is featuring Henry and Branen's new andience song, I'm Looking for a Nice Young Fellow, which is getting her three aed four encores at each performance.

Mr. Glenn Ellison, the English singer and character artist, to employing the new spotlight song, My, What a Funny World This Is, as well as Solman and MacDonald's comedy number, Follow the Car Tracks.

Mr. E. Clayton Hail has canceled all his vaudeville dates and has accepted a very tempting offer from the Baldwin-Melville Stock Co. Mr.
Hall is baving great success with If I Cenid See As Far Abead, Oh, That Glew Waltz, and I'm a Married Man.

My, What a Fuooy World This Is brings numerous enrish calls for Miss Mande Machen, singing comedieune in the South it present. +

Alfred Solman has written a new soog, a waitz number, entitled Yon Cau Win Me If Yon Woo Me While We Waltz. The Fries Sieters are golog well with this song, also Harry McCowan, character singer.

Five Hundred; more absorbing than Bridge yet less complex than Skat. : : : : :

The game of "Sixteen Hundred" may best be described as an elsboration of Five Hundred, which in turn is a combination of Euchre and Bridge. But Sixteen Hundred is more, much more, than a mere hodge-podge. It literally abounds in snares and pitfails for the unwary, and consequently provokes no and of mirth and hilarity.

It appeals atrongly to the skillful player also, for its possibilities in the way of anbite atrategies and clever comps are well uigh countless. FRICE, TEM CENTS.

Play With Me. It must be very gratifying to any performer after so long an absence to come back and receive such a reception as has been the esse in the present instance.

At the Hippodrome Edward Abeles has presented his aketch. He Tried to be Nice. It is not often that anyone travels 12.000 miles to present a sketch—I guess this must be a record—but the welcome the little play has met with must have compensating advantages. It certainly is one of the best nne-act playa we have had bere for a very long time and I should think the Palace people would like to keep Abeles much longer than the three weeks for which he is engaged.

BERNSTEIN PLAY.

BERNSTEIN PLAY.

Apres Mni! the new play by Henry Bernstein, will be put on at an early date at the Comedie-Francaise. Before Director Jules Claretie and the principal actors and actresses who are to take part in the play, Bernstein this week, read the plece and I understand that all who beard it were delighted. This will be the first work of Bernstein's to be produced at this "first theatire of France." Bernstein first submitted the play in acenario to Claretie at least two years ago. The whole thing is without a tirade or declamatory effect, it is said, and the action which is very rapid, is nevertheless sober and without literary hamperlogs of any sort.

M. Le Barry and Mme. Bartet, the chief players at the Comedie-Francaise, will have the principal characters to picture. Mm. Grand. Bernard and Grandval, with Mmes. Marie Leconte, Pierson, Biallie and Robinne, are other well-known artists who will have parts in the play.

In passing it might be remarked that Ls Fol. by Brieux, was read and refused by the Committee on Selections just before Apres Moi! was accepted. La Fol was produced in English under the name of False Gods and made quite a hit.

under the name of False Goos and hit.

At the theatre I ascertained that the reason for the refusal of Brienx's play was not at all on account of its lack of excellence—for those who heard it read were lond in its praise—but because it was feared that the public might object to it for religious reasons.

COMPARISONS.

COMPARISONS.

I was greatly amused recently by seeing in some of the Paris papers an account of Decorating Clementine, which, as everybody who knows anything at all shout the stage, knows was taken from the French, Le Bois Szere. Some of the critica, in reading accounts of this American presentation, suddenly made a tremendous discovery: Goodness gracious! Decorating Clementine is nothing more or less that Le Bois Szere! And this "American success" was in reality not an American success at all, but a French success!

My! What a find!

This week I had more fun. Another of the long-haired critics criticised the Anglo-American Company now presenting the de Fiers-Caillavet piece in London. I won't reproduce the entire thing; It would be too boring. Here, however, is the finish of it:

"In the role of Adrienne, Miss Doris Keanc showed a slight amount of style, but by starta and snurts only. She is not enough of 'the little animal.' M. Huntley (Zakouskine) is a bit of the lout and not very 'fine;' he makes people laurch anyhow. Miss Kattle Williams (Ohlordy! Kattle!) as Clementine, is very much at her case in the role, which abe makes quite 'comme il faut;' Louis Massen is a director of the Beaux Arts, roly-poly hnt without salt. Etchle Ling is possible up to the moment when he makes love to Adrienne. From then on he is just the reverse.

"One feela that the troupe, after its season at New Yurk, has cohesion and this homogenity is pleasant to see. Yes, that's it: Homogenity is pleasant to see. Yes, that's it: Homogenity after the contractions aritists, very consciencious, who know their work. Agreeable, pretty costumes, pretty after settings.

"But

"MUSIC."

He is the grandson of Alexander Dumas, fils. Serge Lipman is his name. He has a studio in Paris. I understand he has just finished, or is putting the fulshing touches upon. a new nperetta entitled. Le Coquelin, and those who have beard the music pronounce it delicious and sure to help make the young man as famous as were his grandfather and great grandfather before him.

Fra Diavolo is the bill at the Trianon-Loyique. Certainly this is not a very startling bit he news, but the theatre is doing exceedingly well. People like these nid pleces, it seems.

One of the critics of Ernest Bloch's Macbeth, which I reviewed hriefly last week, describes it as "frended Dehnesy." A discussion has arisen because of the music as to whether the proper musical expression of the borrinle, is discord, since, as some critics aver, Macbeth is one discord from start to finish, and accumnistes every imaginable discordant effect, almost always in furious fortissimo. It is one ion-"praroxysm of disconance." I quote this as out for the extreme views taken by critics.

Yvette Guilbert's success among her young

Yvette Guilbert's success among her young students of singing, has caused the Gymansto revives for a matines performance the charming little opera of J. J. Rousseau, Le Devin du Village. The Guilbert chorus and ballet will take part.

MOTION PICTURES.

It is a marvel to me, the prices they charge here for motion picture shows. Another is the price they charge for prize fights. At a recent fight between au unknown, one "Jim" Johnson and Sam McVey, at a roller skating risk, the prices went as high as $20 a sent. Some nerve! At the American Biograph, where the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures are being exhibited, the prices range from 50 cents for standing room to $2 for a seat. That is likewise going some.

Dec. 12 is the date set by Directeur Tarride, of the Rensissance, for the first performance of the long-looked for plece, Le Viell Homme. Mon Ami Teddy will, of course, be taken off.

Romeo and Juliette, with Berlioz's incidents music, will be given at the Odeon next week. The translation is that of Louis de Gramou, and will be played in three sets: A public square in Verons, a atreet and the cemetery.

Mme. Gaby Dealys, the famous (since the fall of the Portugese kingdom) French actress, recently was presented with a bill for $3,000 worth of automobile tires. Sha kicked. It was found out that her English chanfleur bad been buying them and then converting them into eash with which be had large times in the night eafes of Montmartre. A complaint was lodged against him but when Mme. Dealys and what a hullabaloo it attired up in the papers, she withdrew it.

He made the mistake of accepting the offer to race on three days' notice, went the distance without training, and lost by two feet. Since then his only connection with roller skating has been as manager of a public rink.

Clande Wilson defeated Robert Garean in the ome-half, mile professional ice race at the Ice Palace. Chicago, Wednesday night. December 14, finishing the distance in 1:39. This was the first of a program of four races, the last of which was between Norval Baptie, world's skating champlon, and Herman Leweck, the former winning. The race which, was at a quarter mile was finished by Baptie in 32 seconds, Leweck having advantage of a 60 yard handlesp. The quarter andle class 'C' amateur race was won by Fred Marzoiph, of the Donelass Park Stating Clob, in 44 seconds, over Holger Jensen and W. Simmons. The quarter mile race between clerks of the Union Trust Bank was won by Edward Turnquist, in 48 seconds, over A. Anderson and Geo. Wild.

The second of the series of four class "C" races for amateurs was akated December 15, at the Chicago Ice Palace. It was one of the most evonly skated races of the season. The distance skated was one mile and was won by Fred J. Marzolph, Nels Jacobson, second, both from the Bongiass Park Skating Clim. J. G. Johnstone finished third. The time was 3:56 2.5, A half mile professional handicap was won by Norval Bantle, skating from scratch. Cland Wilson from the Gity-yard mark finished second, with Robert Garcan, seventy yards third. The time was 1:22 1-5.

McSwigan. of Duquesme Garden, tu put in rollers instead of artificial ice at the Garden this winter. He was akeptical but agreed and has been surprised at the business dous ever since. "Gan say without fear of contradiction that I have the best equipped roller rink in this country. The floor is 90 by 200, or carefully selected maple, well laid and kept in perfect condition, 2,500 pairs of Richardson skalenand they are kept up to the bighest atandard. The Garden is in a residence district and for ten years has run ice skating. It has always been paironized by the best people of Piliahurg and who are keeping up the tone, If the managers of roller rinks would may more attention to the kind of people they admit and run the binsiness on the inside the way it ought to be run, there would be no cry about roller akating being dead.

HANDICAP MAN WINS.

New York, Dec. 24 (Special to The Biliboard),

—C. Lowney, of Newark, made good use of a liberal handleap of alxty yarda last Thursday evening at the Metropolitan Boller Rink New York City, leading home a large field of professional roller skaiers in a two-mile event, in the fast time of 5:54. The race was a apecial event, and as the prize, Mr. John P. Magner, of the Metropolitan Boller Riok, bad offered a large cup, to be lo the possession of the winner for a year. The nansual trophy attracted a classy field, among them William Blackburn, the Eastern champion; Harry Burke, the young Bridgeport flyer; L. Mason, of Newark, and Frank Brower, of New York.

Lowney hil it up at the atart, and was aconleading the field, with the acratch man. Blackburn, and the low bandleap men, fighting it out in the rear to pass use another. Lowney malotained bia advantage, winning by about ten yards, in the time of 5:54. Blackburn made a game attempt to caich up with the leader, but was unable to clear the field until after a mile and a half had been passed, and by that time Lowney was far in the lead. Blackburn finished a good second, crossing the line in the fifteen lap track has ever been iraveled before. Frank Brower, of New York, finished third.

WILSON IS VICTOR.

Baltimore, Md.. Dec. 24.—The one-mile professional roller race was held at the Garage Bink last Tuesday night. Carroll V. Done-liv, the champion of the South, and Frank A. Wilson, of Baltimore, were the principals. It was a nip-and-tuck affair, the lead alternating between them up nutil the aixteenth lap, when Donnelly with a sprint, drew away from Wilson, winning by a narrow margin. The time for the mile was 2:58, a new record for this rink.

AMATEUR CHAMPION DEFEATED.

New York, Dec. 24 (Snecial to The Billboard).

William Ferguson, of Prooblyn, starting from the forty yard mark proved an unexpected winer last Monday night in the one-mile roller akating race for amateurs decided, at the Mctropolitan Roller Rink, Broadway Jod Fifty-secund atreet. He took the lead right at the start, and never was in danger, crossing the line at least twenty-five yards in front of Joseph Jundan, the amateur chamnion, who started from the acratch mark. Harry Clark, forty-yard bandicap, finished third. The time for the event was 3:11 2-5.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

It is very pleasing to note that notwithstanding the Xma holiday week that business kept up to its standard. Every house in the city doing its usual quoto, with the exception of the Providence Opera House, which was dark. On Thursday, Dec. 22, the boys from the Sockmouset School for Reform, enjoyed to be pitality of the Keith management, about 500 attending the performance.

Business at the Imperial Theatre still continues good, and big audiences are the rule. It looks as at though the Baldwin-Meiville Stock, Cobad come to stay.

The usual Xman decorations were used at the Bijon and Nickle Theatres during Xman week. The electrical effects, combined with the evergreen and boily making a striking display.

The Casine Theatres on Xman Day gave four the evergreen and bolly making a striking displar.

The Casino Theatre on Xmaa Day gave four blg shows in place of the usual two and to crowded houses at each performance.
Mr. Foster Lardner, asalatant manager of Keith's Theatre, has again introduced an innovation; this time for the little nues. Mr.
Lardoer accured aeveral thick cushions to fit the seaia, and when one of these are placed on the seat. It so elevates the little ones that they are able to see the show as well as the grown-ups.
The Quelet children, who have been appearing before the public a great deal lately. In an amateur way, are soon to make their profesalonal debut. Their instruments are the first violin, second violin and plano, and their work la marverdons "considering; that the oldest of the ihree is but thirteen. Much will be heard from them before long.

Another surprise on the bill was Arthur Richards and Co.. which was placed on the program as extra. Never before in the history of vancetions as those rendered such beautiful selections as those rendered by Mr. Richards on the violin. Two girls in the set with him do solos and a dance, and when ready to make their exit, Richard pulls the wig off of one and discloses a handsome boy about the age of fifteen. The act was a riot.

Frank Bush, who is without doubt the world's greatest atory teller, was not honored moch by appearing on the same bill as the ebove. Mr. Bush came on as sunshine after a stormy day, and was greeted with a hearty applause. It was worth the price of admission to see Mr. Bush.

The Great Albini closed the bill with alight of hand tricks and magic illusions. Albini is indeed clever, but we might say a little too asrcastic, as in many cases he harts the feelings of two or three of the andience that he picks out purposely to make a fool of.

THE FOOLISH VIRGIN.

As for Mrs. Patrick Campbell herself, she is convincing in her portrayal of the nobleness, courage, the dogged patieoce of the woman always fighting to save any chreds of her hushand's love, and her confidence of nitimately regaining his undivided affections. As to the remeinder of the cast, special mention must be given Robert Drouet, Adelaide Nowak, Campbell Golian and John Flood.

Al. H. Wilson is rehearing his naw romantle drama by A. C. Gumther, entitled A German Prince. The piece will be produced on January 16, at Reading. Pa.

Farmite Bill Zimmer, owner of Kimballville Farm, and one of the proprietors of the Kimball house, held an odd-time Georgia berbecue out at the 'farm, December 19, in honor of Ted Burns, Kitty Francis and Enbe Wetah, three of the principals of The Midnight Sona Company, whose friendship Farmer Bill has treasured for a dozen years or more. The entire Midnight Sona Company and the members of The Girl in the Taxi Company were included among the invited guests, along with Manager Perry, of the Grand.

The attraction that follows The Communters at the Criterion Theatre will be William Gillette, who, beginning with a New Yaar's matiace, will comtinue for three weeks on his farewell season in his repertoire. These will positively be Mr. Gillelte's final performances in the parts and plays that first brought him promisence as an actor and dramadist.

Miss Billie Burks takes the stage of the Lyceum Theatre this week for the first local presentation of the new comedy. Susanne, that Charles Frohman has had C. Haddon Chambers translate into English from its French original. It is a full year since Miss Burke last played Mrs. Dot in New York.

Edward Begley, as the fat mechanician in The Avistor, has emerged into the white light of Broadway fame, and Frederick Paulding, as the French avistor, has also accred a big personal hit.

THE IMPOSTOR CRITICISED

The following is an excerpt from the World:
"The Impostor concerns the adventures of a young woman, who, trying bravely to live 'on her own,' finds herself homeless and penniless in the London atreets. She summons courage to ask a man for a loan. He responds at first chivalrously, then, having induced the girl to enter his room at the Savoy for tea, he loses his head, and offers insuit.

"A gossipy acquaintance happening in, the young man introduces his fair guest as his sister-in-law, to save his own face and his wife's peace of mind. In a stagy fashion, compilea-peace of mind. In a stagy fashion, complications ensue.

"Miss Bussell did her best to impart some air of consistency and sanity to the piece in place of the stagtness and the reckless atraining of probabilities which can be but faintly indicated in a brief synopsis. In the first act a friendly addience aympathised with her through a doubtful situation, in the second act the same audience hoped for better things through tides of pure talk. In the third act, when the fair impostor sought her own justification before the man who loved her and before the wife of the man who had insulted her, she won applause for a finely sincere bit of acting."

Charles Richman and Oswald Yorke gava Miss Russell her principal support.

launched forth in highest praise for the patronage of New York theetre-guers. Peeping as it does not the lives of aimple people a century ago, together with the literary value injected in the lines of this quaint couredy it is no wouder that the new play at Wallack's set out by surprising and ended by captivating its premiere audience.

The Times contributes this remark pertaining to this idyl of Georgian days.—Pomander Walk, just a bit of a crescent with five little Georgian houses in a row such one of which has its own story to lell, and all told in a rare blend of humor and facey to take hold of th imagination and send the mind wandering backward to the days when men were still drinking toasis to George Ill, when Beethoven was still that young composer and when the iamplighter went has rounds on nights when the moon didn't shine.

"In Pomander Walk was do not made "In Pomander Walk" his rounds on nights when the moon didn't ahine.

"In Pomander Welk you do not meet King George and you do not see Beethoven but you do see the tamplighter and the muffin man with his tray of bot things and the ave-sore the last the one blot on the prim Pomander landscape all prim like its people who are very proad and precise and for all that one of the most prominent of them was a hulter and the other is so admiral who awears like—well like an admiral and a good one. The eye-sore is the neighborhood peat who sits flahing all day and never gets a hite."

It is the atmosphere of this delightfully queer comedy that lends so great a charm. The action on the whola is generally agreerable and llinminative of the mode of the people. Although one may note here or there a figure that might have been more carefully penciled, the general impression is gratifying.

Of Mr. George Gidden's Admiral, Sir Petar, it is possible to say much. This, indeed, is one of the best performances of a grufi-voiced, richly humorous old type that has graced our atage for many a long day. Capital, too, is the fussy masquerading butler of Mr. Lennox Pawle, while the various other masculine members of the community, with possibly one exception, color their roles neatly. Of the women, Miss Dorothy Parker has the best opportunities. Ba plays prettily and reads Mr. Parker's richly descriptive passages rather well. And Miss Sibly Cartisia brings a tender sort of beauty to the role of her young mother. And as her romantic old lover, Mr. Yorke Stephens plays with a graceful suggestion of old-world gallantry.

Printing Parties and Section of the World galantry.

Pomander Walk has been accorded a hearty reception and etamped with the unanimous approval of the press and will no doubt enjoy a pleasant run to the Matropolis and a hearty welcome throughout the various theatrical centers of this continent.

of many of its predecessors, that of a short run, whose ending is quickly obscured.

The story is a tong-drawn tale of an impossibly simple and naive country girl who marries a wealthy man many years her senior and spends a season at Newport. She is visited thy her aunt, a divorcee, whose distorted viaws of life lead Hortense Harrison, the heroine, into cigarteite smoking, drinking, gambling and matic kind pursue, suspicion is aroused against Hortense in the mind of her husband, and he teaves his apartments enraged never to return. He repents, however, lo find his wife about to elope with Worthingion, the other party in the case. Becoming entirely subminsive, Harrison offers his assistance, arranges for his wife's finances and entreats her to sue him for divorce. However, the unexpected reversion of conditions actuates upon Tency and brings her to the conclusion to remain with her husband.

The Tribune has the following to say: "The most that may be said of Freston Gibson's play, Drifting, is that it is a poor picture of the worst of society. Mr. Gibson may know his Newport, but he does not know playmaking—at least not yet. It is altogether creditable that a young man of wealth and lelsure should busy himself at something, but if he selects the writing of plays, would it not be better for him at first to restrict their presentation to the drawing room or the ctub? The public preduction of an amateurish piece, such as was seen at Nasimova's Theatre, may satinfy a besire for publicity, but it does not aradicate the evils of society, nor does it elevate the drama. As for its being amusing, that depends upon the point of view. It, however, has one meril—t shows what a play ought not to be."

There is no doubt as to this critic being too bilter in his remarke, but neverthelese it is discernable that Drifting could be atroager.

last seen io this familiar role of Lewis Dumont, the Union spy. The play gives the star a fine opportunity for his talents, which coable him to meet all requirements to the entire satisfaction of his admirers.

The Sun makes this remark: "Mr. Gillatta's near which it was the second of the satisfaction of the satisfaction of his admirers."

The Sun makes this remark: "Mr. Gillatta's part, which is both romantie and picturesque, was acted with a repression that has come to be expected of him. William Elley Hatch, Louise Entter, Josephine Brown, Maria Wain-wright and John Miltern and the other members of the large company gave him the most satisfactory anpport."

Secret Service was first produced in 1896 during the flourishing age of the melodrama, and so great was Gillette's success therein that for several seasons he songht no other vehicle. From the way it interested and held its and-lence proof was given that the public tasts for artistic melodramas has by no means been obitiarated.

social customs which are imposed upon them, is familiar to ail. Frank Gilmore, in the role of the Prince, acquitted himself very pleasingly, conveying the dignity and depth of his feelings of being cheated out of at his youth except the four months that he had at Heidelberg. Louis Calvert made a tender and ampathetic Dr. Juttner, bul just missed bringing on the pathos of the sick old man's return to the University anvironments and his efforts to live again the joys of his youth. Miss Jessie Rusley made her first appearance with the New Theater company and assumed the character of the lovable Kathle, in which part abe is characterised by the World as making the landlord's daughter both charming and piquest.

In accordance with the New Theatre's policy. The Arrowmaker, a new American play of unsual type, is announced for presentation very shortly.

THE BILLBOARD MAIL FORWARDING SERVICE

The headquarters of this gratuitous distribution of mail are at the CINCINNATI offices, where all such matter should be addressed, unless it is known that it will be more convenient for addresses to receive it through the New York or Chicago bureaus.

In addressing mail to individuals in care of The Billboard, kindly indicate what company (if any), each is identified, with or in what line of the business be is engaged.

When possible, addressees should be identified by incorporating the name of the show or company in the addresse of mail sont to them. This inswire prompt delivery or despatch and seves infinite trouble in The Billboard's postoffice department.

All mail advartised in this list is being held at the Ciscinnati office unless otherwise indicated by the characters. (New York), ... (Chicago).

FAIR OFFICERS' MEETING.

"It is with deep regret we learn of the death during the last year of two of our honored members, viz. William B. Ely of the Montgomery County Board, and Irwin York of the Darke County Board, both ripe in years and usefulness; both men loved and honored by their people, both having served on their respective boards for long, terms of years, which attests their high order of integrity, ability and standing in their honores.

people, both having served on their respective boards for long, terms of years, which strests their high order of integrity, ability and standaling in their homes.

"We, the committee of your society beg leave to report the following preamble and resolutions of respect:

"The taking away from our midst of these two bonored members of our association has caused an irreparable loss; to the association has caused an irreparable loss; to the association has caused an irreparable loss; to the association and we offer to the members losing, such valued worker our condolence and sympathy and hope that their and our loss will be to the betterment of the respective societies that emulating the example of our deceased brothers, we may progress onward, upward in business and agricultural lines, to the lasting benefit of our beloved state and nation, that all may seek higher, grander, and nobler ideals in all their varied walks of life.

"We suggest that this token of our respect be recorded in the minutes of this association and copies sent to the societies sun ming the losses."

"We, the committee on resolutions, submit the following report was read:

"Whereas, This association has grown to include counties from various parts of the state, we do not feel that the present name. The Western Ohlo Fair Circuit, is appropriate for this organization:

"Therefore, be it resolved, That the name be changed to the Ohlo Fair Circuit and hereafter all meetings be held in Columbus, O.—"Be it further resolved, That we hereby express our appreciation of the Legislature's liberal appropriation for the maintenance of the Agricultural Extension Schools, Horticultural and Experimental Station Exhibits, and ask the Honorable Body for the continuance of the asme.

"Be it further resolved, That we recognize that first and called the continuance of the asme."

ask the Honorable Body for the continuance of the same.

"Be If further resolved, That we recognise Haff Fair Directory as an authority on speed, advertising and, recommend to each member of our organization.

"Be if further resolved, That we extend a manimous vote of thanks to the members of the Darke County Fair Board for the royal entertainment and contrelles extended ns."

Much discussion was occasioned on the question of changing the name and permanent place of meeting, end by vote the name of the association was changed to "The Ohio Fair Circuit," but the clanse on permanent place of meeting was defeated, and the balance of the report was adopted. After the reports of the committees, members discussed various matters in which many pleasant personalities were indulged in. After which it was agreed that the next meeting shall be held at Hamilton, O., on the second Wednesday of December, 1911.

In the matter of dates for fairs it was agreed that the association send in their desired dates to the Executive Committee in advance, of the meeting.

President Sandles called for election of officers and Chapter Canaca.

President Sandles ealled for election of of-feers, and Charley Ganson, of Champaign coun-ty-was recognized. He moved that the rules be suspended and that the present officers be re-elected for another year. Before President Sandles could "chip to" to spoil the game. Ganson had put the question and it was carried by a unanimous vote.

There was some further discussion on topics of interest, and the meeting adjourned.

FRANK KEENAN.

was a creation that scored hearly with both the orchestra and the gallery and achieved its usual mead of appliance. Revealing the serior at his best in his characteristic back dancing and plantation melody, the Ten Georgia Cami-ers deservedly won great favor. Theirs is an act that Enows no color line, and is to be com-mended inasmuch as the performers adhere to the work they are best qualified to perform. Trovollo, with his little chanden and belt acore of diverting manikina, is entitled to the paim for a highly original ventriloquial act, combining himor, philosophy and surprise. Etheling personality and dainty physical charms, abows versatility by concluding her act with a quaint kiddimpersonation. An act decidedly out of the besten track of vandeville offerings, is that of La Belle Clark, and her beautiful charger. Grand Dinke, who exhibits almost himan intelligence in a number of beantiful maneuvres. Three beautiful trained doves perch upon their mistress' head and shouldeth, remaining rigid until given the word of command to ireturn to their hampers. The act will especially appeal to women and children, beling elevated, in tone and execution.

The requisite touch of music is contributed by The Three Lyres, a trio, of young men who mingle comedy and melody in ideal proportion, and by Dora Rouca, a handsome Gippuviolinist, who fiddles with the reputed skill in her race. The Cromwells, a boxom young layer form a series of remarkable tricks in jugglest, with trare skill and precision, mingled with a tistic pantominic comedy.

on this side of the water. Mr. Rossi attired as Pierrot, and Ms. Sai as Columbine, play obe and guitar duets and execute their original ball cakewalk as a feature of the performance.

La Belle Clark, who is presenting her famous pe, Grand Duke, in vandeville over the Hillam Morris Circuit, is a Cincinnati girlier act was a strong feature of the bill at the American Music Hall, New York, last week.

M. Baigley, 341 East 14th street, New York has just finished a pair of hicycles for the use of the Dunedin Tronge, for their act in vandeville.

A. T. Hoevet, 422 West 46th street, has perfected a new atreet-camera for button map ahots which excels anything ever previously constructed. The background of the photography is given its natural position and not reversed as in the work of other street cameras. Hoevet was formerly a performer.

Was formerly a performer.

Frank Odell and Rose Kinley, acrobatic dancing comedians, who have just finished the Politime, open on the Orpheum Circuit at Sloux City, Iowa, on Dec. 26.

Vesta Victoria, the distinguished English comedienne, is heading the hill with which Wm. Morris, Inc., thangurated his new policy at the Plass Music Hall, New York City, Dec. 26.

Twenty-two all-star acts are given the performance commencing, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and 7:30 o'clock evenings.

"Bud" Burke, who during his seven years' in-cumbency of the position of stage manager of Percy G. Williams' Colonial Theatre has gained a host of friends in the vandeville profession, will sever his connection with that theatre on New Year's Day, and will retire to his farm at Barnegat, New Jersey, for a much-needed rest. He will be succeeded by John Ridley.

Miss Grace La Rue, who has been filling a week's engagement in vandeville; at the American Music Hall, leaves for Bermuda this week for a sojourn in those tropical isles. Upon her return she will begin rehearsals for a new masked councy in which she will be starred by her husband Byron Chandler.

The five H. A. Roffe attractions playing around the country were each tendered a banquet on Christmas day by Mr. Bolfe.

Mrs. B. A. Bolfs, wife of the vandeville producer, returned to America last week, after a ten weeks' stay in Loudon and Paris, where she attended to the bookings of the Colonial Septette for another season.

Houston and Olmstead, who have been playing in and around New York in the comedy sketch. A Coustn of Mine, have left for a southerly tour over Cleveland time.

Moody and Goodwin inform us that they have accepted an engagement from Sid Wachter to appear in New York. The team has worked up an elaborate singing and dancing act, entitled Gold and Silver, which has prospects of getting into the money. They have recently been the victims of some exasperating conditions in Southern Indiana, one of which was the loss by Miss Sue Goodwin of a pocketbook containing unite a tidy sum of money, in an Evansville playhouse.

Fox and Evans, who appeared last week the Bijon Dream in New York, were former connected with The Girl Question on the roa in their present act they are featuring some Ted Snyder's nirty songs and dances.

A recent Parisian importation is the art posing and singing act of Lucille Savoy, who carries her own electrical effects with her. She is capably assisted by Mr. Morton, expert electrician.

Another new act on the small time vaudeville is that of Mack and Barrow, a singing and dancing novelty, entitled A Shakeup in Chinatown, featuring Fred Helf. They are using songs from the houses of Jos. W. Stern and Company, and the Shapiro Music Publishing Queen and Boss bave a new singing, talking and dancing act in which they use, the latest offerings of the leading music publishers.

Toyette, Roman dancer, is making a big his at the Manhattan Theatre;

Foley Brothers, singers and dancers, are featuring Chas. K. Harris' talest songs.

Nice and Lovey are featuring the latest songs of the Witmark Publishing Company.

despond, in a hysteria of madness she seeks oblivion to her woes through the source of her misery, and welcomes the brain-numbing influence of the Demon Rum. As she wends her unsteady way through the street; she is seen by her husband, who has been diligently aceking her. Quickly he follows to her miserable apartments, and tenderly he takes her in his strong arms—now a harbor of love, trust and protection from the rough seas of life upon which she so nearly becomes a dereliet.

WHO IS THE CULPBIT (drams; released Dec. 22; length 500 feet).—Said to be a touching drams, with splendid seting. It is on the same reel with Nespolitan Volcanic Islands, a pictorial reproduction of world's famous beaudes of na-

GREEDINESS SPOILED FOOLSHEAD'S XMAS (comedy: released Dec. 24; length 500 feet).—
Foolshead is enjoying himself immensely until his grasping greediness causes his downfall. The subject is on the same reel with in Norway, a scenic nicture.

To the Unenlightened

If all other theatre owners followed your policy of fattening and supporting the trust there would be a very gloomy Christmas, indeed, for the film business of 1911! Why not let the trust handle the theatres it controls, and YOU join the happy family of independents, which is striving toward bigger and better things for the exhibitor. The independents do not COVET your theatre, as the trust does, but wants your patronage, permitting you to choose your own subjects from the following:

The Program You Will Eventually Use

OUR PROGRAM IS ALL-CONVINCING

There is no guess-work about the Independent Product of today. It stands out a mighty monument to pluck, courage and determination. It speaks for itself.

Finest Program in the World

You are the judge. Isn't it worth a little of your time to find out what we are doing? Here is the regular

BRAND NEW FILMS IN THE MANUFACTURERS CANS

Were recently offered at 4 centa per foot. ONE of our REGULAR CUSTOM-ERS came running into our office the olbet day, all out of breath, to tell us what a bargain he had found—NEW FILMS at 4 cents-per foot.

JUST ISLAGINE how he felt when WE showed him the VERY SAME SUB-JECTS in the VERY SAME CANS that WE are selling for LESS THAN 4 cents per foot.

HE felt like saying something—HE did—Ha called himself a bad name.
